

DOCUMENT RESUME

ED 251 403

SO 016 138

TITLE The Constitution and the Community: A Resource for Planning Humanities-Based Programs on the United States Constitution.

INSTITUTION National Federation of State Humanities Councils, Minneapolis, MN.

SPONS AGENCY National Endowment for the Humanities (NEAH), Washington, D.C.

PUB DATE Mar 84

NOTE 91p.

PUB TYPE Reference Materials - Bibliographies (131) -- Guides - Non-Classroom Use (055)

EDRS PRICE MF01/PC04 Plus Postage.

DESCRIPTORS Annotated Bibliographies; Community Involvement; *Community Programs; *Constitutional History; *Constitutional Law; Educational Resources; Filmographies; *Humanities Instruction; Human Resources; Program Descriptions; United States History

IDENTIFIERS *United States Constitution

ABSTRACT

Designed to encourage interactive study of the Constitution by humanities scholars and the community, this guide is arranged in four sections. The first section contains a number of ideas for projects and concepts that might spark group interest in constitutional study and descriptions of Constitution-related projects, listed in alphabetical order by title. Projects range from an examination of contemporary constitutional questions to influences on the framing of the Constitution. Project formats include lectures, conferences, school programs, films, and videotapes. The second section is a filmography consisting of 36 entries organized under the following headings: origins and purpose of the Constitution, main principles of government in the Constitution, amending and interpreting the Constitution, and landmark Supreme Court cases. Each annotated entry provides: a brief description; availability, purchase, and rental information; length; format; and date. The third section lists scholars and resource people by state. The final section contains bibliographies and resources, divided into the following headings: bibliography, bibliography according to type of publication, state humanities councils, major private and state historical societies and museums, League of Women Voters state chapters, and other organizations. (LP)

 * Reproductions supplied by EDRS are the best that can be made * * from the original document. *

* This document has been reproduced as received from the person or organization originating it.
Minor changes have been made to improve reproduction quality.

- Points of view or opinions stated in this document do not necessarily represent official NIE position or policy.

"PERMISSION TO REPRODUCE THIS MATERIAL HAS BEEN GRANTED BY

Roberta Frank

TO THE EDUCATIONAL RESOURCES INFORMATION CENTER (ERIC)."

ED251403

The Constitution and the Community:

A Resource for Planning Humanities-Based Programs on the United States Constitution

Prepared by

The National Federation of State Humanities Councils
12 South Sixth Street
Minneapolis, Minnesota 55402
612-332-2407

The Constitution and the Community is published with the assistance of a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities as part of its special initiative on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution. First published in March 1984.

State humanities councils were established in each state, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands by the National Endowment for the Humanities in order to carry out programs which enable citizens of the states to understand and appreciate the humanities as resources for community life. In 1977 the state councils formed an association, now known as the National Federation of State Humanities Councils, to assist the councils to achieve their purposes through a program of publication, research, conferences, information exchange, and special projects.

Sd 016 138

TABLE OF CONTENTS

PROJECTS

Project Ideas	Page 1
Project Descriptions	Page 5

FILMS

SCHOLARS

BIBLIOGRAPHY AND RESOURCES

Bibliography	Page 1
Bibliography According to Type of Publication	Page 17
State Humanities Councils	Page 21
Major Private and State Historical Societies and Museums	Page 25
League of Women Voters State Chapters	Page 31
Other Organizations	Page 36

INTRODUCTION

The United States Constitution is a unique attempt to set down once and for all at a nation's birth the fundamental principles by which it will live: by which its officials will be bound, its lawmakers governed, its justices guided, its citizens protected. Few things are more basic to American life.

Yet, few things have been less well understood by the general public. It has seldom been closely studied in school (though we may all have memorized the Preamble), and its presentation through the media is almost always in terms of political and social conditions--equal access, legislative apportionment, abortion rights, etc.--rather than constitutional principles. Supreme Court decisions consistently make headlines as they shape the exercise of rights. And strong feelings arise over these decisions because of their binding effect on values and freedoms. Yet, few citizens, reacting to the headlines--in praise or scorn--have a good understanding of the grounding for the Court's action in constitutional principles and reasoning.

We owe it to ourselves to know this Constitution better because its continuing force depends upon an informed public consciousness of founding principles and their ongoing relevance. The humanities--certainly those fields of the humanities concerned with historical, philosophical, and cultural understanding of the Constitution--have much to contribute to this: ideas, information, and critical, seasoned reflection. Given that the humanities need to be continuously revitalized through contact with the community at large, the Bicentennial presents an excellent opportunity for both humanities scholars and citizens to strengthen one another's understanding of the Constitution.

It is the purpose of this publication to give form to that opportunity. We hope that its contents--ideas for projects, names of potential consultants and speakers, descriptions of scholarly works and films, lists of interested organizations--will inspire many to create new ways to bring the study of the humanities to bear on our inquiry into this great, founding document and our celebration of its ongoing, national role.

Many have worked to make this a useful Guide. We are especially indebted to Paul Murphy, Professor of History at the University of Minnesota, whose time and judgment were so often sought and so generously given. We want also to thank other scholars who helped in developing the bibliography and the list of scholars: Mary K. Tachau, George Dennison, Stanley Katz, Linda Kerber, James O'Fallon, and Jamil Zainaldin.

Patricia Murphy and Roberta Frank of the Federation staff handled all aspects of production and distribution.

Graphic design was by Judith M. Gilats.

Initial research and writing was done by Dan Turner. The final text was written by Richard Lewis.

PROJECTS

This section contains a number of project descriptions, listed in alphabetical order by project title. Funded by individual councils or by the Endowment, the projects offer a variety of models for groups wishing to undertake Constitution-related programs in their own areas. They range in focus from pre-Constitutional influences on the framing of the Constitution to examinations of constitutional questions in our own day, and represent a great variety of program formats: lectures, conferences, school programs, dramatizations, films, videotape programs, radio broadcasts, newspaper articles and exhibits. Taken together, they make clear something of the great potential in the Bicentennial celebration for serious-minded public consideration of American Constitutional history and the continuing importance of the Constitution to civic life.

The descriptions include addresses and phone numbers for those who wish to obtain further information. The information on projects represents what was available at the time of publication. We intend to update the information in this Resources Guide next year and welcome any information about other programs on the Constitution that would provide helpful models. Please send a detailed summary of programs, together with information about the project director, address and phone to the National Federation of State Humanities Councils, 12 South Sixth Street, Suite 527, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55402.

This section also contains a number of ideas for projects and concepts that might spark a group's interest. We would appreciate learning if any groups have found these ideas helpful and, even more, if they inspired local programs.

PROJECT IDEAS

The projects described on pages 5-27 demonstrate something of the variety in the kinds of ideas and formats that might be featured in programs on the Constitution. What follows below are a number of suggestions, drawn partly from project descriptions and partly from other sources, which may also help individuals and groups in thinking about possible programs. Needless to say, these are not fully developed and are obviously not all there is to say.

Biography. Several projects deal wholly or in part with the lives of persons who have played important roles in the history of the Constitution. Certainly there is large appeal for public audiences in this approach to understanding the Constitution. We generally respond to the personal dimension of our nation's history, and the Constitution is an outstanding focus for inquiring into the role played by individuals in shaping American society. Many have been the subject of scholarly study. For example: Thomas Jefferson, Alexander Hamilton, James Madison, James Wilson, Edmund Randolph, John Marshall, Felix Frankfurter, Louis Brandeis, Oliver Wendell Holmes. Moreover, many of the most important and far-reaching decisions, especially in areas of civil rights and due process, arose from personal circumstances which might be examined to illustrate the relation between the Constitution and the lives of individuals. Women's groups or minority groups might want to take a biographical look at contributions by women and minority persons to Constitutional history.

One approach might be to develop a series of programs--lecture/discussion, book/discussion, radio interview, cameo presentations for organizational luncheons and meetings--which would focus on the personal lives, ideas and values that have given shape and durability to constitutional principles. Four arenas suggest themselves: those who helped to create the Constitution, Supreme Court justices or others who have rendered important constitutional opinions, those whose lives were involved in significant constitutional cases, and scholars whose interpretations of constitutional history have been influential.

Since much of the history of the Constitution, particularly its framing, has taken the form of tension or conflict between individuals, another approach might be to cast the biographical focus in the form of debates between, say, Federalists and Anti-Federalists, majority and minority opinions, contending parties in specific cases, or contrasting scholarly views. This would bring alive the clash of ideas and personalities that has marked the evolution of the Constitution and our understanding of it.

Teaching the Constitution. During 1983, the American Historical Association carried out a series of regional conferences for secondary history and social studies teachers on strategies for teaching the Constitution. The conferences involved presentations by university scholars of constitutional history and curriculum-related materials prepared in consultation with high school teachers and university scholars.

The four conferences were oversubscribed, suggesting that there are many teachers who are looking for help in preparing to teach about the Constitution. Since the AHA has already developed strategies and materials for such a conference, it would be well to consider presenting a regional or statewide conference on teaching the Constitution, drawing upon their experiences. In many instances, teachers involved in those conferences might be willing to assist with the development of a conference in their state. Information may be obtained by contacting the AHA. Write or call:

Constitutional History Project
American Historical Association
400 A Street SE
Washington, DC 20003
202-544-2422

Regional Programming. Media forms, print and electronic, make regional programming relatively easy. Moreover, some areas of the country have had experience with traveling "Chautaugua" programs that bring lectures, exhibits and films to a series of communities in contiguous states. The regional character of America, based on contiguity of borders, topography, ethnic settlement, political history or common problems, is one that could be effectively exploited in connection with the Constitutional Bicentennial.

Where regions incorporate shared constitution-related concerns--e.g., common relation to a particular constitutional issue or Supreme Court decision, or representation at the 1787 Constitutional Convention or among the justices of the Court--regional organizations may wish to explore the possibility of touring or regionally broadcast programs about them. The time frame for celebrating the Bicentennial certainly allows for the development of regional programs in time for the 1987-89 commemorative period.

Comparative Study. We speak of the unique character of the American Constitution--a written set of national rules, applying to the Chief Executive as much as to the citizen, that predetermine even the acceptability of laws made by duly-elected legislators. Few nations have taken such a step in creating a "Supreme Law of the Land" under which successive governments shall rule. Yet most nations govern on the basis of some general code, applicable to all, whether derived from religion, tradition, democratic vote or fiat. Many such codes, quite different from the one developed here, work very well in providing a way to settle disputes, establish community responsibilities, transmit property, enforce legitimate authority, etc.

A helpful understanding of the global community and a fuller, more informed appreciation of the American constitutional system might be gained by relating the U.S. Constitution to alternative ways that nations/societies have sought to establish some form of universal, ongoing code, including ancient civilizations as well as present day cultures. How do other societies handle this need? What are the virtues in other systems? On what aspects of culture do they rest? What special attributes of American culture does our system depend on? These and other matters might be profitably explored through lecture programs, study/discussion groups, and readings from and about other forms of national law.

The Meaning of Amendment. Societies change. The laws contained in the Constitution were formulated at a particular time by agreement of a particular group of individuals. Such laws were not set down lightly and most people agree that their durability requires that changing the Constitution should be an infrequent, difficult process. Yet, provision was made for such a process so that social and political change could be adapted to the original provisions, so that the provisions themselves can be clarified or updated, and so that the Constitution might remain a living expression of the changing national will. The amendment process has been successfully applied 26 times in the past 200 years, and is much in the media today as concerns such as the status of women, school prayer, balancing the federal budget and abortion have become the focus of interest in additional amendments.

It might help citizen understanding of the Constitution to examine the nature of the amendment process--how it was originally understood, what it has accomplished, the social and political basis for those amendments that have been proposed, what scholars and jurists have said about it, how citizens understand it, whether it can or should be used to pursue social goals. This might be effectively done as a series of newspaper articles, brief radio spots or small group discussion meetings.

What the Government May Not Do. Part of the purpose of the Constitution is to make clear the limits of governmental authority. Indeed, the Bill of Rights arose to some extent out of a need to say explicitly what the government may not do. For example, the First Amendment:

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of Religion.

To a large extent the work of the Supreme Court has been concerned with restricting governmental actions that exceed the proper authority of government. In declaring a law or an action to be "unconstitutional," the Court is saying that the government--federal, state or local--may not do that.

One approach to the examination of the Constitution might be to clarify what it, as interpreted by the Court, has said may not be done. What acts of authority, whether national or local, have been struck down? It would be an instructive look at the importance of the Constitution to see the kinds of executive and legislative decisions the Court has found to be inconsistent with the protections guaranteed by the Constitution.

Policy-Related Topics. There are a number of important areas of contemporary social and political concern that have been the subject of Constitutional opinions and which offer appealing subjects for public programs on the Constitution. A partial list would include:

The Constitution and the rights of minorities

The Constitution and the status of women

The Constitution and religion

The Constitution and education

The Constitution and war

Such broad topics, examined in terms of specific cases, arguments and opinions, assure discussion of contrasting viewpoints on policy concerns as well as underlying differences in constitutional reasoning, since their having been the subject of argument before the court implies both ambiguity and significant meaning for the society as a whole. Programs on them can, of course, turn into simple pro-con debates on policy options, leaving out constitutional history and principles, especially when topics are set forth in terms of controversial issues of the day. In planning activities, it is well to give special emphasis to constitutional scholars as advisors in the formulation of themes and materials, and to look to case studies as an important source of ideas and information.

PROJECT DESCRIPTIONS

The American Social Revolution--1750-1800

This project will present seven book discussion programs. These will cover three general topics:

the early social history of New England and Virginia, emphasizing important differences between these regions;

the framing and ratification of the Constitution;

Constitutional issues that arose during the Federalist Era.

The series is being piloted in the winter of 1984 in two communities and will be retested in the fall. Each program will consist of a 45 minute lecture by a scholar, followed by a one-hour discussion session.

Books given to participants include The Minutemen and Their World by Robert Gross; Ethan Allen: Frontier Rebel by Charles Jellison; The Vermont Constitution of 1777; The Transformation of Virginia by Rhys Isaac; A Biography of the Constitution of the United States by Broadus and Louis Mitchell (second edition, 1975); The Federalist Era by John C. Miller; The Federalist, and our republication in booklet form of "The Virginia and Kentucky Resolutions of 1798 Together With the Replies of the Several States, and James Madison's Report on the Virginia Resolutions." Both The Federalist and Madison's "Report..." were on Thomas Jefferson's list of essential readings for the curriculum in politics at the University of Virginia.

Project Director: Michael Bouman
Associate Director
Vermont Council on the Humanities and Public Issues
Box 58
Hyde Park, Vermont 05655
802-888-3183

Project Funding: A special award from the National Endowment for the Humanities to the Vermont Council on the Humanities and Public Issues.

Approaching the American Constitution: 1787-1987

This project will develop a series of newspaper editorials, radio dramatizations and lectures, based on a set of questions to be determined by constitutional scholars regarding the Constitution's formulation, history and continuing importance.

The Conference/lecture series will emphasize interaction between scholars, policy makers and the public regarding current constitutional issues. Among issues to be examined will be: Government Responsibilities for Opportunity (What is the proper constitutional standing of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness?), Presidential Power (Is the strong central executive envisioned, working?), National Sovereignty and International Relations (What constraints are there on the brokering of sovereign power in relation to public and private international institutions?), The Courts and Constitutional Revision (Should courts exercise what amounts to a power to amend the constitution?).

The Newspaper series will present twelve editorials, each on a particular Article/section of the constitution. Constitution Articles to be examined include: Article I, Section 8, The "necessary and proper" clause; Article III, Section 3, Clause 1, the treason section; Article I, Section 8, Clause 3, the "Commerce Clause" section; Article VI, the "Supremacy" article; and others. The newspaper editorials will be circulated through a national syndication service located in California. The newspaper activity is modeled loosely on Edwin S. Corwin's The Constitution and What It Means Today.

A thirteen-part radio series will recreate the debates during the Constitutional Convention. Using documents which were sources of ideas important to the framers, records of the Convention and scholarly study of the principal issues involved in drafting the Constitution, the series will move from the Declaration of Independence and the Revolutionary War period, through the Articles of Confederation and the growth of dissatisfaction with them, to the call for a Constitutional Convention, the subsequent identification of specific controversies regarding the various powers and organizational arrangements to be set forth, and the ratification debates.

Project Director: Gary Holthaus
Alaska Institute for Research and Public Service
429 D Street, #306
Anchorage, Alaska 99501
907-272-5341

Project Funding: National Endowment for the Humanities
Division of General Programs

The Bill of Rights: Freedom's Foundation

This was a series of eight one-hour radio programs aired on public radio in April and May, 1983, which examined the nature of justice in American society. The goal of the project was "to remind the listeners of their democratic heritage and how its documents continue to be relevant to their daily lives." Project organizers selected scholars and resource people to present historical, philosophical and political issues through an amendment by amendment presentation of the Bill of Rights.

Topics included "Freedom of Religion: The First Amendment"; "Freedom of Speech and Press: The First Amendment"; "Freedom of Association and the Right to Bear Arms: The Second Amendment, and Search and Seizure: The Fourth Amendment";

"The Privilege Against Self-Incrimination: The Fifth Amendment, and The Rights to Counsel, Trial By Jury and to Confront Witnesses: The Sixth Amendment"; "The Constitutional Right to Privacy and the Constitutional Amendment Process." Many social studies teachers had classes listen to the series, and some teachers are preparing study guides for use with the tapes of the programs. Tapes have been made available to public libraries, schools, and other public radio stations.

Project Director: Midge Korczak
Boulder County Bar Association
1942 Broadway, #208
Boulder, Colorado 80302
303-440-4758

Project Funding: Colorado Humanities Program

Biographies From American History--1750-1820

This project will present seven book discussion programs developed in 1983. Scholars lead the discussion programs by giving a 45-minute lecture followed by a one hour discussion session, to develop pertinent themes from the lives of the individuals studied. The series is being tested in three communities during the winter of 1984 and may be modified for a final test in three additional towns in the fall of 1984. The books provided for participants are The Vineyard of Liberty by James MacGregor Burns (for an overview of the period), Ethan Allen: Frontier Rebel by Charles Jellison, Dearest Friend: A Life of Abigail Adams by Lynne Withey, Washington: The Indispensable Man by James Thomas Flexner, Alexander Hamilton by Forrest McDonald, Thomas Jefferson and the New Nation by Merrill Peterson, and Burr by Gore Vidal (to stimulate discussion about the historical merits of historical novels.)

