Wherein, besides some touches of the civil state and alteration of affaires, in their due order; there is not only a series of the assemblies, and of the principal of their actings recorded; but also a full and plaine relation of the trials and troubles, which the church did meet with from enemies to the purity of her doctrine, worship, discipline and government; of the severall alterations, caused or occasioned thereby; of the many sad and lamentable faintings and backslideings of persons, sometimes eminent in the Church; of the faithful contendings of others for the prerogatives of Christ, as the alone head of the church, for the purity of his institutions, and for the liberty and privileges of his church and kingdom, against all the enemies thereof; and particularly against Erastianisme and Prelacy, the two grand enemies of the discipline and government of the Church of Christ; and of their sad sufferings upon the account thereof. Written by that learned and laborious servant of Christ Mr David Calderwood. At the appointment of the General Assembly, by whom his laboures herein wvere several times revised and examined, and at length approved for the press* (Edinburgh?, 1678)

March, John, Actions for slaunder, or, A methodicall collection under certaingr ounds and heads, of what words are actionable in the law, and what not? A treatise of very great use and consequence to all men, especially in these times, wherein actions for slander are more common, and doe much more abound then in times past: and vwhen the malice of men so much encreases, well may their tongue want a directory. To which is added. Awards or arbitrements. Methodified under severall grounds and heads, collected out of our year books, and other private authentick authorities; vwherein is principally sheved, what arbitrements are good in lavy, and vwhat not. A learning of no lesse use and consequence to all men, th[a]n the former; for that submissions to arbitrements were never more in use then in these times. And this learning vwell observed, vwould avoid multitudes of suits and contentions vwhich dayly arise through the defects of arbitrements. VVhereunto is added an exact table (London: Printed by I. <sup>47</sup> False author and title. The STCN notes that Lodewijk Meijer's Philosophia S. Scripturae interpres (1673) was an 'Edition with three fictitious titles: F.H. de Villacorta, Opera chirurgica omnia (Amstelodami: Apud J. Paulli, 1673); D. Heinsius, Operum historicorum collectio secunda (Lugd. Batav.: Apud I. Herculis, 1673); and F. Deleboe Sylvius, Totius medicinae idea nova, pars secunda (Amstelodami: Apud C. Gratiani, 1673). Issued as 2nd volume of Benedictus de Spinoza, Tractatus theologico-politicus (1673) (with fictitious titles) and as part of Idem, 1674'. Meijer's book, originally published in 1666, was banned by the Dutch Republic along with Spinoza's Tractatus in 1674. Both works used philosophy 'to undermine the status of Scripture'. Jonathan I. Prynne, William, A quenck-coale. Or A briefe disquisition and inquirie, in vwhat place of the church or chancell the Lords-table ought to be situated, especially vben the Sacrament is administered? VVherein is evidently proved, that the Lords-table ought to be placed in the midst of the church, chancell, or quire north and south, not altar-wise, with one side against the wall: that it neither is nor ought to be stiled an altar; that Christians have no other altar but Christ alone, who bath abolished all other altars, which are either heathenish, Jewish, or popish, and not tollerable among Christians. All the pretences, authorities, arguments of Mr. Richard Shelford, Edmond Reeve, Dr. John Pocklington, and a late Coale from the altar, to the contrary in defence of altars, calling the Lords-table an altar, or placing it altarwise, are here likewise fully answered and proved to be vaine or forged. An accurate chart of the sea coast, exhibiting all the Royal Docks, fortifications, harbours, sands &c. II. A map of England and Wales, as divided into counties, with the names of the cities and county towns; and the length, breadth, and superficial content of the whole, and each county seperately. III. A map of the great roads, from London, to all parts of South Britain; with tables shewing the distance of each city, and town upon the road, from the metropolis, both in computed and measured miles. IV. A map of all the cross roads, from one great town to another, with the distances from town to town, both by computation and measure. With the particular, map of each county, is an account of all the cities, boroughs, market towns, parishes, and rivers therein: the number of members it sends to Parliament, the market and fair days, and in those of Oxford and Cambridge, are the names of all the colleges, and halls, in both Universities, with the dates of their foundations. To the whole is added an alphabetical index, of all the cities, boroughs, & market towns, properly distinguish'd from each other, and in what county they are situate. This collection (conveying a more comprehensive idea of South Britain than any thing hitherto publish'd) was first drawn and complied into a pocket book by order and for the use of his late Majesty King George I (London: Printed for and sold by Wcsoms engraver, in Union Court, near Hatton Garden, Holbourn, 1742)
