The Rural Information Center (RIC) is a joint project of the USDA Cooperative State Research, Education & Extension Service and the National Agricultural Library (NAL). RIC provides information and referral services to local government officials, community organizations, health professionals and organizations, cooperatives, libraries, businesses, and rural citizens working to maintain the vitality of America's rural areas. The Center combines the technical, subject-matter expertise of Extension's nationwide educational network with the information specialists and resources of the world's foremost agricultural library.

The Office of Rural Health Policy in the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) and the NAL jointly created a Rural Information Center Health Service (RICHS) as part of the RIC. RICHS collects and disseminates information on rural health issues, research findings related to rural health, and innovative approaches to the delivery of rural health care services.

SERVICES:

Provide customized information products to specific inquiries including assistance in economic revitalization issues; local government planning projects; rural health issues; funding sources; and other related issues for the purpose of monitoring the quality of rural life.

Process a broad array of general and funding information requests on such topics as:

- Successful strategies, models, and case studies of community development projects
- Small business attraction, retention, and expansion
- Tourism promotion and development
- Recycling programs
- Community water quality
- Technology transfer to rural areas
- Closures, restructuring and diversification of rural hospital and clinics
- Agricultural health and safety
- Health programs, services, personnel issues
- State initiatives concerning rural health delivery issues

Refer users to organizations or experts in the field who can provide additional information.

Perform brief database searches of requested topics on a complimentary basis.

Furnish bibliographies and Rural Information Center Publication Series titles.

INTRODUCTION

A Guide to Funding Resources is a compilation of information from both governmental and private sources on funding opportunities available to local governments, small businesses, organizations, associations, groups, and individuals. The directories, catalogs, guides, newsletters, annual reports, computer database services, and other resources cited in this directory cover available grants and funding, information on the grantseeking process, analyses of grantmaking programs, tips for proposal writing and presentation development, and bibliographies of additional resources. This guide is not intended to be comprehensive.

National Agricultural Library (NAL) call numbers are provided for items that are owned by NAL and those that may be borrowed from the library through interlibrary loan. For this service, refer to the Document Delivery Services to Individuals lending policy in this document for information on obtaining those documents. For other documents, contact the appropriate publisher or company, or check with your local public or university library (see Address Index) for publisher listing.

THE FUNDING PROCESS: An Overview

The process of grantmanship covers a broad scope of activities including preliminary planning and research, proposal development, and proposal follow-up. Through this process, two questions are commonly asked by grantseekers, "Where is the money available?" and "How do I get it?" The following discussion addresses these questions and provides useful information for grantseekers in search of funding dollars.

Where Does the Money Come From?

The two primary sources of grant money are public and private funds. Public funds are obtained from governmental units, such as federal, state, and local agencies. Private funds, on the other hand, come from organizations involved in charitable giving, such as foundations, direct giving programs, voluntary agencies, and community groups.

Public Funding

The federal government administers several types of grants designed to accomplish different purposes, such as conducting scientific research, demonstrating a particular theory, or delivering services to a specific population. Examples of these grants include:

- ❖ research grants ⇒ to support investigations aimed at the discovery of facts, revision of accepted theories, or application of new or revised theories;
- ❖ demonstration grants ⇒ to demonstrate or establish the feasibility of a particular theory or approach;
- ❖ project grants ⇒ to support individual projects in accordance with legislation that gives the funding agency discretion in selecting the project, grantees, and amount of award;
- ❖ block grants ⇒ to provide states with funding for a particular purpose; and
- ❖ formula grants ⇒ to provide funding to specified grantees on the basis of a specific formula, using indicators such as per capita income, mortality, or morbidity rates, outlined in legislation or regulations.

In addition to federal funding, state and local agencies also administer grants. Monies used to support these programs are obtained primarily through state and local tax revenues and funds received from the federal government (e.g., block and formula grants).

Rural Information Center Publication Series

Private Funding

Private funding can be obtained from a variety of sources, such as foundations, corporations, voluntary agencies and community groups. For the most part, philanthropic organizations fund programs which either address their individual interests (e.g., farm safety) or benefit a particular group (e.g., company employees and their dependents). Examples of major types of philanthropic organizations include:

- ❖ private foundations ⇒ foundations which receive income from an individual, family or group of individuals. The funding priorities of private foundations are usually based on the personal philosophies of the founding members.
- ❖ corporate foundations ⇒ foundations which receive contributions from a profit-making entity, such as a corporation.
- ❖ community foundations ⇒ foundations involved in grant giving within a specific community or region.
- ❖ direct giving programs ⇒ philanthropic arms of corporations which donate goods and services for charitable causes.
- ❖ voluntary agencies ⇒ private organizations which support charitable programs that are consistent with their overall mission. The American Red Cross, for example, provides printed materials and staff consultation for health projects in various communities.
- ❖ community groups ⇒ local organizations which focus on supporting projects within their communities. Examples of these organizations include churches, Junior Leagues, and civic organizations.

How Can I Obtain Funding?

Regardless of the type of funding desired, the grantsmanship process involves three distinct phases: preliminary planning and research, effective proposal writing, and proposal follow-up. To complete these phases successfully, the grantseeker should consider the steps on the following page.