Project Director: Michael Bouman
Associate Director
Vermont Council on the Humanities and Public Issues
Box 58
Hyde Park, Vermont 05655
802-888-3183

Project Funding: A special award from the National Endowment for the Humanities to the Vermont Council on the Humanities and Public Issues

Church, State and the First Amendment: A North Carolina Dialogue

This project will focus on the religion clauses of the first amendment through a five-part program:

The preparation of four resource booklets on various aspects of church-state relations and the First Amendment. The booklets will cover: (1) the historical and philosophical backgrounds of the religion clauses (2) the tensions between America's religious heritage and the secularism of her fundamental law (3) the impact of the religion clauses on education, and (4) cross-cultural perspectives on church-state relations. The booklets will be disseminated as background material for local programs sponsored by such groups as the League of Women Voters and the North Carolina Council of Churches. The introductions to the booklets will be offered for newspaper publication.

The development of a "guest list" of scholars who can be featured in television broadcasts of various kinds: debates, interviews, panel discussions and citizen town meetings. The guest speakers will appear in such programs on all eighteen of North Carolina's television stations.

The development of locally-initiated projects through a special Call for Proposals issued by the North Carolina Humanities Committee.

The sponsorship of two statewide invitational conferences which will showcase much of the results of the locally-initiated projects, feature major constitutional historians and philosophers as speakers and involve a select audience of elected officials, government administrators, educators, humanities scholars, religious leaders, journalists and civic leaders in a two-day consideration of the religion clauses.

The creation of radio broadcasts of interviews, selected local projects and portions of the invitational conferences in a modular series of brief presentations called "Constitutional Commentaries," and four 30-minute documentaries.

Project Director: Richard R. Schramm
University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
209 Abernethy Hall
Chapel Hill, North Carolina 27514
919-962-1123

Project Funding: National Endowment for the Humanities
Division of General Programs

The Constitution and Commonwealth: The Virginia Court Days Forum

This project will create a series of twenty public forums to be held in local courthouses at sites of historical significance. The forums will essentially resurrect the 18th century tradition of "court days," days each month when the meeting of the county court was the occasion for other civic and commercial meetings. The twenty "court days" will be presented between 1983 and 1986 and each will deal with a constitutional issue of contemporary importance. Five categories of issues will be explored over the twenty sessions: (1) Constitutionalism and the courts, (2) the Constitution and the economy, (3) Citizenship and Civil liberties, (4) the Federal system under the Constitution, and (5) the separation of powers under the Constitution. Moreover, these categories will be treated in terms of three overarching interests: (1) the Constitution as a trans-historical embodiment of a particular public philosophy, (2) the Constitution as the boundary of economic and political conflict, and (3) the essential relationship between a responsible citizenry and free government under the Constitution.

Each public forum will be preceded by the publication of historical and philosophical commentary on its subject in the University of Virginia News Letter which is mailed to about 4,000 people each issue, with additional copies distributed to civic groups in the community where the forum will be held. Each forum will follow a pattern of brief talks by scholars in a panel format, followed by interchange between panelists and audience. Ten of the forums will be videotaped for broadcast.

Project Director: Timothy G. O'Rourke
 Institute of Government
 207 Minor Hall
 University of Virginia
 Charlottesville, Virginia 22901
 804-924-3396

Project Funding: National Endowment for the Humanities
 Division of General Programs

The Constitution: Continuity and Conflict

This project will develop a variety of outreach activities, using established North Carolina State University programs offered through the Humanities Extension Program and the Agricultural Extension Network. Five kinds of activities will be offered:

Humanities Extension Seminars will be developed, based on a core 25" videotape offering a general discussion of constitutional principles and short videotapes on specific principles.

Workshops and training sessions will be presented to train humanities professionals in the development of programs for their home area.

Projects - 10

Historical debates will be developed by the Speech/Communication and Political Science Departments, focusing on key controversies in the history of constitutional principles. The debates will allow audience members to choose sides initially and then have the option to change their opinion, based on arguments presented.

A Commemorative Convention will be presented in 1987, to which all those who participated in other project events will be invited. This will not be a recreation of the original convention, but a conference of people involved in other project activities.

Two-hour simulation of Supreme Court decisions in specific constitutional cases will also be presented, using constitutional law students to debate key points and audience participation to come to decisions.

Overall, the intention will be to focus on the principles adopted by the Framers at the original convention and show how they have been applied to crises during the life of the nation, emphasizing the tensions and conflicts but also the continuing vitality of these principles.

Project Director: Abraham Holtzman
Department of Political Science and Public Administration
North Carolina State University
Raleigh, North Carolina 27650
919-737-2481

Project Funding: National Endowment for the Humanities
Division of General Programs

The Constitution and Puerto Rico

This project will involve a series of lectures and discussions to be held from March through August 1984 at Catholic University in Ponce. Leading scholars and Justices will discuss the role of the Constitution in regard to Puerto Rico's judicial system, as well as the principles and provisions of the U.S. Constitution and the Puerto Rican Commonwealth Constitution, adopted in 1952. Emphasis will be placed on the cultural and historical interactions between Puerto Rican and American Law. Catholic University will publish the proceedings, which will then be used in courses on history, political science and constitutional law.

Project Director: Catholic University
School of Law
Ponce, Puerto Rico

Project Funding: Fundacion Puertor Riquena de las Humanidades

The Constitutional Society of 1784: A Bicentennial Symposium

This project consists of a Symposium, Exhibit, and Pamphlet with Guide for the Exhibit on the 200th anniversary of the founding, in 1784, of the Constitutional Society. The program will cover the period from the Treaty of Paris in 1783 to the Constitutional Convention in 1787.

Symposium. The symposium will be held December 20, 1984. The opening address will be "New Jersey's Contribution to the Constitutional Convention," by Richard P. McCormick, Graduate School of Information and Library Studies, Rutgers University. Margherita Marchione, Editor of the Papers of Philip Mazzei, Fairleigh Dickinson University, will speak on "The Constitutional Society of 1784, Forerunner of the Constitutional Convention," focusing on Philip Mazzei, chief organizer and representative of Continental thought during this period. John Murrin, Princeton Historian, will present "Political Perspectives in the States which led to the Constitutional Convention."

James MacGregor Burns will give the luncheon address and provide a general overview of the discussions emphasizing continental philosophical thought, comparisons between Virginia and New Jersey leaders, and Mazzei as a bridge to European intellectuals.

Exhibit. An exhibit will be presented in October-November 1984 and will last several weeks in order to give the general public the opportunity to visit before and after the Symposium. The exhibit will include books and articles by and about Mazzei, and photographs and other documents and references.

Pamphlet. A pamphlet, entitled The Constitutional Society of 1784: A Bicentennial Exhibit, will consist of a description of exhibit materials, a brief sketch of Philip Mazzei's contribution, documents of the Constitutional Society (Resolution, Minutes of meetings, etc.) and a study guide. The pamphlet will be available to visitors at the exhibit.

Project Director: Margherita Marchione
Fairleigh Dickinson University
Madison Campus
285 Madison Avenue
Madison, New Jersey 07940
201-377-4700

Project Funding: New Jersey Committee for the Humanities

A Decade of Study of the Constitution

This project represents a three-year portion of a proposed ten-year program of television and radio broadcasts, publications and research dealing with the Constitution. During this three year period, the Institute will carry out:

Three annual conferences of opinion leaders from the academy, journalism, government and the professions. Participants will discuss essays addressing specific constitutional issues that arose during the period of the nation's founding and that continue to agitate politics. The essays will be based on research carried out by Institute scholars.

Projects - 12

Publication of three volumes of essays on constitutional controversies, as these were covered in the conferences, to be used as texts in undergraduate and graduate courses in American history, politics and constitutional law, and by the general public.

Creation of six audio and videotape public policy forums, featuring prominent spokesmen for different points of view on constitutional issues.

The overriding concern of the project is to examine the extent to which and the ways in which political problems and tasks of the present are rooted in the early founding period, especially in the constitutional controversies and principles debated by the framers.

Project Director: Robert A. Goldwin
The American Enterprise Institute
1150 17th Street, N.W., Suite 1200
Washington, D.C. 20036
202-862-5912

Project Funding: National Endowment for the Humanities
Division of General Programs

The Denver Dialogues: "Our Living Heritage: The American Constitution"

This project is a series of four monthly forums, beginning in January 1984 and drawing on nationally prominent individuals to examine those significant moral, philosophical, and political values/assumptions that loomed vital to the nation at its conception some 200 years ago, and to examine how they may serve us today and in the future.

Each two-hour session will consist of one or two speakers followed by one or two respondents and a dialogue between knowledgeable people and interested citizens on the subjects listed.

The first topic is "The Trauma of Beginning," which will examine the philosophical tensions present at the time of the framing of the Constitution; tension, for example, between elitism and democracy, the majority and the minority, equality and liberty, federalism and states' rights, social and individual rights.

The second session on "The Continuing Controversy" will continue the discussion of philosophical tensions within and caused by the Constitution, and will focus on their implications for contemporary society.

The third session, "My Constitution Or Yours? Popular Perceptions of the American Constitution," will address perceptions held by various communities in American society with an emphasis upon those which reflect cultural diversity.

The final session, entitled "The Embattled Constitution: Will It Survive the 21st Century?" will examine whether the Constitution will be able to deal with the exigencies of the future. All sessions will be videotaped for broadcast.

Project Director: Donna Coellen
Unitarian Universalist Metro Denver Urban Coalition
1060 St. Francis Way
Denver, Colorado 80204
303-623-2340

Project Funding: The Colorado Humanities Program

Does Vermont Have A Constitutional Right to a Decent Environment?

This 1979 project consisted of a mock trial, testing a hypothetical state statute guaranteeing the right to a decent environment. A developer was assumed to have submitted a proposal to develop an alpine slide on one of Vermont's most scenic and historically significant mountains, and a suit was brought to stop the hypothetical proposal. In a format that blended aspects of trial court and appeals court, legal scholars and witnesses presented arguments on different sides of the issue, with the audience serving as the jury. Three witnesses were called on to support and three to oppose the suit: an ecologist, economist, philosopher, art historian, historian and planner. Legal scholars provided opposing summaries at the beginning and the close of the trial, setting forth arguments for and against the right provided in the hypothetical statute. After the witnesses and arguments, the audience was asked to deliberate and produce a verdict. The audience was actually asked to rule on three questions: should the suit be upheld, should the legislature consider establishing such a statute in fact, and is there such a thing as a constitutional right to a decent environment?

A pamphlet is available describing the project in more detail.

Project Director: Richard Brooks
Head of the Environmental Law Center
Vermont Law School
South Royalton, Vermont 05068
802-763-8303

Project Funding: Vermont Council on the Humanities and Public Issues

Federal Democracy and Human Rights: Agenda and Prospects for America's Third Century

A fourteen-part lecture series beginning in November 1982 and continuing through 1984. The lecture and discussion series will examine (1) the contributions of American federalism to democratic governance and human rights protection (2) problems, conflicts, and success encountered since 1789, and

(3) the future of federal democracy in the United States. The guest lecturers include distinguished scholars and/or public servants. The goal of the series is to help citizens better understand the nature and purposes of the American Federal system.

Project Director: John Kincaid
Department of Political Science
North Texas State University
Denton, Texas 76203
817-788-2276

Project Funding: Texas Committee for the Humanities

Intellectual Freedom

This was a series of three public forums, held weekly in 1977, featuring presentations by a panel of four speakers followed by discussion. Each forum was the focus of a book display in the library and was followed the next day by a book review and discussion concerning a book related to the topic discussed at the forum. Topics for the series included "The Right of Expression vs. a Community's Need for Order," "The Rights of the Press vs. an Individual's Right to a Fair Trial," and "The Right of Free Expression vs. Community Standards of Decency." Scholars in American history and jurisprudence joined representatives of the press and the local historical society in developing presentations.

Project Director: Pat Bates
Rutland Free Library
136 Lincoln Avenue
Rutland, Vermont 05701
802-775-3599

Project Funding: Vermont Council on the Humanities and Public Issues

The Legacy of George Mason: The First Amendment

A lecture series held in 1983 that included "George Mason and the Origins of the First Amendment" by Robert A. Rutland, Professor of History, University of Virginia; "Religious Freedom: As Amended by the Founding Mothers" by Rosemary Keller, Associate Professor of Religion and American Culture, Garrett-Evangelical Theological Seminary; "Freedom of Speech: Its Philosophical Roots" by Frederic Schauer, Cutler Professor of Law, College of William and Mary; and "Human Rights and American Foreign Policy: The New Realism" by Charles W. Maynes, editor, Foreign Policy. Additional scholars served as moderator and discussion leader at each evening lecture. The papers will be published.

Project Director: Josephine Pacheco
Professor of History
George Mason University
4400 University Drive
Fairfax, Virginia 22030
703-323-2000

Project Funding: Virginia Foundation for the Humanities and Public Policy

The Little Rock Crisis and the Constitution, 1954-1959

This was a research and publication project dealing with the constitutional issues arising out of the Little Rock school desegregation crisis in 1957. The project had three components:

Research. The scholar carried out research through review of documents, papers and reports, and through interviews in Little Rock; Washington, D.C.; Philadelphia; Santa Barbara; Madison, Wisconsin; and New York City.

Article. At the completion of the research phase, the scholar produced an article which was published in the Arkansas Historical Quarterly, which traced Little Rock's process of integration as it evolved from the U.S. Supreme Court's Brown decision in 1954 to the protracted litigation of Aaron v. Cooper (in which the NAACP appealed a decision which would have allowed the Little Rock School Board to delay the integration order for 2½ years). The article examines the role of the Bar, the uses of states' rights as an ideology, the intermeshing of politics and the federal judicial process, and the conflicting perceptions of what is meant by "deliberate speed."

Book. In October 1984, Greenwood Press in Connecticut will publish the complete study as The Little Rock Crisis: A Constitutional Interpretation by Tony Freyer.

Project Director: Tony Freyer
Department of History
University of Alabama
Tuscaloosa, Alabama 35486
205-348-7100

Project Funding: Arkansas Endowment for the Humanities

The Miracle of Virginia: The Role of American Leadership (1765-1789)

A two-day symposium held in April 1982 to explore the reasons for the fact that the Virginia society of this period produced a host of leaders of the most extraordinary caliber and ability. Lectures included "The Great Generation Revisited" by Dumas Malone, Biographer-in-Residence, Professor of History, University of Virginia; "Virtue and Vainglory: George Washington In His Time" by Marcus Falkner Cunliffe, University Professor, George Washington University; "James Monroe: From Virginia Traditionalist to International Leader" by Harry Ammon, Professor of History, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale; "The Scholarship of James Madison" by Robert A. Rutland, Editor-in-Chief, The Papers of James Madison, Professor of History, University of Virginia; "The Great Virginians: Their Role in County Politics and Local Governance" by William H.B. Thomas, Historian, Chairman, Orange County Bicentennial Commission, First President, The James Madison Memorial Foundation. Additional scholars provided opening remarks and introductions. Papers from the symposium were published.

Project Director: William H.B. Thomas
James Madison Memorial Foundation
129 Caroline Street
Orange, Virginia 22960
703-672-1776

Project Funding: Virginia Foundation for the Humanities and Public Policy

The National Archives Volunteers Constitution Study Group

This project is a series of six noontime lectures by area scholars, followed by discussions of topics related to the Constitution. The monthly series runs from January through June 1984, and the lectures are held in the National Archive Building in Washington. Lectures include "The State of the Constitution" by Edwin M. Yoder, Jr., Journalist; "American Political Parties and the Constitution" by Joseph B. Gorman and Thomas M. Burbin, Congressional Research Service, Library of Congress; "The Supreme Court: The First Ten Years" by Maeva Marcus, Supreme Court Papers Project; "The Constitution and the Presidency: Evolution of the Executive" by R. Gordon Hoxie, Center for the Study of the Presidency; "Women and the Constitution: Remember the Ladies" by Virginia Purdy, Civil Archives Division, National Archives and Records Service; and "The Civil War: Crisis of the Constitution" by Herman Belz, Department of History, University of Maryland.

The audience for the talks includes the general D.C. public, tourists, law school students and federal employees. All of the talks are being audiotaped, with the intention of eventually being published in book form.

Project Director: Ralph Pollock
Constitution Study Group
National Archives and Records Service
Washington, D.C. 20408
202-523-3183

Project Funding: D.C. Community Humanities Council

The New Federalist Papers

This project will support the syndication of a series of 216 newspaper articles commemorating the Bicentennial of the Constitution to 4,000 local, college and large metropolitan papers throughout the U.S. The best of the articles will then be collected and published in a single volume, to be called The New Federalist. The base of the project is the existing affiliation the Syndication has with 1,500 newspapers.

The series of articles will be organized under three general headings: philosophical foundations of the Constitution, specific provisions of the Constitution, and anniversaries of important events affecting the Constitution. Sample topics to be covered are:

The Constitution and the Declaration of Independence

Classical background to the development of Constitutional ideas

The influence of Locke, Hobbes, Montesquieu, Harrington and others on the Constitution

Church and State in the founding

The place and legal status of women in the founding

The New Federalist, which will include the best of the articles, will emphasize the relationship between constitutional thinking today and that of the founding period. It will be available in paperback.

Project Director: Larry P. Arnn
Public Research, Syndicated
480 N. Indian Hill Boulevard
Claremont, California 91711
714-621-5831

Project Funding: National Endowment for the Humanities
Division of General Programs

A New Order of the Ages

The project will complete two years of a projected seven-year program of scholarship and public education to commemorate the Bicentennial. All activities will be devoted to examining the Founders' claim that the principles embodied in the Constitution were applicable to all men at all times, and that their adoption inaugurated a new epoch in political history. Activities will include:

Two three-day conferences, featuring presentations by humanities scholars and persons prominent in public life and the arts. The presentations will be divided between research papers, developed by and large for academic and professional readers, and lecture presentations for a general conference audience. One paper from each panel will then be selected to be published in monograph form. The panels will deal with such topics as "The Declaration and the Constitution," "Natural Rights and the Constitution," and "Slaves and Freedmen Under the New Order." The second conference will have as its general subject: "Democracy in America: Alexis de Tocqueville Observes the New Order," and will celebrate the sesquicentennial of the publication of Tocqueville's book.

A series of annual lectures on Constitutional Statesmanship, each by an outstanding scholar speaking on the contribution of a particular statesman to the development of the Constitution. The first lecture will be on "Jefferson and the Consent of the Governed," and will be given by Merrill Peterson of the University of Virginia.

A local Bicentennial Speakers Program, to provide speakers for civic, social, professional, and educational organizations. Thirty local scholars with expertise in different areas of constitutional studies, from thirteen separate colleges will prepare talks to be given to organizations at regularly scheduled meetings.

Bicentennial Pamphlets. In connection with the Local Bicentennial Speakers Program, pamphlets will be developed, each containing an essay by an area scholar on relationships between local concerns and constitutional principles. In addition, a Readings pamphlet will also be produced, offering a brief bibliography of sources related to the project's overall theme.

Library Exhibits. Display exhibits will be developed, including documents, photographs, portraits, and books associated with the personages and events emphasized in the conference, lectures and speakers program.

Radio broadcast of selected portions of the panels and lectures. One hour programs will be created and will be made available for broadcast on National Public Radio.

Project Director: Ken Masugi
The Claremont Institute
480 North Indian Hill Boulevard
Claremont, California 91711
714-621-6825

Project Funding: National Endowment for the Humanities
Division of General Programs

Pilot Summer Institute on the U.S. Constitution

This was an exploratory workshop, involving elementary and secondary teachers, held in June, 1983 in conjunction with an NEH Planning Grant to develop a comprehensive plan leading to the Bicentennial. Teachers in social sciences, literature, art, music and other areas attended a week-long institute of talks, films and videotapes dealing with the framing of the Constitution, constitutionalism, judicial review, and the relationship between Oklahoma history and constitutional issues, including attention to Native American aspects of that history.

In addition to the lectures and discussions, teachers received much printed material and resource information to use in curriculum planning.

Project Director: Dan Davis, Associate Dean
College of Liberal Studies
University of Oklahoma
1700 Asp Avenue
Norman, Oklahoma 73037
405-325-1061

Project Funding: Oklahoma Foundation for the Humanities

Planning/American Constitutional Democracy

This is a program to plan for study and discussion by the citizens of Nebraska of the past, present, and future of American constitutional democracy. A planning group of academic specialists will work in conjunction with a citizen advisory committee to plan a national conference in the spring of 1987. Nationally known specialists will be asked to present formal addresses and lead workshops on major topics, and study guides will be prepared on these topics for advance distribution.

Invited to attend will be opinion leaders (e.g. members of the state legislature, school and local government officials, newspaper editors, lawyers, etc.) from local communities across the state. After the conference, participants will arrange to establish study discussion groups in their home communities, using resources made available at the conference. Major themes for study and discussion include: The Changing American Value System--What is Still Vital in the Thought of the Founding Fathers; Federalism--Its Purpose, Current Status, and Future Prospects; The Balancing of Powers--Executive-Legislative-Judicial Roles in a Changing World; The First Amendment--Do Rights Imply Responsibilities?; Civil Rights--Equality of Opportunity or Equality of Results?; "To Insure Domestic Tranquility"--Reconciling Law and Order.

Project Director: John Braeman
University of Nebraska--Lincoln
History Department
642 Oldfather Hall
Lincoln, Nebraska 68588-0327
402-472-3253

Project Funding: Nebraska Committee for the Humanities

Project '87

This project, sponsored by the American Historical Association and the American Political Science Association, is a multi-year program of research and scholarly exchanges, conferences--especially on the teaching of the Constitution in schools and colleges--and programs for the general public. More specifically, Project '87 will:

Undertake scholarly conferences on the Constitution.

Organize seminars, colloquia and lectures involving major scholars for college faculty, students and the general public.

Prepare materials for secondary teachers on the Constitution and Constitutional issues.

Produce radio and television programs dealing with the relation between contemporary issues and the Constitution.

Produce a filmography for use mainly by secondary schools and colleges.

Coordinate museum exhibits.

Publish a periodical, "...this Constitution," covering information, ideas, activities and resources related to the Bicentennial.

Publish a curriculum resource book aimed at secondary schools.

Encourage programs in which foreign scholars are invited to examine the Constitution and its international significance.

Project Director: Sheilah Mann
The American Constitutional Bicentennial
1527 New Hampshire Avenue N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20036
202-483-2512

Project Funding: The American Historical Association
The American Political Science Association

Shays' Rebellion Film

This project will produce a film on the Shays' Rebellion uprising that took place in western Massachusetts in 1786-87 and influenced subsequent national and state events. It was part of the background against which the U.S. Constitution was written, debated and ratified.

The working title of the film is "A Little Rebellion Now and Then: Prologue to the United States Constitution." This film of approximately 30 minutes will consist of four parts: (1) Postwar Depression and the Chain of Debt, 1783-86 (2) From Petition to Regulation--August-December, 1786 (3) From Regulation to Rebellion--January-February, 1787, and (4) Towards a More Perfect Union--1786-1788. The film will combine period music, engravings, documents, paintings, cartoons, maps, woodcuts, landscapes, shipping scenes, and dramatic re-creation. It will provide background on the emerging commercial society and the postwar depression of the time, examine Shays' Rebellion itself as a clash between classes and cultures, and show how the rebellion had a direct impact on the Constitutional Convention.

Project Directors: Christine Dall and Randall Conrad Calliope Film Resources
35 Granite Street
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02139
617-547-7931

Project Funding: Massachusetts Foundation for Humanities and Public Policy

Statesmanship and the Constitution

A free public symposium on Statesmanship and the Constitution held in October 1983. Lectures included "Statesmanship, Rhetoric and the Constitution," "Statesmanship and Public Opinion," "Judicial Statesmanship and the Constitution," and "Politics and the Limits of Statesmanship." Allen Bloom from the University of Chicago spoke on the problems of relating leadership to popular opinion and majority rule, and Harry Clor from Kenyon College discussed the issue of the leadership role of judges. The symposium was advertised to area colleges, schools and civic organizations, and resulted in several scholarly papers and commentaries.

Project Director: Eugene W. Hickok, Jr.
Center for the Study of the Constitution
133 West High Street
P.O. Box 987
Carlisle, Pennsylvania 17013
717-245-1527

Project Funding: Pennsylvania Humanities Council

The Structuring of Liberty

The first day of this three-day program will consist of a ceremonial procession, talks by a member of the judiciary and an academic, and a selection of Revolutionary period music. The second day will have constitutional seminars and teach-ins by area faculty members on constitutional themes, and a televised debate on the constitution. The debate will have nationally known presenters, college debating team seconders and be developed in cooperation with a local television station. The third day will have an intercontinental video interchange, by satellite, in which teams at each center, consisting of a leading jurist and a constitutional authority, engage in a discussion of constitutional issues. The program envisages a speakers' panel to address community groups on the project's theme, a facsimile gazette with news items relating to the constitution, encouragement of local organizations to undertake constitutional programs and possibly video tapes of all sessions to be distributed to other groups.

Project Director: Stanley Newman
Department of Political Science
Temple University
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19122
215-787-7782

Project Funding: Pennsylvania Humanities Council

Teaching Federalism in American Schools

A workshop held in August 1983 and February 1984 to aid civics teachers in the development of teaching strategies and materials for an examination of the historic tension between "freedom" and "order" in the U.S. federal system. The workshop consisted of lectures on "Federalism--Liberty, Law and Order: Historical Backgrounds," "The Development of Constitutional Law," "American Federalism: Dead or Alive," and "Federalism and the Supreme Court." Small group discussions then followed on "The Evaluation of State Approved Civics and History Textbooks" as well as on "Teaching Strategies for the Concepts of Liberty, Law and Order." A related conference will acquaint parents of secondary school students with changing concepts of federalism and their importance for education today.

Project Director: Michael White
McLennon Community College
1400 College Drive
Waco, Texas 76708
817-756-6551

Project Funding: Texas Committee for the Humanities

Teaching the Constitution in Secondary Schools

A professor of history and political science led a one-day workshop in August 1983 for teachers, using the materials developed by the American Historical Association and the American Political Science Association for the bicentennial. The teachers were welcomed by a local attorney who gave an overview of the constitution. In the afternoon, the project director worked with teachers to show how Howard Mehlinger's Teaching About the Constitution in American Secondary Schools and other resource materials could be used in their classrooms.

Project Director: Roger Tate
Somerset Community College
Somerset, Kentucky 42501
606-678-8174

Project Funding: Kentucky Humanities Council

this Constitution: A Bicentennial Chronicle

A magazine published by Project '87 of the American Historical Association and the American Political Science Association, as a part of their effort to forge a link between scholars of the Constitution and the people who will be planning programs for the public and for the schools in observance of this historical occasion. this Constitution features three distinct sections. The first section contains essays designed to suggest themes and topics for Bicentennial programs, and will address a wide range of "Enduring Constitutional Issues." The second section of the magazine highlights documents relating to the Constitution, accompanied by explanation of their context and analysis of their importance. The third section contains information received from program planners and provides a clearinghouse about Bicentennial events. Funding sources for Bicentennial programs and activities will also be described.

Project Director: Sheila Mann, Director
Project '87
1527 New Hampshire Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20036
202-483-2512

Project Funding: National Endowment for the Humanities

Today's Constitution and You

A series of activities will take place between December 1982 and August 1984, involving high school students and adults and comprising seminars, library displays, news articles, curriculum workshops, television programming and debates. The purpose is to acquaint students and citizens in as many ways as possible with the origin of the Constitution and its evolution since ratification, and to use constitutional issues as a basis for increasing citizen understanding of how government works.

The content of all project activities is based on four themes identified by scholars: (1) the function of a written constitution (2) balance between state and federal authority (3) distribution and balance of power among the legislative, executive and judicial branches of government and (4) the nature of individual citizens' relationship with the government.

Special events included constitutional conventions held by students in Seattle, Olympia and Walla Walla in which they defended, amended or rewrote parts of the Constitution, and public debates on several areas of policy concern:

the constitutionality of DWI road blocks, debated by an attorney and a law professor;

the question of state and federal jurisdictions regarding the topic, "Can Congress deny the State of Washington the freedom to prohibit the construction of nuclear power plants?" debated by two lawyers; freedom of religion, using the framework of the Lynch vs. Donnelly case, which challenged a Nebraska town's action in erecting a nativity scene, debated by two scholars.

The program also includes an "Exercise Your Constitution" program aimed at increasing voter registration among eligible high school students in a student-to-student registration campaign. Registered students are trained as deputy registrars to register other students during the first week of May. The program includes both public and private high schools.

Project Director: Robin Anderson
Metrocenter YMCA
909 Fourth Avenue
Seattle, Washington 98104
206-383-5013

Project Funding: Washington Commission for the Humanities

Today's Constitution and You

This grant will assist five Pacific Northwest cities in producing a comprehensive plan of activities and resources that will ensure (1) the highest quality of information and discussion of the U.S. Constitution (2) high visibility, recognition and support for the activities and (3) the fullest use of resources represented by scholars, libraries and educational institutions. The grant period is from December 1983 to July 1984. The intention is to extend the focus and activity of the "Today's Constitution and You" project funded earlier by the Washington Commission for the Humanities and described above.

An introductory meeting will bring lead scholars from the Tri-Cities area of Washington State, Boise, Idaho, Salem and Portland, Oregon, together with Seattle project scholars for a half-day seminar in Seattle. Seattle scholars will present the "Today's Constitution and You" project concept and firmly establish the four constitutional themes. (The function of a written constitution; balance between state and federal authority; distribution and balance of power among the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of government; and the nature of individual citizens' relationship with the government.) Scholars will then cite their experiences in developing the structure and content of project activities, emphasizing how activities were selected and organized, and how scholars were recruited to fill programmatic need. A complete package of materials describing the pilot project will be presented to each scholar.

Representatives from the Washington, Idaho and Oregon humanities organizations will also be invited to attend the introductory meeting. At a second meeting, to be held in each city, Seattle staff and the scholar liaison will travel to the planning group's initial meeting to assist scholars in presenting and preparing the "Today's Constitution and You" program concept.

Project Director: Robin Anderson
Metrocenter YMCA
909 Fourth Avenue
Seattle, Washington 98104
206-382-5013

Project Funding: National Endowment for the Humanities

Toward a More Perfect Union

A three-part series for public television on the American Constitution is currently in the developmental stage. A communications specialist and a team of historians are planning these historical documentaries which are not intended to be a chronological narration, but rather a look at circumstances, events and ideas that shaped the Constitution. The first program will deal with the period leading up to the Constitutional Convention; the second program will cover the Convention itself as well as the ratification battle and the Bill of Rights; and the third will discuss developments after 1787 such as the debate over policy, formation of political parties, court cases, etc.

Project Directors: John T. Blair
1892 Locust Lane
P.O. Box 2954
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania 17105
717-236-6000

and

Marc Epstein
P.O. Box 18938
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19119
215-242-5684

Project Funding: Pennsylvania Humanities Council

Vermont and the New Nation--1750-1800

This project will present seven book and document discussion programs developed in 1983. About seventy hours of reading are spread over the fourteen-week series, with readings divided between primary documents such as James Madison's "Notes of Debates in the Federal Convention of 1787" and The Federalist, and outstanding commentaries. Scholars lead the discussion programs by giving 45-minute lectures followed by a one-hour discussion and question and answer session. The series is being tested during the winter of 1984, and it will be revised if necessary and retested in the fall. A total of six towns will host the series by the end of 1984. The books given to participants include Ethan Allen: Frontier Rebel by Charles Jellison, Sources and Documents Illustrating the American Revolution by Samuel Eliot Morison, The Creation of the American Republic by Gordon S. Wood, The Federalist, the antifederalist "Letters From Brutus," The Constitution: A Documentary and Narrative History by Page Smith, The Vermont Constitution of 1777, "James Madison: Father of the Constitution?" by Harold Schultz, and Jefferson and Madison: The Great Collaboration by Adrienne Koch.

Project Director: Michael Bouman, Associate Director
Vermont Council on the Humanities and Public Issues
Box 58
Hyde Park, Vermont 05655
802-888-3183

Project Funding: A special award from the National Endowment for the Humanities to the Vermont Council on the Humanities and Public Issues

The Virginia Jefferson Meeting on the Constitution

This project will create a public forum for consideration of the question: "Has the nation truly achieved representative government?" All citizens of Virginia were eligible to apply to be considered for selection as one of the 150 delegates to the Virginia Jefferson Meeting, scheduled for March 1984. The agenda is restricted to issues relating to the structure of the federal government and the question of whether the nation has achieved representative government. The Jefferson Meeting does not advocate change, but means to provide a new form of participation; an open forum through which people can examine the system as it enters its third century.

Delegates will shape the meeting by setting the agenda and running the debate. The kinds of questions which might be addressed include: Would abolishing the electoral college make the presidential election more precisely representative of the people's choice?; Would a single six-year presidential term make the Chief Executive more or less effective?; Would the "item" and "legislative" vetoes facilitate the dealings between Congress and the president without upsetting the system of checks and balance?; Would Congress perform better if the House members had longer terms?; Is there a Constitutional way to limit campaign contributions and expenditures?; Should the people have the right to initiate federal legislation by petitioning the Congress?; Would the judicial system be improved by establishing terms of office or a retirement age for Supreme Court and federal justices? This prototype conference may be the first of a state-by-state series.

Project Director: Alice O'Connor
Executive Director
The Jefferson Foundation
P.O. Box 33108
Farragut Station
Washington, D.C. 20033
202-466-2311

Project Funding: Virginia Foundation for the Humanities and Public Policy

FILMS

The following list of films is taken from Lessons on the United States Constitution, a book of more than sixty lessons for secondary school students developed by John H. Patrick of the Social Studies Development Center, Indiana University and Richard Remy of the Citizenship Development Program, Ohio State University for Project '87* with a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities. Paul Finkelman of the University of Texas served as consulting historical editor. Lessons on the United States Constitution will be published in the fall of 1984.

Several of the films were reviewed for selection by a panel of classroom teachers, historians, political scientists, curriculum developers and social studies specialists in a study conducted by the Agency for Instructional Television, Bloomington, Indiana. Others were chosen on the basis of annotations in the Index to 16mm Educational Films, published by the National Information Center for Educational Media at the University of Southern California, and the Educational Film Locator, published by R.R. Bowker.

*Project '87 is the joint effort of the American Historical Association and the American Political Science Association to commemorate the Bicentennial of the Constitution through the support of educational, scholarly and public programs. For further information on these programs, or on Lessons on the United States Constitution, contact Project '87 at 1527 New Hampshire Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

FILMS

ORIGINS AND PURPOSES OF THE CONSTITUTION

AMERICAN REVOLUTION--THE POSTWAR PERIOD (11 minutes; color; 16mm; 1975)

This film follows the major events leading to the formation of the United States and the development of the Constitution. From the AMERICAN REVOLUTION series. (Available from Coronet Instructional Films, 65 E. South Water Street, Chicago, IL 60601, 800-621-2131, $261 purchase, not available for rental.)

INVENTING A NATION (52 minutes; color; 16mm; 1972)

In 1787, prominent colonists met in Philadelphia to develop a framework for governing the colonies. "Inventing a Nation" dramatizes the secret debates among Hamilton, Mason and Madison, and shows the contributions made by each to the final form and adoption of the Constitution. From AMERICA: A PERSONAL HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES series. (Available from Time-Life Video, 100 Eisenhower Drive, Paramus, NJ 07652, 201-843-4545; $900 purchase or $100 rental.)

TO FORM A MORE PERFECT UNION (30 minutes; color; 16mm; 1974)

This film depicts the struggle waged by the Federalists and the anti-Federalists over ratifying the Constitution, highlighting Samuel Adams' and John Hancock's roles in ensuring ratification by the Massachusetts Convention. From DECADES OF DECISION: THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION series. (Available for purchase from National Geographic Society, 17 & M Street N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036, 800-368-2728, $465 purchase; available for previews and rentals from Karol Media, 625 From Road, Paramus, NJ 07652, 201-262-4170, $33 rental.)

MAIN PRINCIPLES OF GOVERNMENT IN THE CONSTITUTION

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT (23 minutes; color; 16mm; 1976)

Presents a dramatization of the sentencing phase of a convicted murderer's trial, including the arguments for and against capital punishment. From BILL OF RIGHTS IN ACTION series. (Available from Barr Films, 3490 East Foothill Boulevard, Pasadena, CA 91107, 213-681-6978, $420 purchase, $42 rental.)

DE FACTO SEGREGATION (22 minutes; color; 16mm; 1972)

Dramatizes events and cases involving issues surrounding the limits of freedom guaranteed by the Bill of Rights. From BILL OF RIGHTS IN ACTION series. (Available from Barr Films, 3490 East Foothill Boulevard, Pasadena, CA 91107, 213-681-6978, $435 purchase, $43.50 rental.)

DUE PROCESS OF LAW (23 minutes; color; 16mm; 1971)

A college student is suspended following a rock-throwing incident during a campus demonstration. The film presents opposing interpretations of the due process clause of the Fifth Amendment, and suggests that due process is time consuming and often in conflict with the immediate need to avoid further violence. The result of the student's application for reinstatement is left open-ended. From BILL OF RIGHTS IN ACTION series. (Available from Barr Films, 3490 East Foothill Boulevard, Pasadena, CA 91107, 213-681-6978, $440 purchase, $44 rental.)

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY (22 minutes; color; 16mm; 1969)

Two factory workers of different races compete for the same promotion. The film reviews the constitutional issues involved in establishing equal employment opportunity and deals with seniority, union contracts, qualifications of competing employees, and differing interpretations of "discrimination." The film is open-ended. From BILL OF RIGHTS IN ACTION series. (Available from Barr Films, 3490 East Foothill Boulevard, Pasadena, CA 91107, 213-681-6878, $450 purchase, $45 rental.)