A Guide to Funding Resources

STEPS IN THE FUNDING PROCESS
Steps	Questions to Consider
Step 1: Identify a Need	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- What is the problem?</li> <li>- How does my plan address the problem?</li> </ul>
Step 2: Identify Funding Sources	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Who should I approach for funding?</li> <li>- How do I obtain information about potential funders?</li> </ul>
Step 3: Develop Proposal	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- What are the goals and objectives of the program?</li> <li>- How will the program be carried out?</li> <li>- How will I budget the program?</li> <li>- What type of proposal format should be used? (e.g., forms or letters)?</li> </ul>
Step 4: Submit Proposal	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Am I consistent with the funder's application deadlines?</li> <li>- Am I sending the proposal to the appropriate contact?</li> </ul>
Step 5: Follow-up	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Was the proposal accepted?</li> <li>- If not, why?</li> <li>- Should I submit a revised proposal?</li> </ul>

Although not exhaustive, these steps provide a general "game plan" for individuals embarking on a grant search. By following these guidelines, grantseekers can prepare a more effective funding strategy and increase their overall chances for success.

How Do I Get Started?

Perhaps the hardest part of the grantsmanship process is getting started! With this in mind, the following checklist has been developed to help grantseekers get off on the right track.

Rural Information Center Publication Series

Become Familiar with the Grantsmanship Process!

- ✓ If you are a first time grantseeker, you may wish to attend a grant writing workshop or team up with an experienced fundraiser. In addition, you may also wish to hire a professional consultant for proposal guidance and development.
- ✓ Check your local library! Several libraries have sections related to grantsmanship and funding resources. If your local library does not have a copy of a book or periodical mentioned in this publication, they should be able to obtain a copy through interlibrary loan.

Check the Funding Sources in Your Own Back Yard!

- ✓ Oftentimes grantseekers approach the larger, national foundations for projects which may be more attractive to local, community funders. Remember, national funders support projects which have a broad impact, while smaller funders support those which effect their own community. Be sure to consider this when beginning your search.
- ✓ Contact associations and members of organizations that are related to your field of interest. They might be able to offer suggestions for the best place to begin your funding search. Publications such as The Encyclopedia of Associations are helpful when trying to locate an appropriate group.

Pursue Several Potential Funders!

- ✓ Be sure to identify several potential funders when conducting your search. The odds of a successful search are greater when you approach a variety of funders.
- ✓ Maintain a journal of what organizations you have contacted and when. Each grant program will probably have a different set of deadlines, so it is helpful to have a master list.

Check In With Us!

- ✓ The staff of the Rural Information Center may be able to direct you to a potential funding source or to clarify the information in this publication. Searches done by the staff often yield federal funding programs, as well as the names of corporations, foundations, and associations related to the topic.

Putting
Information
in Your Hands

Services Available to Individuals

The National Agricultural Library (NAL) supplies agricultural materials not found elsewhere to other libraries and information centers. Submit requests first to your local library resources. In the United States, possible sources are public libraries, state libraries, land-grant university or other large research libraries within a state. In other countries submit requests through major university, national, or provincial institutions.

If the publications are not available from these sources, have your library submit requests to NAL with a statement indicating their non-availability following the directions below.

Library Must Include the Following Data Elements in Each Request:

- Complete mailing address.
- Complete citation including verification (source of citation) and NAL call number if available.
- Date after which item is no longer needed.
- Copyright Compliance -- Libraries may indicate compliance by including the initials of one statement, either "CCL" for compliance with the copyright law or "CCG" for compliance with Copyright Guidelines or a statement that the request complies with U.S. Copyright Law or other acceptable copyright laws (i.e. IFLA, CLA, etc.). Libraries must also provide authorizing official's name.
- Willingness to pay charges must be indicated on the form.
- Library's Fax number or ARIEL™ IP address (if delivery by either of these methods is desired).

The library must submit a separate interlibrary loan form or request for each item. If the citation is from an NAL database (AGRICOLA, Bibliography of Agriculture, or the NAL Catalog) and the call number is given, please include it. Materials in NAL's collection are loaned only to other U.S. and Canadian libraries. The following materials are not loaned: serials, rare materials, reference and reserve books, microforms, and proceedings of conferences or symposia. Photocopy or microform of non-circulating publications may be requested for a fee provided that the request does not exceed 50 pages per item.

Send Requests to:

Postal Mail: USDA, National Agricultural Library
Document Delivery Services Branch, PhotoLab
10301 Baltimore Ave., NAL Bldg.
Beltsville, Maryland 20705-2351

FAX: 301-504-5675
Ariel IP Address: ariel.nal.usda.gov
E-mail: lending@nal.usda.gov
OCLC: AGL

Charges for delivery:

- Photocopy, hard copy of microfilm and microfiche -- $5.00 for the first 10 pages or fraction copied from a single article or publication. $3.00 for each additional 10 pages or fraction.
- Duplication of NAL-owned microfilm -- $10.00 per reel.
- Duplication of NAL-owned microfiche -- $5.00 for the first fiche and $.50 for each additional fiche per title.

Billing -- Charges include postage and handling, and are subject to change. Invoices are issued quarterly by the National Technical Information Service (NTIS), 5285 Port Royal Road, Springfield, VA 22161. Establishing a deposit account with NTIS is encouraged. DO NOT SEND PREPAYMENT.

Contact the Access Services Librarian at (301) 504-6503 or via email at access@nal.usda.gov with questions or comments about this policy.