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS (21 minutes; color; 16mm; 1973)

A reporter refuses to cooperate in a criminal investigation, protecting the source of his news story. The film questions the meaning of the First Amendment's prohibition against laws that abridge freedom of the press. From BILL OF RIGHTS IN ACTION series. (Available from Barr Films, 3490 East Foothill Boulevard, Pasadena, CA 91107, 213-681-6878, $415 purchase, $41.50 rental.)

FREEDOM OF RELIGION (21 minutes; color; 16mm; 1969)

The Bill of Rights guarantees freedom of religion, but what if laws are broken or life is endangered in the exercise of that freedom? The film uses a blood transfusion case to discuss constitutional issues and analyze when society's interest outweighs an individual's constitutional right to freedom of religion. From BILL OF RIGHTS IN ACTION series. (Available from Barr Films, 3490 East Foothill Boulevard, Pasadena, CA 91107, 213-681-6878, $385 purchase, $38.50 rental.)

FREEDOM OF SPEECH (21 minutes; color; 16mm; 1968)

The film uses the case of a controversial speaker convicted of disturbing the peace to stress the importance and complexity of the issues involved in free speech. The lawyers argue the constitutional issues in an appeals court. From BILL OF RIGHTS IN ACTION series. (Available from Barr Films, 3490 East Foothill Boulevard, Pasadena, CA 91107, 213-681-6878, $370 purchase, $37 rental.)

THE PRIVILEGE AGAINST SELF-INCRIMINATION (23 minutes; color; 16mm; 1972)

The film uses drama to point out the Fifth Amendment's protection of the accused against coerced confessions and against overzealous law enforcement for "crimes" of thought and speech. From BILL OF RIGHTS IN ACTION series. (Available from Barr Films, 3490 East Foothill Boulevard, Pasadena, CA 91107, 213-681-6978, $450 purchase, $45 rental.)

THE STORY OF A TRIAL (21 minutes; color; 16mm; 1976)

Using a case involving two young men accused of a misdemeanor, the film provides an introduction to procedures that protect citizens' rights and the constitutional safeguards of the accused. From BILL OF RIGHTS IN ACTION series. (Available from Barr Films, 3490 East Foothill Boulevard, Pasadena, CA 91107, 213-681-6978, $395 purchase, $39.50 rental.)

AMENDING AND INTERPRETING THE CONSTITUTIONTHE CIVIL WAR: THE ANGUISH OF EMANCIPATION (27 minutes; color; 16mm; 1972)

The film borrows dialogue from speeches and written records to dramatize Lincoln's personal struggle to ensure the preservation of the Union and uphold the Constitution, while simultaneously striking a blow at slavery. It shows the horror and futility of war as a means to resolve political disputes, and reveals how emancipation was determined more by military necessity than moral imperatives. (Available from Learning Corporation of America, 1350 Avenue of the Americas, New York, NY 10019, 212-397-9360, $445 purchase, $40 rental.)

THE CONSTITUTION AND MILITARY POWER (29 minutes; black and white; 16mm; 1959)

The film dramatizes the story of a U.S. citizen of Japanese ancestry who tries to avoid detention and relocation during World War II. The film follows his suit through the courts and also summarizes a previous related court decision of 1866, Milligan Ex Parte. From DECISION: THE CONSTITUTION IN ACTION series, National Educational Television. (Available from Indiana University, Audio-Visual Center, Bloomington, IN 47405, 812-335-8087, $250 purchase, $9.50 rental.)

DECISION FOR JUSTICE (27 minutes; black and white; 16mm; 1955)

The film presents a dramatic reenactment of John Marshall's contributions to the establishment of the Supreme Court as the ultimate interpreter of the Constitution. (Available from Indiana University, Audio-Visual Center, Bloomington, IN 47405, 812-335-8087, $210 purchase, $7.75 rental.)

FOCUS ON THE VICE PRESIDENCY (15 minutes; black and white; 16mm; 1974)

The film traces the history of the office of the Vice President, emphasizing Vice Presidents of the twentieth century and the importance of the Twenty-Fifth Amendment. (Available from King Features Entertainment, 235 East 45th Street, New York, NY 10017, 212-682-5600, ext. 344, $250 purchase, $50 rental.)

EQUALITY UNDER THE LAW--THE LOST GENERATION OF PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY
(25 minutes; color; 16mm; 1967)

In 1959, public schools were closed and white children in Prince Edward County were encouraged to attend segregated schools. The film analyzes the case as a constitutional violation. From OUR LIVING BILL OF RIGHTS series. (Available from Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corporation, 425 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60611, 800-621-3900, $320 purchase, $32 rental.)

FREE PRESS/FAIR TRIAL (30 minutes, black and white; 16mm; 1973)

This film reports in depth on the dilemma of balancing First Amendment guarantees of an uninhibited press and the public's right to know with the Sixth Amendment's guarantee of a defendant's right to a speedy and fair trial by an impartial jury. Film clips from the trials of Bruno Hauptman, Dr. Sam Sheppard, Billie Sol Estes, Lee Harvey Oswald, and Wayne Henley, Jr., plus clips of Nixon and Agnew claiming press prejudices, are included. (Available from Indiana University, Audio-Visual Center, Bloomington, IN 47405, 812-335-8087, $250 purchase, $9.50 rental.)

GEORGE WASHINGTON AND THE WHISKEY REBELLION: TESTING THE CONSTITUTION
(27 minutes, color; 16mm; 1974)

Enforcement of the federally imposed whiskey tax is the issue used to demonstrate the new nation's first challenge. The film uses dramatic action of Washington's military efforts against western Pennsylvania farmers' lawlessness. (Available from Learning Corporation of America, 1350 Avenue of the Americas, New York, NY 10019, 212-397-9360, $445 purchase, $40 rental.)

IMPEACHMENT (18 minutes, color, 16mm, 1974)

The film examines the process of impeachment and removal of the President from office, using excerpts from the Constitution and their relation to the practice of government. It reviews the impeachment and trial of Andrew Johnson. (Available from Texture Films, Inc., P.O. Box 1337, Skokie, IL 60076, 312-256-4436, $210 purchase, $40 rental.)

JUSTICE BLACK AND THE BILL OF RIGHTS (32 minutes; color; 16mm; 1968)

Supreme Court Justice Black explains his views on interpreting the Constitution, freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, and the rights of the accused. He also answers reporters' questions on the philosophy of the Bill of Rights in relation to current issues of law, morality, freedom of speech and civil rights. (Available from BFA/Phoenix Films, 468 Park Avenue South, New York, NY 10016, 800-221-1274, $550 purchase, $73 rental.)

JUVENILE LAW (23 minutes; color; 16mm; 1974)

Two brothers--one age 18, the other, 15--are arrested for a crime. The film shows the contrast between adult criminal procedures and juvenile law, and raises questions about the paternalistic character of juvenile justice and the constitutional issues involved in reforming the juvenile justice system. From the BILL OF RIGHTS IN ACTION series. (Available from Barr Films, 3490 East Foothill Boulevard, Pasadena, CA 91107, 213-681-6978, $450 purchase, $45 rental.)

POWERS OF THE PRESIDENCY--ARMED INTERVENTION (21 minutes; color; 16mm; 1973)

This dramatization deals with the need for military intervention when the interests of the United States are vitally affected by events in another country. A fictional president of the U.S. must quickly choose a course of action in a swiftly changing situation with conflicting information; the film is open-ended. (Available from Barr Films, 3490 East Foothill Boulevard, Pasadena, CA 91107, 213-681-6978, $415 purchase, $41.50 rental.)

POWERS OF THE PRESIDENCY--ECONOMIC CONTROLS (23 minutes; color; 16mm; 1975)

The complexity of the President's decisions is dramatized in this film. Runaway inflation and an inactive Congress force a fictional U.S. president to order wage and price controls. The film questions the constitutional authority for doing this, but leaves the answer open for discussion. (Available from Barr Films, 3490 East Foothill Boulevard, Pasadena, CA 91107, 213-681-6978, $435 purchase, $43.50 rental.)

RIGHTS, WRONGS AND THE FIRST AMENDMENT (27 minutes; color; 16mm; 1974)

The film uses such events as the Palmer Raids of World War I, forced relocation of Japanese Americans in World War II, hearings of the Cold War, conspiracy trials of the Vietnam conflict, and the Watergate invasions of privacy to trace the history of freedom of speech, freedom of the press and freedom of assembly in the United States. It dramatizes the difficulties of integrating personal freedom with legitimate national security needs. (Available from Sterling Educational Films, 241 East 34th Street, New York, NY 10016, 212-683-6300, $325 purchase, not available for rental.)

SEARCH AND PRIVACY (22 minutes; color; 16mm; 1968)

A suspected narcotics peddler and police efforts to make an arrest are the focus of three dramatic sequences. The film highlights the police's dual role in apprehending criminals yet protecting individuals from unreasonable search and invasion of privacy. Questions are raised about the reasonableness of search methods and the use of electronic surveillance. From BILL OF RIGHTS series. (Available from Churchill Films, 662 North Robertson Boulevard, Los Angeles, CA 90069-9990, 213-657-5110, $310 purchase, not available for rental.)

SPEECH AND PROTEST (22 minutes; color; 16mm; 1968)

As an introduction to the First Amendment, this film dramatizes situations where freedom of speech or assembly might be questioned. Students discuss foreign policy and academic freedom, and an anti-war demonstration at a chemical plant is enacted. Alternative conclusions are included. From the BILL OF RIGHTS series.

(Available from Churchill Films, 662 North Robertson Boulevard, Los Angeles, CA 90069-9990, 213-657-5110, $310 purchase, not available for rental.)

THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT: GUARDIAN OF THE CONSTITUTION (24 minutes; color; 16mm; 1973)

The continuing evolution of the Supreme Court is traced through historical highlights and landmark cases and through the insights of several prominent authorities commenting on the jurist's viewpoint and the power of judicial review. (Available from the Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corporation, 425 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60611, 800-621-3900, $420 purchase, $42 rental.)

WOMEN GET THE VOTE (25 minutes; black and white; 16mm; 1962)

Using historical footage the film shows the difficult and sometimes violent course of the campaign for women's voting rights leading to Susan B. Anthony's triumph in 1919. From the TWENTIETH CENTURY series. (Available from CRM/McGraw Hill Films, 674 Via de la Valle, P.O. Box 641, Del Mar, CA 92014, 619-453-5000, $295 purchase, $22 rental.)

WOMEN'S RIGHTS (22 minutes; color; 16mm; 1974)

A high school girl wants to swim on the boys' team but is thwarted by state bylaws which prohibit her from doing so. The film shows the unconstitutionality of the bylaws based on the Fourteenth Amendment's guarantee of equal protection of the law to all citizens regardless of race or sex. From the BILL OF RIGHTS IN ACTION series. (Available from Barr Films, 3490 East Foothill Boulevard, Pasadena, CA 91107, 213-681-6978, $445 purchase, $44.50 rental.)

LANDMARK CASES OF THE SUPREME COURT

FREE PRESS VS. FAIR TRIAL BY JURY: THE SHEPPARD CASE (30 minutes; color; 16mm; 1969)

The conflict between the rights of the press and the rights of the accused to a fair jury trial are explored in this film. The 1954 case involving major constitutional issues and the 1966 Supreme Court decision establishing guidelines to protect the accused from prejudicial publicity are presented by documentary materials on the case. From OUR LIVING BILL OF RIGHTS series. (Available from Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corporation, 425 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60611, 800-621-3900, $445 purchase, $44.50 rental.)

FREEDOM TO SPEAK: THE PEOPLE OF NEW YORK VS. IRVING FEINER (23 minutes; color; 16mm; 1967)

This film combines reenactments with interviews of participants in the case of a college student whose conviction for incitement to riot was upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court. It shows how constitutional interpretations vary with time and changes in public opinion and raises the issues of freedom vs. security, liberty vs. law, right vs. responsibility, and liberty vs. license. From OUR LIVING BILL OF RIGHTS series. (Available from Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corporation, 425 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60611, 800-621-3900; $420 purchase, $42 rental.)

JUSTICE UNDER LAW: THE GIDEON CASE (22 minutes, color; 16mm; 1967)

In the Gideon case, the defendant was tried and convicted without legal counsel. The film shows how Gideon, in prison, communicated with state and federal legislative bodies to obtain legal representation, and how the Bill of Rights and Oliver Wendall Holmes' interpretations guided the Supreme Court decision in the case. From OUR LIVING BILL OF RIGHTS series. (Available from Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corporation, 425 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60611, 800-621-3900, $380 purchase, $38 rental.)

MARBURY VS. MADISON (36 minutes; color; 16mm; 1977)

This film dramatizes the Supreme Court decision which established its responsibility to review the constitutionality of acts of Congress. From EQUAL JUSTICE UNDER LAW series. (Available from the National Audiovisual Center, Order Section, Washington, DC 20409, 301-763-1896, $380 purchase, $35 rental.)

THE RIGHT TO LEGAL COUNSEL (15 minutes; color; 16mm; 1968)

The 1963 Gideon vs. Wainwright decision requiring that indigent defendants accused of serious crimes must be offered counsel overruled an earlier decision in Betts vs. Brady. When tried with adequate legal representation, the defendant, Gideon, was acquitted. (Available from BFA/Phoenix Films, 468 Park Avenue South, New York, NY 10016, 800-221-1274, $260 purchase, $37 rental.)

THE SCHEMPF CASE (35 minutes, color; 16mm; 1969)

This film asks whether Bible reading and the Lord's Prayer recited over a loudspeaker in a high school is a violation of the First Amendment. The issues and background are presented in the context of emotion-charged incidents, and the Supreme Court decision is reviewed. (Available from Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corporation, 425 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60611, 800-621-3900, $560 purchase, $56 rental.)

SCHOLARS

This section lists individuals, for the most part university scholars, who are expert in some aspect of Constitutional history or principles and who have indicated an interest in assisting with projects as speakers and as consultants in the consideration of themes, ideas, and issues. The list identifies them by state, but many would be willing to travel to other parts of the country to participate in projects. Scholars will need to be contacted individually to determine their availability for any specific project.

The list represents names of persons known to us at the time this text was prepared for publication. Since we plan a supplement to this Resources Guide next year, we are still interested in the names of other scholars whose primary field of interest is in historical, philosophical, legal or political aspects of the American Constitution and who would be willing to be listed as a possible resource in developing or presenting projects. Please have the scholar contact the Federation office with the following information:

Name
Institutional Address
Telephone
General Field
Special Interests

SCHOLARS

ALABAMA

Tony Freyer
Department of History and Law School
University of Alabama
Box 1435
University, Alabama 34586
Phone: 205-348-5930
Field: American Legal and Constitutional History. Special Interests: Business--Government relations; civil rights; minority rights; federalism; Supreme Court.

ALASKA

James Waldemar Muller
Department of Political Science
University of Alaska, Anchorage
3221 Providence Drive
Anchorage, Alaska 99508
Phone: 907-786-1746
Field: political theory. Special Interests: Montesquieu; The Federalist; Lincoln. Note: Prof. Muller is serving as a White House Fellow in the U.S. Department of Education for 1983-84 and can be reached at: U.S. Dept. of Education, Rm 4015, 400 Maryland Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20202; phone: 202-755-1100.

ARIZONA

Richard A. Cosgrove
Department of History
University of Arizona
Tucson, Arizona 85721
Phone: 602-621-1685
Field: English history. Special Interests: The Eighteenth Century Constitutional Background in England.

John P. Frank
Lewis & Roca
100 West Washington Street, Suite 2400
Phoenix, Arizona 85003
Phone: 602-262-5354
Field: Constitutional Law and History. Special Interests: Constitutional Law case study.

Jack D. Marietta
Department of History
University of Arizona
Tucson, Arizona 85721
Phone: 602-621-1340
Field: Colonial and Revolutionary America. Special Interests: Colonial and Revolutionary Pennsylvania; Quakers in America; Criminal Justice in Early America.

ARKANSAS

James S. Chase
Department of History
University of Arkansas
Ozark Hall 12
Fayetteville, Arkansas 72701
Phone: 501-575-3001
Field: American Political History. Special Interests: Political Parties.

Eldon John Eisenach
Political Science Department
University of Arkansas, Little Rock
Little Rock, Arkansas 72206
Phone: 501-569-3195
Field: American Political Thought. Special Interests: Colonial and Early State Constitutions; Religion and American Politics; Common Law and Lawyers. Note: Prof. Eisenach will be out of the country from August, 1984 through July, 1985 on leave.

CALIFORNIA

Richard M. Abrams
Department of History
University of California at Berkeley
Berkeley, California 94720
Phone: 415-642-2611/-1971
Field: business, legal, political history. Special Interests: The United States Since 1945.

William B. Allen
Department of Humanities and Social Sciences, Harvey Mudd College
Claremont, California 91711
Phone: 714-621-8022
Field: The American Founding Period. Special Interests: Democratic Nationalism; Washington; Madison; Fisher Ames.

Joyce Appleby
Department of History
University of California, Los Angeles
Los Angeles, California 90024
Phone: 213-474-7382 or 213-825-4601
Field: 17th and 18th century Anglo-America. Special Interests: political and economic theories of the framers; economic conditions during the constitutional period.

Gordon M. Bakken
Faculty Affairs and Records
California State University, Fullerton
Fullerton, California 92634
Phone: 714-773-2125
Field: American legal and constitutional history. Special Interests: State constitutional law; western legal development.

Gayle Binion
Department of Political Science
University of California, Santa Barbara
Santa Barbara, California 93106
Phone: 805-961-2114, 961-3431
Field: Public Law, Constitutional Law. Special Interests: Civil Liberties and civil rights.

Morton Borden
Department of History
University of California, Santa Barbara
Santa Barbara, California 93106
Phone: 805-961-2720
Field: American History, Early National period. Special Interests: Constitution.

Paul Brest
Stanford Law School
Stanford, California 94305
Phone: 415-497-3573
Field: Constitutional Interpretation. Special Interests: Who has the authority to decide Constitutional questions?

Jesse H. Choper
University of California Law School
Boalt Hall
Berkeley, California 94720
Phone: 415-642-6483
Field: Constitutional Law. Special Interests: Supreme Court and Judicial Review; Religion; Equal Protection.

Don Dewey
Department of History
California State University, Los Angeles
Los Angeles, California 90032
Phone: 213-224-3726; after September, 1984 - 224-3843
Field: History. Special Interests: Constitution; James Madison; John Marshall; Revolution; Thomas Jefferson; The Press.

John P. Diggins
Department of History
University of California-Irvine
Irvine, California 92717
Phone: 714-856-6223 or 714-856-6221 (messages)
Field: American Intellectual History
Special Interests: Political Thought from Founders to Lincoln, Dewey, Lippmann, et al.

Ward E.Y. Elliott
Claremont McKenna College
Pitzer Hall
Claremont, California 91711
Phone: 714-621-8000, ext. 3649
Field: public law, public policy.
Special Interests: voting rights, population, immigration, environment.

Don E. Fehrenbacher
Department of History
Stanford University
P.O. Box 4024
Stanford, California 94305
Phone: 415-325-8004
Field: Race and Slavery in the Constitutional System. Special Interests: Constitutional issues in the antebellum and Civil War eras; Lincoln and the Constitution.

Edwin S. Gaustad
Department of History
University of California, Riverside
Riverside, California 92521
Phone: 714-787-4557
Field: American political and religious history. Special Interests: church and state; First Amendment; religion of the early republic; religion and the founding fathers.

Gerald Gunther

Stanford Law School
Stanford University
Stanford, California 94305

Phone: 415-497-4477
Field: Constitutional Law; constitutional history; judicial biography. Special Interests: the early national period.

Norman Jacobson

Department of Political Science
University of California, Berkeley
Berkeley, California 94720

Phone: 415-642-2539; 642-6373
(messages)
Field: Political Theory.

Charles R. Kesler

The Henry Salvatori Center
Claremont McKenna College
Claremont, California 91711

Phone: 714-621-8201
Field: Political thought and institutions. Special Interests: The Federalist; American constitutional and political thought from Lincoln to the present.

Leonard W. Levy

Department of Humanities and History
Claremont Graduate School
232 McManus
Claremont, California 91711

Field: Constitutional History.
Special Interests: Bill of Rights.

Gordon Lloyd

Department of Political Science
University of Redlands
Redlands, California 92373

Phone: 714-793-2121-x428
Field: Creation of the Constitution.
Special Interests: Success of the American constitutional system; The Origin of the Bill of Rights.

Charles A. Lofgren

Claremont McKenna College and
Claremont Graduate School
Pitzer Hall
Claremont, California 91711

Phone: 714-621-8000, ext 2931 or 2835
Field: American Constitutional History. Special Interests: Founding period; constitutional aspects of war and foreign relations; Constitution and race relations.

Henry Mayer

50 The Uplands
Berkeley, California 94705

Phone: 415-655-6724
Field: Origins of Constitution and ratification. Special Interests: Bill of Rights.

Robert Middlekauff

Director, Henry E. Huntington Library,
Art Gallery and Botanical Gardens
1151 Oxford Road
San Marino, California 91108

Phone: 818-792-6141

Field: Early American History.
Special Interests: The American Revolution (1763-1789).

Paul J. Mishkin

University of California School of Law
Boalt Hall
Berkeley, California 94720

Phone: 415-642-1860
Field: Constitutional Law. Special Interests: Role of the Supreme Court; Role of Federal Courts; Equality; Individual Rights.

Stanley Mosk

Justice, Supreme Court of California
State Building
San Francisco, California 94102

Phone: 415-557-3565
Field: Constitutional Law. Special Interests: Use of state constitutions.

A. E. Keir Nash

Political Science Department
University of California-Santa Barbara
Santa Barbara, California 93106

Phone: 805-961-3209 or 687-9315
Field: Constitutional Law; Legal History.

Gary B. Nash

Department of History
University of California, Los Angeles
Los Angeles, California 90272

Phone: 213-825-3677
Field: Early American History.
Special Interests: Indian and Black History; Urban and Social History.

John Niven

Department of History
Claremont Graduate School
Claremont, California 91711

Phone: 714-621-8000, ext. 3334
Field: American Political and Social History. Special Interests: Biography; 19th century.

Michael Parrish

Department of History
University of California, San Diego
La Jolla, California 92039

Phone: 619-452-3690
Field: Judicial history. Special Interests: The Warren Court; Hughes Court; Felix Frankfurter; Constitutional Revolution of 1937.

Van L. Perkins

Department of History
University of California, Riverside
Riverside, California 92521

Phone: 714-787-3853 (messages: 787-5401)
Field: Constitutional Law and Theory.
Special Interests: Bill of Rights; 14th amendment.

John A. Phillips

Department of History
University of California, Riverside
Riverside, California 92521

Phone: 714-787-4885

Field: British history - legal, social, political - 1660-1850.

Special Interests: Role of the jury and judiciary in England and colonial America; implications of the adoption of a Constitution based upon perceptions of the English model.

C. Herman Pritchett

Department of Political Science
University of California at Santa Barbara

Santa Barbara, California 93106

Phone: 805-961-3264
Field: Civil Liberties. Special Interests: Supreme Court; Judicial Process; First Amendment.

Jack M. Rakove

Department of History
Stanford University
Stanford, California 94305-2094

Phone: 415-497-9515 (messages 7-2651)
Field: American Revolution. Special Interests: the framing and interpretation of the Constitution.

Martin Ridge

Henry E. Huntington Library
San Marino, California 91108

Phone: 213-792-6141
Field: American Political History.

Ralph A. Rossum

Department of Political Science
Claremont McKenna College
Claremont, California 91711

Phone: 714-621-8201 or 621-8000, ext. 3989

Field: American Founding, American Constitutional Law. Special Interests: The Political Thought of the Founding Generation, especially James Wilson.

John H. Schaar

Kresge College
University of California, Santa Cruz
Santa Cruz, California 95064

Phone: 408-429-2451
Field: American Politics and Political Thought. Special Interests: Liberty; Equality; Authority; Justice; Decentralization; Meaning and Significance of the Constitution; the Founding Period in American Politics; From Articles of Confederation to Constitution; Rights and Powers.

Martin Shapiro

School of Law
University of California, Berkeley
Berkeley, California 94720

Phone: 415-642-7190
Field: Constitutional Law. Special Interests: Freedom of Speech.

Arthur G. Svenson

Department of Political Science
University of Redlands
Redlands, California 92373

Phone: 714-793-2121, x428
Field: Constitutional Theory and Interpretation. Special Interests: The Nature and Scope of Judicial Power; The War Powers Resolution of 1973.

Robert C. Welsh
Department of Political Science
University of California, Los Angeles
405 Hilgard Avenue
Los Angeles, California 90024
Phone: 213-825-5536; 825-4331
Field: Constitutional Law. Special Interests: Civil Liberties; Federalism; State Constitutional Law.

Bradford Wilson
Department of Political Science
California State College, San Bernardino
San Bernardino, California 92407
Phone: 714-887-7238 or 7247
Field: American Constitutional Studies. Special Interests: Philosophical roots of American constitutionalism; the Founding of the American constitutional order; the role of the judiciary in constitutional protection and development.

COLORADO

George M. Dennison
Colorado State University
110 Administration Building
Fort Collins, Colorado 80523
Phone: 303-491-5693
Field: American Constitutional History. Special Interests: Any in the field.

Robert W. Hoffert
Office of Dean, College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences
Colorado State University
Fort Collins, Colorado 80523
Phone: 303-491-5421
Field: Political and Constitutional theory. Special Interests: Articles of Confederation and relationship between the Articles and Constitution.

G. S. Rowe
University of Northern Colorado
Greeley, Colorado 80639
Phone: 303-351-3890
Field: American History to 1815.
Special Interests: American legal history in the 18th Century; American social history in the 18th century.

CONNECTICUT

R. Kent Newmyer
Department of History
University of Connecticut, Storrs
Storrs, Connecticut 06268
Phone: 203-486-2083
Field: United States history.
Special Interests: United States Constitutional and Legal History; Supreme Court; judicial biography; United States Early National Period.

DELAWARE

Richard L. Bushman
Department of History
University of Delaware
Newark, Delaware 19711
Phone: 302-738-2388
Field: 18th century history. Special Interests: American revolutionary politics and political culture.

James Morton Smith
Director, Winterthur Museum and Professor of Early American History at the University of Delaware
Winterthur Museum
Winterthur, Delaware 19735
Phone: 302-656-8591 (ext. 370)
Field: Early American History and Culture. Special Interests: American Constitutional Development and the Bill of Rights.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Walter Berns
American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research
1150 17th Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20036
Phone: 202-862-6428
Field: constitutionalism, the American Constitution. Special Interests: the founding of the United States. Note: Mr. Berns is a member of the National Council on the Humanities and, therefore, ineligible to receive any stipend paid out of funds coming from NEH.

Maxwell Bloomfield
Department of History
The Catholic University of America
(Mailing address: 1913 Sartoga Drive, Adelphi, Maryland 20783)
Phone: 202-635-5484
Field: American Legal/Constitutional
History. Special Interests:
Constitutional values in American fiction.

Richard H. Kohn
Office of Air Force History,
Department of the Air Force
HQ USAF/CHO, Building 5681, Bolling
AFB
Washington, D.C. 20332
Phone: 202-767-5764
Field: U.S. military history.
Special Interests: Civil-Military Relationships; Origin and Writing of the military sections of the Constitution, to 1789.

Maeva Marcus
Georgetown University Law Center and
Supreme Court of the United States
Documentary History Project
Room 14
Supreme Court of the United States
Washington, D.C. 20543
Phone: 202-252-3256 (Supreme Court),
202-624-8318 (Georgetown)

Field: Constitutional History.
Special Interests: Early Supreme Court and 20th century.

David K. Nichols
Department of Politics
Catholic University
Washington, D.C. 20064
Phone: 202-635-5129
Field: American Political Institutions - American Founding.
Special Interests: Political Parties;
Separation of Powers.

Gary Puckrein
National Museum of American History,
Smithsonian Institution and Department of History, Rutgers University
National Museum of American History,
AHB-5109
Washington, D.C. 20560
Phone: 202-357-1946
Field: Early American History.
Special Interests: Afro-American History.

L. Peter Schultz
Department of Politics
Catholic University of America
Washington, D.C. 20064
Phone: 202-635-5129
Field: Public Law, American Government. Special Interests:
Constitutional Law; Constitutionalism; Presidency.

Richard G. Stevens
Department of Government
Georgetown University
Washington, D.C. 20057
Phone: 202-625-4561 (if no answer, leave message at 202-625-4959)
Field: American Constitution;
American Political Thought. Special Interests: The Founding; Legislative Power; Separation of Powers; Due Process of Law; The Declaration and the Constitution.

Wilcomb E. Washburn
Office of American Studies
Smithsonian Institution
Washington, D.C. 20560
Phone: 202-673-4872
Field: Minority Rights under the Constitution. Special Interests:
Native Americans and constitutional rights.

Jamil S. Zainaldin
Project Director, Constitutional
History in the Schools
American Historical Association
400 A Street S.E.
Washington, D.C. 20003
Phone: 202-544-2422
Field: Legal History. Special Interests: Early Nineteenth Century Period.

FLORIDA

Kermit L. Hall
Department of History
University of Florida

4131 GPA
Gainesville, Florida 32611
Phone: 904-392-0271
Field: Constitutional History & Legal History. Special Interests: Judicial Selection and Behavior; Judicial Review; Thought and Theory; Individual Rights.

GEORGIA

Dorothy T. Beasley
Judge, State Court of Fulton County
160 Pryor Street, S.W.
Atlanta, Georgia 30303
Phone: 404-572-2204 or 2704
Field: Constitution; its relationship to state constitutions. Special Interests: The Constitution and State Courts; judicial review; the improvement of judicial processes.

Michal Belknap
Department of History
University of Georgia
Athens, Georgia 30602
Phone: 404-542-8237
Field: American constitutional history. Special Interests: civil rights; civil liberties; freedom of speech; war and constitutional development; political prosecutions.

Peter Charles Hoffer
Department of History
University of Georgia, Athens
LeConte Hall
Athens, Georgia 30602
Phone: 404-542-2053
Field: Legal and Constitutional History. Special Interests: Origins of constitutional amendment and judicial review; the first constitutions and criminal law; state and federal constitutions.

Eugene F. Miller
Department of Political Science
University of Georgia
Athens, Georgia 30602
Phone: 404-542-2057
Field: Political Philosophy. Special Interests: Intellectual Sources of the American Constitution; The Political Thought of the American Founders; the Constitutional Convention; Ethics and Public Affairs.

IDAHO

Ralph Sayre
Professor of History Emeritus
The College of Idaho
1821 Colorado Avenue
Caldwell, Idaho 83605
Phone: 208-459-1758
Field: 20th century American history. Special Interests: The progressive movement.

Stephen K. Shaw
Department of Political Science
Northwest Nazarene College
Nampa, Idaho 83651
Phone: 208-467-8681

Field: Constitutional interpretation and law. Special Interests: 9th Amendment; civil liberties.

ILLINOIS

George Anastaplo
Loyola University School of Law and the University of Chicago
5731 Harper Avenue (home)
Chicago, Illinois 60637
Phone: 312-363-4825 (home); 312-670-2946
Field: Constitutional Law. Special Interests: Jurisprudence.

Larry Arnhart
Department of Political Science
Northern Illinois University
De Kalb, Illinois 60115
Phone: 815-753-1011
Field: the Constitution and Political Philosophy. Special Interests: the Lockean foundations of the Constitution; freedom of speech.

William T. Balthwaite
Loyola Law School
One East Pearson Street
Chicago, Illinois 60611
Phone: 312-670-2923
Field: Jurisprudence. Special Interests: Constitutional Law and its relation to commerce, rhetoric, and literature.

Thomas S. Engeman
Department of Political Science
Loyola University of Chicago
820 N. Michigan Avenue
Chicago, Illinois 60611
Phone: 312-670-3110
Field: Political Philosophy. Special Interests: Philosophy of the Founding; Theory of Executive Power (Presidency); Political Parties; The Federalist.

Wallace Farnham
History Department, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign
309 Gregory Hall
Urbana, Illinois 61801
Phone: 217-333-3799
Field: United States in the Gilded Age. Special Interests: American Political Culture, 1865-1900; American Political Traditions, Values, and Practices.

Gerald Fetner
Foundation Relations
University of Chicago
5801 S. Ellis Avenue
Chicago, Illinois 60637
Phone: 312-962-7568
Field: American legal and constitutional history. Special Interests: 20th century legal reform; Supreme Court; American legal profession.

Morton J. Frisch
Department of Political Science
Northern Illinois University

De Kalb, Illinois 60115
Phone: 815-756-1014
Field: Political Philosophy and American Political Thought. Special Interests: American Founding; the Political Thought of American Statesmen; American Presidency.

Samuel K. Gove
Institute of Government and Public Affairs
University of Illinois
1201 W. Nevada
Urbana, Illinois 61801
Phone: 217-333-3340
Field: State and Local Politics. Special Interests: State Constitutions; Intergovernmental Relations.

Ralph Lerner
The College, University of Chicago
1116 East 59th St.
Chicago, Illinois 60637
Phone: 312-962-7933
Field: Political philosophy; American political thought. Special Interests: The Founding; American Political Thought, 1776-1865.

Peter F. Nardulli
Institute of Government and Public Affairs
University of Illinois - Urbana
1201 W. Nevada
Urbana, Illinois 61801
Phone: 217-333-3340
Field: Constitutional law. Special Interests: The constitutional structure of Government; Relations between Individual and Government; The Criminal Process.

Stephen B. Presser
Northwestern University School of Law
357 E. Chicago Avenue
Chicago, Illinois 60611
Phone: 312-649-8371
Field: American Legal and Constitutional History. Special Interests: Jurisprudence in the Federal Courts from 1790-1811.

Robert V. Remini
Department of History
University of Illinois at Chicago
P.O. Box 4348
Chicago, Illinois 60680
Phone: 312-996-6352
Field: American history. Special Interests: Jacksonian Era.

Victor G. Rosenblum
School of Law
Northwestern University
357 E. Chicago Avenue
Chicago, Illinois 60611
Phone: 312-649-8443
Field: Constitutional and Public Law. Special Interests: Interrelations of constitutional and humanistic issues.

Rayman L. Solomon
Research Attorney
American Bar Association

1155 E. 60th Street
Chicago, Illinois 60637
Phone: 312-667-4700
Field: American Legal History.
Special Interests: Federal Courts;
Judicial Appointments; Administrative
Law; late 19th and 20th centuries.

Dennis G. Stevens
Department of Political Science
Knox College
Galesburg, Illinois 61401
Phone: 309-343-0112 (x380)
Field: Constitutional Law/Judicial Process. Special Interests: establishment and free exercise of religion; free speech; federalism.

Lane V. Sunderland
Associate Dean of the College
Knox College
Galesburg, Illinois 61401
Phone: 309-343-0112 x 214
Field: American Constitutional Law.
Special Interests: American Founding;
The Federalist; Bill of Rights.

Nathan Tarcov
Department of Political Science
University of Chicago
5828 S. University Avenue
Chicago, Illinois 60637
Phone: 312-962-8064
Field: political theory. Special
Interests: John Locke; American Political Thought; The Founding and the Principles of American Foreign Policy.

Jean Yarbrough
Loyola University of Chicago
820 N. Michigan Avenue
Chicago, Illinois 60611
Phone: 312-670-3111
Field: Political Philosophy. Special
Interests: Political thought of the Founders, with special emphasis upon Adams, Jefferson, Madison, Hamilton; republicanism, civic virtue, and liberal democracy; moral foundations of American republicanism.

INDIANA

Robert Kaczorowski
Indiana University School of Law
(visiting, Spring, 1984)
Bloomington, Indiana 47405
Phone: 812-335-8485
Field: Constitutional and legal history.

Edward B. McLean
Department of Political Science
Wabash College
Crawfordsville, Indiana 47933
Phone: 317-362-1400
Field: Philosophy of Law. Special Interests: Constitutionalism.

Vincent Ostrom
Department of Political Science
Indiana University
Bloomington, Indiana 47401
Phone: 812-335-0441

Field: Political Theory. Special
Interests: Constitutional Choice;
Federalism; Democratic Theory; Nature and Constitution of Order in Human Societies.

IOWA

Arthur Earl Bonfield
University of Iowa Law School
Iowa City, Iowa 52242
Phone: 319-353-4566
Field: Constitutional law and administrative law.

Clair W. Keller
Department of History
Iowa State University
631 Ross
Ames, Iowa 50011
Phone: 515-294-3594
Field: Colonial and Early American
History. Special Interests:
Ideological origin of Constitutionalism (especially writing of state constitutions, 1776-1789); Teaching about the Constitution; Debate over writing and ratification of the Constitution of 1787. "Mock" constitutional conventions for all ages.

Linda K. Kerber
Department of History
University of Iowa
205 Schaeffer Hall
Iowa City, Iowa 52242
Phone: 319-353-4419
Field: Constitutional History.
Special Interests: women and the constitution, especially 1787-1848.

Donald Sutherland
Department of History
University of Iowa
Iowa City, Iowa 52242
Phone: 319-353-5669
Field: English legal and constitutional history. Special Interests: Early English common law background of the Bill of Rights.

Joseph Frazier Wall
Department of History
Grinnell College
P.O. Box 805
Grinnell, Iowa 50112-0810
Phone: 515-236-2930
Field: Post Civil War American
History. Special Interests:
Substantive Interpretation; Due Process; Civil Liberties and the Constitution.

KANSAS

Donald G. Nieman
Department of History
Kansas State University
Manhattan, Kansas 66506
Field: American Constitutional and Legal History. Special Interests: Law and Race Relations; Constitutionalism in the Civil War and Reconstruction Era; The Evolution of Federalism in the Federal System. Note: Prof.

Nieman is at the New York University
School of Law through August, 1984
(address: 240 Mercer Street, New York, 10012). He will be back at Kansas State on September 1, 1984.

KENTUCKY

Lance Banning
Department of History
University of Kentucky
Lexington, Kentucky 40503
Phone: 606-257-4338
Field: The Revolutionary Period.
Special Interests: Political Thought;
James Madison; The Jeffersonian
Republicans.

Mary K. Bonsteel Tachau
Department of History
University of Louisville
Gottschalk Hall
Louisville, Kentucky 40292
Phone: 502-588-6817
Field: Constitutional History.
Special Interests: Early Republic;
Lower Federal Courts; Civil Rights;
Civil Liberties; Women's Legal History; English Roots; Text of the Constitution.

LOUISIANA

James L. Dennis
Associate Justice, Louisiana Supreme Court
301 Loyola Avenue
New Orleans, Louisiana 70112
Phone: 504-568-5720
Field: Law. Special Interests:
Constitutional Law.

Gary McDowell
Department of Political Science
Newcomb College
Tulane University
1229 Broadway
New Orleans, Louisiana 70118
Phone: 504-865-5800
Field: Constitutional Law and Theory.
Special Interests: The American Founding; The Political Thought of the Anti-Federalists.

MAINE

Jerome Nadelhaft
Department of History
University of Maine, Orono
Orono, Maine 04469
Phone: 207-581-1914
Field: American Colonial Period;
American Revolution. Special Interests: Women; Ratification of the Constitution.

MARYLAND

Herman Belz
Department of History
University of Maryland
College Park, Maryland 20742
Phone: 301-454-2843

Field: American constitutional history. Special Interests: Civil rights.

Jack P. Greene
Department of History
The Johns Hopkins University
Baltimore, Maryland 21218
Phone: 301-433-5062
Field: American Revolution and Period. Special Interests: The American Revolution in a wider World.

J. Woodford Howard, Jr.
Department of Political Science
Johns Hopkins University
Baltimore, Maryland 21218
Phone: 301-338-7540
Field: Political Science and Constitutional Law. Special Interests: Supreme Court; 20th century.

MASSACHUSETTS

Robert Bence
History Department
North Adams State College
North Adams, Massachusetts 01247
Phone: 413-664-4511
Field: American and Comparative Government. Special Interests: United States foreign policy.

Milton Cantor
Department of History
University of Massachusetts, Amherst
Amherst, Massachusetts 01002
Phone: 413-545-1330
Field: American Constitutional History. Special Interests: Bill of Rights; Executive Powers; 4th, 5th, 6th, and 8th amendments; habeas corpus; the work powers of the president; and privacy questions.

Henry Steele Commager
Department of History
Amherst College
Amherst, Massachusetts 01002
Field: Constitutional Law and History. Special Interests: American Intellectual History; current foreign policies.

John D. Cushing
Massachusetts Historical Society
1154 Boylston St.
Boston, Massachusetts 02215
Phone: 617-536-1608
Field: Constitutional History.
Special Interests: Massachusetts political and constitutional history.

George Dargo
New England School of Law
154 Stuart Street
Boston, Massachusetts 02116
Phone: 617-451-0010
Field: Constitutional Law/History.
Special Interests: American Legal History.

Paul A. Freund
Harvard Law School

Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138
Phone: 617-495-3130
Field: Constitutional law. Special Interests: History of the Supreme Court.

Charles Fried
Harvard Law School
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138
Phone: 617-495-4636
Field: Legal Philosophy. Special Interests: Labor Law; Contracts.

Robert A. Gross
Department of American Studies
Amherst College
204 Morgan Hall
Amherst, Massachusetts 01002
Phone: 413-542-2066; dept. office: 413-542-2246
Field: American social and cultural history. Special Interests: Revolutionary era, 1750-1790's; social history of Revolution; New England society and culture; Shays' Rebellion and the Constitution; women and blacks in Revolutionary era.

Dennis B. Hale
Department of Political Science
Boston College
Chestnut Hill, Massachusetts 02167
Phone: 617-552-3259
Field: American politics. Special Interests: American political thought; constitutional theory.

Gary J. Jacobsohn
Department of Political Science
Williams College
Williamstown, Massachusetts 02167
Phone: 413-597-2267
Field: Constitutional Law. Special Interests: Constitutional Theory.

William Kristol
Kennedy School of Government
Harvard University
79 Boylston Street
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138
Phone: 617-495-3025
Field: political theory. Special Interests: role of the judiciary.

Pauline Maier
Department of History
Massachusetts Institute of Technology
14N-413
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02139
Phone: 617-253-2646/4965
Field: The American Revolution.
Special Interests: The colonial and revolutionary origins of American constitutionalism; the development of American government from the Stamp Act resistance (1765) through the federal constitution; differences and similarities between the Old Revolutionaries of 1776 and the Founding Fathers of 1787.

Harvey C. Mansfield, Jr.
Department of Government
Harvard University
Littauer M-31

Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138
Phone: 617-495-3333
Field: Political Philosophy. Special Interests: Constitutionalism; political philosophy of the American founders.

Peter S. Onuf
Humanities Department
Worcester Polytechnic Institute
Worcester, Massachusetts 01609
Phone: 617-793-5436
Field: Early American political and constitutional history. Special Interests: Territorial system; creation of new states.

Aviam Soifer
Boston University
School of Law
765 Commonwealth Avenue
Boston, Massachusetts 02215
Phone: 617-353-3117
Field: Legal and Constitutional History. Special Interests: 1st, 13th and 14th Amendments; uses of history by courts; judicial opinions.

MICHIGAN

Robert Jerome Glennon
Law School
Wayne State University
468 W. Ferry
Detroit, Michigan 48202
Phone: 313-577-3947
Field: Constitutional Law and History. Special Interests: Civil Rights and Civil Liberties.

Frederick Schauer
University of Michigan Law School
Ann Arbor, Michigan 48109
Phone: 313-764-1358
Field: Constitutional Law; Jurisprudence; Social and Political Philosophy. Special Interests: Freedom of Speech; Theory of Constitutional Interpretation.

Barbara C. Steidle
Dean, James Madison College
Michigan State University
367 Case Hall
East Lansing, Michigan 48824
Phone: 517-353-6753
Field: Constitutional History and Law. Special Interests: First Amendment concerns; Bill of Rights; Law and Economics; Judicial Politics.

Sandra F. Van Burkleo
Department of History
Wayne State University
838 Mackenzie Hall
Detroit, Michigan 48202
Phone: 313-577-3332, 577-2525
Field: Constitutional and Legal History. Special Interests: History of the American Revolution and Early Nation.

Edward M. Wise
Wayne State Law School
Wayne State University

Detroit, Michigan 48202
Phone: 313-577-3941
Field: Legal history.

MINNESOTA

Dwight Jessup
Vice President and Dean of the College
Bethel College
3900 Bethel Drive
St. Paul, Minnesota 55112
Phone: 612-638-6370
Field: The Supreme Court and the Constitution. Special Interests: The Constitution and the Court in the early national period; The Supreme Court, the Constitution and Political Conflict, 1809-1835.

Samuel Krislov
Department of Political Science
University of Minnesota
1414 Social Sciences Building
Minneapolis, Minnesota 55455
Phone: 612-373-2651
Field: Constitutional Law - Judicial Process. Special Interests: The impact of the American Constitution on other constitutions.

Paul L. Murphy
Department of History
University of Minnesota
614 Social Science Building
Minneapolis, Minnesota 55455
Phone: 612-376-3190
Field: American Constitutional and Legal History. Special Interests: Bill of Rights and its history.

Susan M. Olson
Department of Political Science
University of Minnesota
1414 Social Sciences Building
Minneapolis, Minnesota 55455
Phone: 612-373-5061
Field: judicial review; federalism; separation of powers. Special Interests: interest group litigation; rights of disabled persons.

Norman L. Rosenberg
Department of History
Macalester College
St. Paul, Minnesota 55105
Phone: 612-696-6225 or 612-222-1608
Field: Legal and Constitutional History. Special Interests: Civil Liberties and First-Amendment Issue., the Revolutionary and Early National era; recent legal and Constitutional issues.

Kenneth Smemo
Department of History
Moorhead State University
Moorhead, Minnesota 56560
Phone: 218-236-2812
Field: American Constitutional History. Special Interests: History of Civil Liberties; Nationalizing the Bill of Rights (1924-Present); World War I; and First Amendment Freedoms.

Charles E. Umbanhowar
Department of Political Science
St. Olaf College
Northfield, Minnesota 55057
Phone: 507-663-3127
Field: American Government/Jurisprudence/American political thought. Special Interests: American Founding; the political economy of the Constitution; Adam Smith and the Constitution; the Adams-Jefferson Axis and the interpretation of the Constitution; the Jefferson-Hamilton Debate on the Bank; Agrarianism and the Constitution.

Michael P. Zuckert
Department of Political Science
Carleton College
Northfield, Minnesota 55057
Phone: 507-663-4123
Field: Constitutional history. Special Interests: The founding; the 14th Amendment; Madison, Jefferson, Adams; Warren Court; philosophy of rights.

MISSISSIPPI

David J. Bodenhamer
Department of History and Office of Academic Affairs
University of Southern Mississippi
Southern Station, Box 5002
Hattiesburg, Mississippi 39406-5002
Phone: 601-266-5002
Field: Constitutional/legal history. Special Interests: Bill of Rights; criminal process; due process; history of criminal justice; theory of republican government.

Robert J. Haws
Department of History
University of Mississippi
University, Mississippi 38677
Phone: 601-232-5511
Field: Modern American Legal and Constitutional History. Special Interests: American legal profession; New Deal Law and Politics.

MISSOURI

Gerald T. Dunne
Saint Louis University School of Law
3700 Lindell Boulevard
Saint Louis, Missouri 63108
Phone: 314-658-2773
Field: Legal history. Special Interests: Bankruptcy and banking law.

Walter Ehrlich
Department of History
University of Missouri-St. Louis
St. Louis, Missouri 63121
Phone: 314-553-5681
Field: American Constitutional History. Special Interests: Dred Scott Case; Impeachment.

David Thomas Konig
Department of History
Washington University, St. Louis

Box 1062
St. Louis, Missouri 63130
Phone: 314-889-5059
Field: Early American History. Special Interests: Legal-Constitutional Development; Early American Constitutionalism.

William Wiecek
Department of History
University of Missouri-Columbia
Columbia, Missouri 65211
Phone: 314-882-3878
Field: United States constitutional and legal history. Special Interests: slavery and abolition; the United States Supreme Court; republicanism.

MONTANA

Harry W. Fritz
Department of History
University of Montana
Missoula, Montana 59812
Phone: 406-243-2993
Field: American Revolution, Legal and Constitutional History. Special Interests: The origins, writing, and implementation of the Constitution; Montana history.

Richard B. Roeder
Department of History and Philosophy
Montana State University
Bozeman, Montana 59717-0001
Phone: 406-994-5203
Field: United States Constitution. Special Interests: Trans-Mississippi West.

Robert W. Rydell
Department of History and Philosophy
Montana State University
Bozeman, Montana 59717
Phone: 406-994-4395
Field: intellectual history. Special Interests: Late 19th century history, especially history of ideas.

NEBRASKA

Kent A. Kirwan
Department of Political Science
University of Nebraska at Omaha
Omaha, Nebraska 68182
Phone: 402-554-2624 and 402-554-2526
Field: Constitutional Law. Special Interests: The Founding; Political Theory of the Constitution.

Jerold Simmons
Department of History
University of Nebraska at Omaha
Omaha, Nebraska 68182
Phone: 402-554-2584
Field: 20th Century Constitutional History. Special Interests: History of Film Censorship; McCarthyism; Civil Liberties Interest Groups.

J.M. Sosin
Department of History
University of Nebraska, Lincoln
610 Oldfather Hall
Lincoln, Nebraska 68588-0327

Phone: 402-472-2415
Field: 17th-18th century. Special Interests: Judicial Review.

NEVADA

Michael Brodhead
 Department of History
 University of Nevada
 Reno, Nevada 89557
 Phone: 702-784-6871
Field: Constitutional History.
Special Interests: The Supreme Court in the 19th century.

Robert Davenport
 Department of History
 University of Nevada
 4505 Maryland Parkway
 Las Vegas, Nevada 89154
 Phone: 702-739-3544
Field: American History. Special Interests: American West; Progressive Period.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

Wilfred J. Bisson
 History Department
 Keene State College
 (or home address: 321 Elm Street)
 Keene, New Hampshire 03431
 Phone: 603-352-1909 ext. 400
Field: American Social History during the 18th and early 19th centuries.
Special Interests: Community cohesiveness and its relation to the ratifying process.

Maryann Civitello
 Department of History
 Rivier College
 429 South Main Street
 Nashua, New Hampshire 03060
 Phone: 603-888-1311
Field: Twentieth-Century America; foreign policy. Special Interests: Progressive Era; Protective legislation of Early 20th Century.

Jere Daniell
 History Department
 Dartmouth College
 201A Reed Hall
 Hanover, New Hampshire 03755
 Phone: 603-646-2995
Field: American Colonial History.
Special Interests: Colonial and Revolutionary New Hampshire; New England Towns.

Hon. Charles G. Douglas, III
 Justice, New Hampshire Supreme Court and Chair, New Hampshire Constitutional Bicentennial Commission
 Supreme Court Building
 Concord, New Hampshire 03301
 Phone: 603-271-3279
Field: State Constitutions, Bill of Rights, Federalism. Special Interests: School materials developed to teach the values and principles of our constitutions.

H. Nicholas Muller, III
 President, Colby-Sawyer College
 New London, New Hampshire 03257
 Phone: 603-526-2010, ext 790
Field: American History. Special Interests: New England and Vermont History; Revolutionary, Federalist, Early National Periods.

NEW JERSEY

Norma Basch
 History Department, Rutgers University
 Hill Hall
 Newark, New Jersey 07102
 Phone: 201-648-5502
Field: The Legal History of Women.
Special Interests: the rights of women under the Constitution.

Paul G. E. Clemens
 Department of History
 Rutgers University--New Brunswick
 History Dept-CAC
 New Brunswick, New Jersey 08903
 Phone: 201-932-7638
Field: constitutional history.
Special Interests: Colonial Period; the South; ratification of the constitution; Supreme Court interpretation; James Madison.

Stanley M. Katz
 Princeton University
 Woodrow Wilson School
 Princeton, New Jersey 08544
 Phone: 609-452-5637
Field: American Legal and Constitutional History. Special Interests: History of the Supreme Court.

Jonathan Lurie
 Associate Professor of History and Law
 Chairman, Department of History
 Rutgers University
 Newark Campus
 Newark, New Jersey 07102
 Phone: 201-648-5410, 11
Field: American Legal History.
Special Interests: Late nineteenth century legal history, History of Civil Liberties; development of the 14th Amendment; Incorporation theory.

Alpheus Thomas Mason
 Princeton University
 8 Edgehill St.
 Princeton, New Jersey 08540
 Phone: 609-924-0360
Field: Constitutional Law and American Political Thought.

Wilson Carey McWilliams
 Department of Political Science
 Rutgers University
 New Brunswick, New Jersey 08903
 Phone: 201-932-9251
Field: American political theory.
Special Interests: Religion and politics; American literature and political thought; Citizenship.

Walter Murphy
 Department of Politics

Princeton University;
 Princeton, New Jersey 08544
 Phone: 609-453-4760/921-6432
Field: Constitutional history.
Special Interests: Constitutional interpretation.

John Murrin
 Department of History
 Princeton University
 129 Dickinson Hall
 Princeton, New Jersey 08544
 Phone: 609-432-4152, 4151
Field: Early American History to c. 1815. Special Interests: Settlement process; political culture; war and society.

NEW MEXICO

Gerald D. Nash
 Department of History
 University of New Mexico
 Albuquerque, New Mexico 87131
 Phone: 505-277-2451
Field: 20th Century America. Special Interests: History of Bureaucracy; Administrative History of Federal Government since 1789; Administrative History of State Governments in West since 1850; Multi-cultural perceptions of the Constitution in the Southwest.

NEW YORK

Judith A. Best
 Political Science Department
 SUNY at Cortland
 Cortland, New York 13045
 Phone: 607-753-4105
Field: American Constitution and Founding. Special Interests: Federalist Papers, Electoral College, Item Veto for President, Founders' Constitutional and Political Theory.

Raymond L. Carol
 Department of Government and Politics
 St. John's University
 Jamaica, New York 11439
 Phone: 212-969-8000, ext. 6329
Field: Constitutional law. Special Interests: First Amendment; rights of the accused; abortion; capital punishment; discrimination; constitutional history; federalism.

Werner J. Dannhauser
 Department of Government
 Cornell University
 McGraw Hall
 Ithaca, New York 14853
 Phone: 607-256-6374
Field: Political Theory. Special Interests: 19th Century Thought.

Richard E. Ellis
 Department of History
 S.U.N.Y., Buffalo
 Ellicott Complex
 Buffalo, New York 14261
 Phone: 716-636-2250
Field: Constitutional History, 1776-1865. Special Interests: Origins of the Constitutional Movement; Anti-

Federalists; federal judiciary;
Impeachment; Nullification Crisis.

Paul Finkelman
Department of History
SUNY Binghamton
Binghamton, New York 13901
Phone: 607-798-2625
Field: Constitutional/Legal History.
Special Interests: Race relations; civil liberties; slavery and the constitution; the constitutional convention; teaching constitutional history in non-university settings.

William Gangi
Department of Government and Politics
St. John's University
Grand Central and Utopia Parkways
Jamaica, New York 11439
Phone: 212-990-6161, ext. 5252
Field: Government and Politics.
Special Interests: Constitutional
Law, 4th, 5th and 14th Amendments.

Louis Henkin
Columbia University Law School
435 West 116th Street
New York, New York 10027
Phone: 212-280-2634
Field: Constitutional law;
International law. Special Interests: constitutional rights; international human rights; the Constitution and United States foreign affairs.

Ari Hoogenboom
Department of History
Brooklyn College of the City
University of New York
Brooklyn College
Brooklyn, New York 11210
Phone: 212-780-5303
Field: Bureaucratic History. Special Interests: Regulatory power of the Constitution; civil service and interstate commerce issues.

Alfred S. Konefsky
Law School
State University of New York at Buffalo
John Lord O'Brien Hall
Buffalo, New York 14260
Phone: 716-636-2392
Field: Late 18th and early 19th century constitutional and legal history.

Richard B. Morris
Editor, Papers of John Jay
Columbia University
Box 2, Butler Library
New York, New York 10027
Phone: 212-280-2221
Field: Confederation and Constitution. Special Interests:
Ratification; The Federalist.

John W. Pratt
Department of History
State University of New York -- Stony Brook
Stony Brook, New York 11794
Phone: 516-246-6500

Field: American Constitutional
History. Special Interests: Early American Constitutional Theory;
Political Thought of Abraham Lincoln.

Jeremy Rabkin
Department of Government
Cornell University
McGraw Hall
Ithaca, New York 14853
Phone: 607-256-4915
Field: Public Law in the Welfare
State. Special Interests: Judicial Authority/Administrative Power.

Richard J. Regan, S.J.
Department of Political Science
Fordham University
Bronx, New York 10458
Phone: 212-579-2800
Field: Constitutional Law. Special
Interests: Church and State; Criminal Justice.

Donald Roper
SUNY, College at New Paltz
6 Holland Lane
New Paltz, New York 12561
Phone: 914-257-2679; 255-0609 (home)
Field: Supreme Court Biography.
Special Interests: Slavery and the Constitution; constitutional jurisprudence; judicial biography.

Stephen L. Schecter
Department of Government and Director of the Upper Hudson Program (Public History)
Russell Sage College
Troy, New York 12180
Phone: 518-456-0157
Field: American Federalism and the Constitution. Special Interests:
What the Framers and their Opponents Meant by Federalism; Federalism and the Course of 19th Century
Constitutional History; Contemporary Challenges Facing the American System as a Federal Democracy.

NORTH CAROLINA

Judith A. Baer
Department of Political Science
University of North Carolina
Hamilton Hall 070A
Chapel Hill, North Carolina 27514
Phone: 919-962-3041
Field: Constitutional Law. Special Interests: Equality; Women and the Law; Individual Rights.

Walter E. Dellinger
Duke University School of Law
Durham, North Carolina 27706
Phone: 919-684-3404
Field: Constitutional Law. Special
Interests: The Amendment Process; The Summer of 1787: What Happened in Philadelphia.

Abraham Holtzman
Department of Political Science and Public Administration

North Carolina State University,
Raleigh
Raleigh, North Carolina 27650
Phone: 919-737-2481 (2)
Field: Constitution and its Changing
Nature. Special Interests:
Federalism; Checks and Balances;
Separation of Powers; First and Fourth Amendment Rights.

Michael Lienesch
Department of Political Science
University of North Carolina
368 Hamilton Hall 070A
Chapel Hill, North Carolina 27514
Phone: 919-962-3041
Field: History of Constitutional Theory. Special Interests: The Anti-Federalists; Religious Issues in Constitutional Thought.

John V. Orth
School of Law
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, North Carolina 27514
Phone: 919-962-8517
Field: Legal History. Special Interests: Eleventh Amendment.

Marc F. Plattner
Fellow, National Humanities Center
7 Alexander Drive
Research Triangle Park, North Carolina
27709
Phone: 919-549-0661
Field: Political Philosophy. Special
Interests: The Federalist Papers;
Capitalism and the Constitution.

Walter F. Pratt, Jr.
Duke Law School
Durham, North Carolina 27706
Phone: 919-684-3365
Field: American legal history.
Special Interests: Development of the judicial branch; the Bill of Rights;
North Carolina legal history.

Jerry Pubantz
Department of History and Political Science
Salem College
Winston-Salem, North Carolina 27108
Phone: 919-721-2760
Field: The Constitution and Foreign Affairs. Special Interests: The Constitution and Foreign Policy in the Twentieth Century: Congress vs. the President.

Fred D. Regan
Department of History
East Carolina University
Greenville, North Carolina 27834
Phone: 919-757-6089
Field: First Amendment Rights.
Special Interests: The Development of Freedom of Speech in the United States.

Eva Rubin
Department of Political Science and Public Administration
North Carolina State University,
Raleigh

Raleigh, North Carolina 27695
Phone: 919-737-2481
Field: Constitutional law and development. Special Interests: judicial process.

John Semonche
Department of History
University of North Carolina
416 Hamilton Hall 070A
Chapel Hill, North Carolina 27514
Phone: 919-962-2155
Field: American constitutional and legal history. Special Interests: Supreme Court; First Amendment (especially religion and press clauses); and Constitution and Court as parts of an American civil religion.

Frank R. Strong
Cary C. Boshamer Distinguished Professor Emeritus
University of North Carolina
Law School
Chapel Hill, North Carolina 27514
Phone: 919-929-5605 (home)
Field: The Constitution; Judicial Review. Special Interests: Property Rights under the Constitution; Substantive Due Process; Separation of Powers; Amendment of the Constitution.

Tinsley E. Yarbrough
Department of Political Science
East Carolina University
Greenville, North Carolina 27834
Phone: 919-757-6030
Field: Public Law. Special Interests: civil liberties; Supreme Court; judicial process.

NORTH DAKOTA

David B. Danbow
Department of History
North Dakota State University
Fargo, North Dakota 58105
Phone: 701-237-8656
Field: American history. Special Interests: America in the 20th century.

OHIO

Henry J. Bourguignon
University of Toledo College of Law
2801 W. Bancroft St.
Toledo, Ohio 43606
Phone: 419-537-4177
Field: American Constitutional History. Special Interests: Historical Background on formation of Federal judiciary.

Harry M. Clor
Department of Political Science
Kenyon College
Gambler, Ohio 43022
Phone: 614-427-2244 (2309)
Field: Constitutional law. Special Interests: Jurisprudence.

Michael Grossberg
Department of History and School of Law
Case Western Reserve University
Cleveland, Ohio 44106
Phone: 216-368-2623; 368-2380
Field: American Legal and Constitutional History. Special Interests: Law and the Family; Law and Social Policy; Judges as Policy Makers.

R.S. Hill
Department of Political Science
Marietta College
Marietta, Ohio 45750
Phone: 614-374-4801
Field: Political philosophy and constitutional law. Special Interests: Northwest Ordinance and its relation to the Constitution.

Ronald C. Kahn
Department of Government
Oberlin College
Oberlin, Ohio 44074
Phone: 216-775-8495, 8688, 8483
Field: Constitutional law. Special Interests: First Amendment; Supreme Court decisions on state and local power in the federal system; Equal Protection; rights of privacy (substantive due process).

John C. Koritansky
Department of Political Science
Hiram College
11827 Wienwood Drive
Box 193
Hiram, Ohio 44234
Phone: 216-569-5135
Field: Political philosophy and public law. Special Interests: classical political philosophy; American Constitutional history.

David Kyvig
Department of History
University of Akron
Akron, Ohio 44325
Phone: 216-375-7322
Field: Constitutional amending since 1900. Special Interests: Amendments 18 and 21. amending procedures.

Ronald Seavoy
Department of History
Bowling Green State University
Bowling Green, Ohio 43403
Phone: 419-372-2030
Field: Constitutional History. Special Interests: Business History and the legal structure of industrialization.

Carl Ubbelohde
Department of History
Case Western Reserve University
Cleveland, Ohio 44106
Phone: 216-368-2380
Field: Early American History; American Revolution. Special Interests: Comparative Canadian/United States social and legal development.

OKLAHOMA

Donald J. Maletz
Department of Political Science
University of Oklahoma
Norman, Oklahoma 73019
Phone: 405-325-2061
Field: Political Theory. Special Interests: American politics; The Founding Period.

Richard S. Wells
Department of Political Science
University of Oklahoma
Norman, Oklahoma 73019
Phone: 405-325-5910
Field: Constitutional Law. Special Interests: Personal Rights.

OREGON

Claudia Burton
Willamette University College of Law
250 Winter Street, S.E.
Salem, Oregon 97301
Phone: 503-370-6403
Field: United States Constitution. Special Interests: Civil liberties (not including criminal procedure); State Constitutions.

Richard L.K. Collins
Willamette University School of Law
305 Mesa Road, Santa Monica,
California 90402 and Willamette University College of Law, Salem,
Oregon 97301
Phone: 503-370-6402 (Oregon); 213-459-8166 (California)
Field: American Constitutional Law (federal and state). Special Interests: Individual Rights; Constitutional History; Noted State and Federal American Constitutional Jurists. Note that Prof. Collins has addresses in both Oregon and California.

Stephen Kanter
Lewis and Clark Law School
10015 S.W. Terwilliger Boulevard
Portland, Oregon 97219
Phone: 503-244-1181
Field: Constitutional Law and Criminal Law. Special Interests: Bill of Rights; Death Penalty; Constitutional Theory. Note: Professor Kanter will be on sabbatical leave, 1984-85.

James R. Klonoski
Political Science Department
University of Oregon
Eugene, Oregon 97403
Phone: 503-686-4876
Field: Supreme Court; Civil Rights and Liberties; Presidency. Special Interests: Presidency and Civil Liberties; Simulation of Supreme Court cases.

Susan M. Leeson
Judicial Fellow, Supreme Court (to 8/1/84); Department of Political Science, Willamette University (after 8/1/84)

Room 5, Supreme Court, District of Columbia 20543 (to 8/1/84) or Department of Political Science, Willamette University, Salem, Oregon, 97301 (after 8/1/84)
Phone: 202-252-3407 (D.C.); 503-370-6292 (Oregon)

Field: Founding Period; Federalism. Special Interests: Frederick Douglass; judicial power; 5th Amendment "takings." Note that Prof. Leeson will be in Washington, D.C. until 8/1/84 and in Oregon thereafter.

Thomas D. Morris

Department of History
Portland State University
Portland, Oregon 97207
Phone: 503-229-3978
Field: Constitutional/Legal History. Special Interests: Civil Liberties, Slavery and the Constitution.

James M. O'Fallon

University of Oregon
School of Law
Eugene, Oregon 97403
Phone: 503-686-3870
Field: constitutional law, jurisprudence. Special Interests: political theory of constitutionalism.

PENNSYLVANIA

Daniel Elazar

Center for the Study of Federalism
Temple University
Gladfelter Hall, Room 1016
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19122
Phone: 215-787-1480
Field: The American Federal System. Special Interests: State Government and Politics; Federal and State Constitutions; American Political Culture; America as a Frontier Society.

Charles E. Gilbert

Political Science Department
Swarthmore College
Swarthmore, Pennsylvania 19081
Phone: 215-447-7138; 447-7127
Field: Political Science: American Government and Politics. Special Interests: Federalism.

Eleanor Gubins

Rosemont College
Rosemont, Pennsylvania 19010
Phone: 215-527-0200
Field: Current issues in Constitutional Law. Special Interests: Civil Rights and Civil Liberties.

Eugene W. Hickok

Center for the Study of the Constitution
Dickinson College
Carlisle, Pennsylvania 17013
Phone: 717-245-1527
Field: The Constitution, American Politics and American Political Thought. Special Interests: Congress and the Constitution, American Federalism, Citizenship and the Administrative State.

Ellis Katz

Center for the Study of Federalism
Temple University
025-25
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19122
Phone: 215-787-1482
Field: American constitution. Special Interests: Federalism, Civil Rights and Liberties.

M. Howard Mattsson-Boze

Department of History
Geneva College
2911 Fourth Avenue
Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania 10510
Phone: 412-846-5100 ext. 248
Field: Early American and National periods. Special Interests: Federalist Era and Constitutional Convention.

Jeffrey Brandon Morris

Department of Political Science
University of Pennsylvania
236 Stiteler Hall/C2
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19104
Phone: 215-898-7641; 898-7661
Field: American Constitutional Law. Special Interests: The Chief Justices of the United States; The Supreme Court; Civil Liberties; Policy-Making in the Courts.

Sara M. Shumer

Haverford College
Haverford, Pennsylvania 19041
Phone: 215-896-1060
Field: Political Theory, American Political Theory. Special Interests: Federalist; Anti-Federalist political thought; Jefferson; Madison; Constitution's political theory.

David G. Smith

Department of Political Science
Swarthmore College
Swarthmore, Pennsylvania 19081
Phone: 215-447-7126
Field: Constitutional Law and Jurisprudence. Special Interests: Constitutional origins; constitutional history; civil liberties; jurisprudence.

RHODE ISLAND

E. Wayne Carp

The Papers of Nathanael Greene
The Rhode Island Historical Society
110 Benevolent Street
Providence, Rhode Island 02906
Phone: 401-331-8575
Field: American Revolution, 1763-1789. Special Interests: Revolutionary origins of the Constitution; American political culture and war.

SOUTH CAROLINA

Randall Meads Chestain

University of South Carolina
School of Law
Columbia, South Carolina 29205
Field: Constitutional Law. Special Interests: State-Federal relations and problems of multi-state taxation.

Herbert A. Johnson

Department of History
University of South Carolina, Columbia
Gambrell Hall
Columbia, South Carolina 29208
Phone: 803-777-5940 or 803-777-4155
Field: American constitutional and legal history, 1607-1865. Special Interests: John Marshall; the Marshall Court; Private Property and Constitutional Liberty.

John M. Johnson

Department of History
Clemson University
Clemson, South Carolina 29631
Phone: 803-656-3153
Field: American constitutional and legal history. Special Interests: Civil Liberties (especially First Amendment); constitutionality of nuclear energy.

William Lasser

Clemson University
401 Strode Tower
Clemson, South Carolina 29687
Phone: 803-656-3246
Field: Supreme Court, Constitutional Law. Special Interests: Judicial politics; constitutional development.

Paul Peterson

Department of Government and International Studies
University of South Carolina, Coastal Carolina College
Conway, South Carolina 29526
Phone: 803-347-3161
Field: American Political Philosophy. Special Interests: The Political Science of the Constitution; The Federalist Papers.

Alan Schaffer

Afro-American History Department
Clemson University
Clemson, South Carolina 29631
Phone: 803-656-3153
Field: Afro-American History, Cultural History. Special Interests: Popular Culture, 1890-1940.

SOUTH DAKOTA

R. Alton Lee

Department of History
University of South Dakota
Vermillion, South Dakota 57069
Phone: 605-677-5218
Field: American Constitutional History. Special Interests: constitutional history in the Truman-Eisenhower era.

American Indians; The Constitution and Westward Expansion.

CANADA

William H. Nelson
Department of History
University of Toronto
Toronto, Ontario, Canada M5S 1A1 Can
Phone: 416-978-6922
Field: American Colonial and Revolutionary History.

RD #1, Box 42
Fairfield, Vermont 05455
Phone: 802-827-3905
Field: American History. Special Interests: Foreign Policy; Economic History; Federalist Era: Alexander Hamilton; Foreign Policy of the Founding Fathers; Jefferson and Madison: The Great Collaboration. Ms. Bates has considerable experience as a project director, consultant and humanities scholar for the Vermont Council on the Humanities.

Murray Dry
Department of Political Science
Middlebury College
Middlebury, Vermont 05753
Phone: 802-388-3711, ext. 5305
Field: American Constitutional law, American political thought; political philosophy. Special Interests: Constitutional Convention; Federalist and Anti-Federalist thought; Tocqueville; the Supreme Court.

Kenneth M. Holland
Department of Political Science
University of Vermont
The Old Mill
Burlington, Vermont 05405
Phone: 802-656-3050
Field: Constitutional Law. Special Interests: Civil Rights and Civil Liberties; Affirmative Action; Freedom of Religion.

Morbert A. Kuntz
Department of History
St. Michael's College
Winooski, Vermont 05404
Phone: 802-655-2000, ext. 2249
Field: Colonial and Revolutionary America. Special Interests: Court History; Revolutionary Ideology; How the Courts and others have interpreted the Constitution.

John McCardell
Department of History
Middlebury College
Middlebury, Vermont 05753
Phone: 802-388-3711 (ext. 5320)
Field: United States, 1789-1865. Special Interests: Old South; Nationalism; Causes of Civil War.

Harold S. Schultz
Department of History
University of Vermont
P.O. Box 3145
Burlington, Vermont 05401
Phone: 802-658-2158
Field: biography, early national history. Special Interests: Constitutional Convention of 1787, life of James Madison, Thomas Jefferson, Alexander Hamilton.

Paul L. Silver
History Department
Johnson State College
Johnson, Vermont 05656
Phone: 802-635-2356, ext. 331

Field: American history, especially 20th century. Special Interests: Biographies, 1750-1820; Progressive movement and the New Deal.

Mark A. Stoler
Department of History
University of Vermont
Wheeler House
422 Main Street
Burlington, Vermont 05405
Phone: 802-656-3180
Field: United States diplomatic and military history. Special Interests: diplomatic/military issues during the 1780's, 1790's and early 1800's; role of diplomatic/military problems in formation of Constitution; constitutional theory and ideology.

Marshall True
History Department
University of Vermont
213 Wheeler House
Burlington, Vermont 05405
Phone: 802-656-3180
Field: Social and Cultural History. Special Interests: Independent Vermont; Community building and local authority in the early national period.

VIRGINIA

Henry J. Abraham
Department of Government and Foreign Affairs
University of Virginia
232 Cabell Hall
Charlottesville, Virginia 22903
Phone: 804-924-3358/3958
Field: Constitutional Law. Special Interests: Constitutional Interpretation; the Judicial Process; The Supreme Court; Civil Liberties.

Joseph E. Goldberg
Department of Political Science
Hampden-Sydney College
Hampden-Sydney, Virginia 23943
Phone: 804-223-4381
Field: Political Theory, American Government. Special Interests: Military Relations Within A Democracy; The American Founding; Constitutional Amendment Process.

William Harbaugh
Department of History
University of Virginia
Charlottesville, Virginia 22903
Phone: 804-293-2432
Field: Twentieth Century, Public Policy History. Special Interests: Politics, Economics, Law, Constitutional Relations of Policy issues; the Constitution and Theodore Roosevelt; the Constitution and John W. Davis.

A. E. Dick Howard
School of Law
University of Virginia
Charlottesville, Virginia 22901
Phone: 804-924-3097

Field: Constitutional law and history. Special Interests: Supreme Court, Jurisprudence, State Constitutions.

David E. Marion
Department of Political Science
Hampden-Sydney College
P.O. Box 94
Hampden-Sydney, Virginia 23943
Phone: 804-223-4381, ext. 240
Field: Constitutional Law; Public Administration; American Political Thought. Special Interests: Hamilton and the Administrative State; Constitution and Public Administration in the 1980's; Woodrow Wilson and the Administrative State.

Charles W. McCurdy
Department of History and School of Law
University of Virginia
Randall Hall
Charlottesville, Virginia 22903
Phone: 804-924-6421
Field: Law and American Economy.

Thomas R. Morris
Department of Political Science
University of Richmond
Richmond, Virginia 23173
Phone: 804-285-6279 or 6491
Field: Constitutional law. Special Interests: State courts and State Constitutions.

Robert C. Palmer
Institute of Bill of Rights Law
Marshall-Wythe School of Law
The College of William and Mary
Williamsburg, Virginia 23185
Phone: 804-229-4120
Field: Constitutional and Legal History. Special Interests: Early English legal history; Historical Background and History of the Bill of Rights.

Jeffrey J. Poelvoorde
Department of Government
College of William and Mary
Williamsburg, Virginia 23185
Phone: 804-253-4432
Field: Constitutional law, national institutions. Special Interests: Civil liberties; executive power and discretion; federalism (theory and constitutional aspects); equality and liberty in the Constitution; Bill of Rights; feminism; meaning of economic liberties under the Constitution; meaning and extent of judicial power/judicial review; executive privilege.

Gary J. Schmitt
Minority Staff Director, United States Senate Committee on Intelligence 3729 S. 13th Street
Arlington, Virginia 22204
Phone: 202-224-1700
Field: The Constitution and its Relevance to United States Foreign Policy. Special Interests: Executive Privilege, executive agreements, the treaty process; intelligence and judicial views of these matters.

Garrett Sheldon
Clinch Valley College of the University of Virginia
Wise, Virginia 24293
Phone: 703-328-5192
Field: American Political Theory.
Special Interests: Early American Political Theory; The Political Theory of Thomas Jefferson.

William Swindler
John Marshall Professor of Law Emeritus, Marshall-Wythe School of Law College of William and Mary
Williamsburg, Virginia 23185
Phone: 804-253-4305
Field: Anglo-American Constitutional History.

James W. Zirkle
School of Law and Institute on Bill of Rights Law, College of William and Mary
Williamsburg, Virginia 23185
Phone: 804-253-4120
Field: constitutional law. Special Interests: civil liberties, national security law.

WASHINGTON

Arthur Bestor
Emeritus Professor of History
University of Washington
Department of History, DP-20
Seattle, Washington 98195
Phone: 206-543-6924 (w); 206-524-4202 (h)
Field: Constitutional History.
Special Interests: Making of the Constitution, with special reference to the Framers' intentions regarding the conduct of foreign affairs.

Frank Conklin
Gonzaga Law School
Box 3528
Spokane, Washington 99220-3528
Phone: 509-328-4220
Field: Constitutional History.
Special Interests: The institutional role of the United States Supreme Court; the shifting balance between Congress/the President/the Court.

Richard R. Johnson
Department of History
University of Washington
DP-20
Seattle, Washington 98195
Phone: 206-543-5747
Field: Colonial America, the American Revolution. Special Interests: Anglo-American constitutional development.

Arval A. Morris
University of Washington School of Law
JB-20
1100 Campus Parkway
Seattle, Washington 98105
Phone: 206-543-4939
Field: Constitutional Law.

Robert F. Utter Justice, Washington Supreme Court
Temple of Justice
Olympia, Washington 98504
Phone: 206-753-5070
Field: Legal and constitutional issues. Special Interests: 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, and 14th Amendment issues; state constitutional issues.

WEST VIRGINIA

Ronald J. Oakerson
Department of Political Science
Marshall University
Huntington, West Virginia 25701
Phone: 304-696-6636
Field: political theory and policy analysis. Special Interests: political theory used by the framers of the Constitution.

Edward M. Steel, Jr.
History Department
West Virginia University
Morgantown, West Virginia 26506
Phone: 304-293-2421
Field: American history before 1865. Special Interests: Constitutional period as context for framing the Constitution; History of American Labor; Slavery; Free Blacks.

WISCONSIN

Shirley S. Abrahamson
Justice, Wisconsin Supreme Court
P.O. Box 1688
Madison, Wisconsin 53701
Phone: 608-266-1885
Field: State and Federal Constitutional Law and History.
Special Interests: Bill of Rights; Federalism.

Malcolm Feeley
Department of Political Science
University of Wisconsin
Madison, Wisconsin 53706
Phone: 608-263-2414
Field: Political Science, law.
Special Interests: civil rights.

Joel Grossman
Department of Political Science
University of Wisconsin
Madison, Wisconsin 53706
Phone: 608-263-2414
Field: American constitutional law.

Carol E. Jenson
Department of History
University of Wisconsin-La Crosse
La Crosse, Wisconsin 54601
Phone: 785-8356; 785-8350
Field: American Constitutional History. Special Interests: First

Amendment; Women and the Law. Note: During the summer months (June through August), Jenson lives in Minneapolis: 4948 Lyndale Avenue, South, Minneapolis, MN 55409, phone: 612-823-1423.

John P. Kaminski
Documentary History of the Ratification of the Constitution; Director, Center for the Study of the American Constitution, Department of History, University of Wisconsin
455 N. Park Street
Madison, Wisconsin 53706
Phone: 608-263-1865/1818
Field: Drafting and Ratification of the Constitution. Special Interests: Newspapers' role; Violence; Tactics used in ratification process.

Stanley I. Kutler
E. Gordon Fox Professor of American Institutions
University of Wisconsin
Madison, Wisconsin 53706
Phone: 608-263-1784
Field: American Legal and Constitutional History. Special Interests: Civil rights and civil liberties; governmental power and limitations.

James M. Rhodes
Department of Political Science
Marquette University
Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53233
Phone: 414-224-6849
Field: Political Theory. Special Interests: The Founders.

Gaspare J. Saladino
Documentary History of the Ratification of Constitution and Department of History
University of Wisconsin
455 N. Park Street
Madison, Wisconsin 53703
Phone: 608-263-1865
Field: 18th Century America. Special Interests: Ratification of the Constitution.

Christopher Wolfe
Department of Political Science
Marquette University
Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53233
Phone: 414-224-6841
Field: Constitutional Law; American Political Thought; The Founding. Special Interests: religion and politics; the judiciary; the "original intention" of the founders.

WYOMING

Peter Iverson
Department of History
University of Wyoming
Box 3198
Laramie, Wyoming 82071
Phone: 307-766-6259; 307-766-5101
Field: American Indian history; history of the American West. Special Interests: The Constitution and

American Indians; The Constitution and Westward Expansion.

CANADA

William H. Nelson
Department of History
University of Toronto
Toronto, Ontario, Canada M5S 1A1 Can
Phone: 416-978-6922
Field: American Colonial and Revolutionary History.

BIBLIOGRAPHY AND RESOURCES

This section provides a comprehensive, annotated bibliography of works on the Constitution, selected and described by a panel of scholars. The list represents works identified as sound in scholarship, of interest to a broad range of community readers, and significant in what they contribute to our understanding of the Constitution and its application to American society. No doubt there are titles which this group of scholars did not include, which readers of this Guide feel should have been, or titles of works that are only now being published. We plan to publish a supplement to the Guide next year and would welcome any suggestions of works that readers feel should be considered. As with this list, we will circulate nominated titles to a number of scholars for consideration in terms of the three criteria indicated above.

The scholars who produced the list in this section were:

George Dennison
Colorado State University

James O'Fallon
University of Oregon

Stanley Katz
Princeton University

Mary K. Tachau
University of Louisville

Linda Kerber
University of Iowa

Jamil Zainaldin
American Historical Association

Paul Murphy
University of Minnesota

This section also contains the addresses of a number of organizations that have an interest in programs related to the Bicentennial of the Constitution. The list is suggestive, not inclusive. These organizations have not necessarily set forth a specific programming interest regarding programs on the Constitution. Included are the addresses of the State Humanities Councils which can provide project planning information and grant funds for programs selected through a competitive proposal process.

BIBLIOGRAPHY AND RESOURCES

Table of Contents

Bibliography	Page 1
Bibliography According to Type of Publication	Page 17
Other Resources
State Humanities Councils	Page 21
Major Private and State Historical Societies and Museums	Page 25
League of Women Voters State Chapters	Page 31
Other Organizations	Page 36

BIBLIOGRAPHY

Adams, Willi Paul. (Translated by Rita and Robert Kimber) The First American Constitutions: Republican Ideology and the Making of State Constitutions in the Revolutionary Era. Chapel Hill: University of North Carolina Press, 1980. An important, comparative study of the subject. The First American Constitutions considers the European background and the early American context for the development of constitutional practice and shows that state constitutions are as fascinating a subject as the federal constitution.

Association of American Law Schools, ed. Selected Essays on Constitutional Law. 5 vols. Chicago: The Foundation Press, 1938. Comprises a collection of notable essays in constitutional law and history gathered from the nation's legal periodicals.

Bailyn, Bernard. The Ideological Origins of the American Revolution. Cambridge: Belknap Press of Harvard University Press, 1967. Pulitzer Prize winning book-length introduction to Bailyn's Pamphlets of the American Revolution (1965); can be read on its own; source for countless subsequent authors. A marvelous background book for projects on the Constitution.

Bardolph, Richard, ed. The Civil Rights Record: Black Americans and the Law 1849-1970. New York: Crowell, 1970. A compilation of important source documents illustrating the civil rights movement.

Baxter, Maurice G. The Steamboat Monopoly: Gibbons v. Ogden, 1824. New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1972. A very readable, valuable case study of the first Supreme Court decision under the Commerce clause of the Constitution. Told through the early development of steamboating, the case has continuing relevance to present day issues.

Beard, Charles A. An Economic Interpretation of the Constitution of the United States. New York: Free Press, 1965 (First published in 1913). This classic, Progressive historical study uses analysis of the economic interests of the framers to show that the Constitution was intended to protect the property interests of an elite against popular agrarian interests. A hallmark of constitutional scholarship, this work should be read in conjunction with later studies challenging the Beardian thesis, such as F. McDonald's We the People.

Becker, Carl L. The Declaration of Independence: A Study in the History of Political Ideas. New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1956 (First published in 1922). Fascinating explication of the text of the Declaration for projects setting a broad introductory context for a study of the framing of the Constitution. Emphasizes the influence of John Locke on the shaping of ideas.

Belz, Herman. "The Constitution in the Gilded Age: The Beginnings of Constitutional Realism in American Scholarship," American Journal of Legal History 13 (1969); "The Realist Critique of Constitutionalism in the Era of Reform," American Journal of Legal History, 15 (1971); "Changing Conceptions of Constitutionalism in the Era of World War II and the Cold War," Journal of American History, 59 (1972); "New Left Reverberations in the Academy: The Antipluralist Critique of Constitutionalism," Review of Politics, 30 (1974). A series of articles that explore the political role of the American Constitution, changing perceptions of the proper nature of that role, and views of the Constitution as a legitimate political instrument.

Berry, Mary F. Black Resistance/White Law: A History of Constitutional Racism in America. New York: Appleton-Century-Crofts, 1971. Written by an attorney, this is a study of the Constitution as a legal tool for enforcing the development of racism in American society, and of constitutional development in response to the Civil Rights movement.

Bestor, Arthur E. "State Sovereignty and Slavery." Journal of the Illinois State Historical Society, 54 (1961). A classic study, from a northern perspective, of the Constitution's relation to states' rights/slavery debates and the coming of the Civil War.

Bestor, Arthur E. "The Civil War as a Constitutional Crisis." American Historical Review, 69 (1964). A companion article, of equal importance, which views the Civil War in its constitutional dimensions, with special emphasis on the constitutional crises occurring in the nation between 1845 and 1877 and the use by secessionists of the compact theory of government.

Beth, Loren P. The American Constitution, 1877-1917. New York: Harper and Row, 1971. A good synthesis and the best one-volume overview of the period, told from a somewhat ahistorical perspective, by a political scientist who respects history. Contains an extensive bibliography. A volume in the New American Nation series.

Bickel, Alexander M. The Least Dangerous Branch: The Supreme Court at the Bar of Politics. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill Co. Inc., 1962. A highly important, brief account of the role of the Supreme Court vis-a-vis the other two branches of government. A readable, provocative look at the Court's strengths and weaknesses by one of the foremost constitutional law scholars.

Bickel, Alexander M. The Supreme Court and the Idea of Progress. New Haven: Yale University Press, 1978 (First published in 1970). A scholarly, conservative review of the Warren Court's "activist" character, offering insightful critiques of the role of the Supreme Court and taking exception especially with the Court's record in the areas of reapportionment and desegregation. Based on lectures delivered at the Harvard Law School in 1969.

Black, Charles L. Jr. Structure and Relationship in Constitutional Law. Baton Rouge: Louisiana State University Press, 1969. A lucid, scholarly study of constitutional law theory.

Borden, Morton, ed. The Antifederalist Papers. East Lansing: Michigan State University Press, 1967 (First published in 1965). A valuable collection of letters, essays, pamphlets and speeches by Anti-Federalists, arranged so as to have one rebuttal "paper" for each of the Federalist Papers.

Botein, Stephen. Early American Law and Society. New York: Random House, 1980. A gathering of important source materials related to legal and social development in the colonial period, with a long introductory essay on the nature of colonial law.

Bowen, Catherine Drinker. Miracle at Philadelphia: The Story of the Constitutional Convention, May to September 1787. Boston: Little, Brown & Co., 1966. A highly regarded, dramatic account of the day-to-day process of framing the Constitution. Respected by scholars, Miracle at Philadelphia is the most readable account of the Philadelphia Convention. Currently out of print; but may be republished.

Brant, Irving. The Bill of Rights; Its Origin and Meaning. New York: New American Library, 1967 (paperback); Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1965 (hardback). A history of the Bill of Rights, tracing them from their English origins through adoption, into the 1960's. The book incorporates much biographical information drawn from Brant's study of the life of James Madison, as well as social and intellectual perspectives drawn from the founding period.

Brest, P. and S. Levinson. Processes of Constitutional Decision-making. 2nd edition. Boston: Little, Brown, 1983. An innovative study of constitutional theory, drawing on historical and philosophical materials as well as issues raised in particular case studies.

Bringhurst, Bruce. Antitrust and the Oil Monopoly: The Standard Oil Cases, 1890-1911. Contributions in Legal Studies, No. 8. Westport, Connecticut: Greenwood Press, 1979. A study of the early history of the Anti-trust movement and its constitutional reception by the Supreme Court.

Burns, James MacGregor. The Vineyard of Liberty: The American Experiment. New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1982. A beautifully narrated, general political history of the period from Shay's Rebellion through the outbreak of the Civil War, emphasizing the way a political system was shaped. It offers unusually thoughtful attention to the experience of women, minorities and "second rank" politicians who worked at the state and local level.

Carter, Dan T. Scottsboro: A Tragedy of the American South. Baton Rouge: Louisiana State University Press, 1979 (First published in 1969). An excellent case study of the Scottsboro cases of the 1930's and the problem of racism and justice, especially in the context of southern politics, trial courts and juries. Not directly about the Constitution, the book is important for understanding the ideas of fair trial and due process in the context of constitutional law.

Commager, A., ed. (Original editor: Henry Steele Commager) Documents of American History. Englewood Cliffs: Prentice-Hall, 1974 (9th edition; first published in 1934). An extensive and basic source book on constitutional history, emphasizing legal documents and court decisions.

Conkin, Paul K. Self-Evident Truths: Being a Discourse on the Origins and Development of the First Principles of American Government--Popular Sovereignty, Natural Rights, and Balance and Separation of Powers. Bloomington: Indiana University Press, 1974. A thoughtful exercise in moral and political philosophy, examining 18th century political ideals underlying the creation of the American government.

Cooke, Jacob E., ed. The Federalist. Middletown: Wesleyan University Press, 1982 (First published in 1961). A scholarly and readable edition of the essays of Madison, Hamilton and Jay in support of the Constitution; annotated and cross-referenced.

Cortner, Richard C. The Jones and Laughlin Case. New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1970. This is a valuable study of the key case during the Roosevelt administration's "court packing" effort, in which the Supreme Court moved to sanction big government and the move toward a more regulatory state.

Corwin, Edward S. (Revised by Harold W. Chase and Craig R. Ducat) The Constitution and What It Means Today. Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1979 (14th rev. ed.; first published in 1920). A valuable commentary on the changing meaning of the Constitution as reflected in Supreme Court interpretations.

Dargo, George. Law in the New Republic: Private Law and the Public Estate. New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1983. A legal history, synthesizing state lawmaking and constitutional principles, with an emphasis on source documents and the goal of illuminating the process of "privatizing" public law during the constitutional period.

Dennison, George M. The Dorr War: Republicanism on Trial, 1831-1861. Lexington: University Press of Kentucky, 1976. A discussion of the background to, outcome of, and historical significance of the 1849 case of Luther v. Borden.

Dewey, Donald O. Marshall v. Jefferson: The Political Background of Marbury v. Madison. New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1970. This is the basic study of the political and constitutional context for the famous John Marshall decision affirming the principle of "judicial review." It shows the role political rivalries played in the formulation of this far reaching judicial doctrine.

Ehrlich, Walter. They Have No Rights: Dred Scott's Struggle for Freedom. Westport, Connecticut: Greenwood Press, 1979. A modern assessment of the litigation involved in the Dred Scott case. Based on recently discovered evidence; complements Don Fehrenbacher's book on the same case.

Ellis, Richard E. The Jeffersonian Crisis: Courts and Politics in the Young Republic. New York: Norton, 1974. This is a basic study of the role of the Judiciary in American society during the Jeffersonian era.

Ely, John Hart. Democracy and Distrust: A Theory of Judicial Review. Cambridge: Harvard University Press, 1980. A very important recent attempt to reconcile the practice of judicial review with democratic theory.

Farrand, Max. The Framing of the Constitution of the United States. New Haven: Yale University Press, 1976. The story of the Constitutional Convention, told by the editor of the records.

Farrand, Max, ed. The Records of the Federal Convention of 1787. 4 volumes. New Haven: Yale University Press, 1967 (rev. ed; first published in 1911-1937). The classic, meticulously edited compilation of the Journal of the Federal Convention, being James Madison's notes of the proceedings of the convention, together with those of Robert Yates, Rufus King, William Paterson and Alexander Hamilton. The "bible" of what happened at the convention.

Fehrenbacher, Don E. The Dred Scott Case in Historical Perspective. New York: Oxford University Press, 1981 (Rev. ed., first published in 1978 as The Dred Scott Case; its Significance in American Law and Politics). A Pulitzer-prize winning study of the Supreme Court's most controversial decision, illuminating the Dred Scott Case of 1857, the issue of constitutionality of slavery and the relationship of slavery to the Civil War.

Fellman, David. "Constitutionalism." Dictionary of the History of Ideas: Studies of Selected Pivotal Ideas. vol. 1. Edited by Philip P. Weiner. New York: Charles Scribner & Sons, 1973. A good, brief, general introduction, with a helpful bibliography.

Friedman, Lawrence, and Harry Scheiber. American Law and the Constitutional Order: Historical Perspectives. Boston: Harvard University Press, 1978. An anthology of recent articles, organized historically and stressing the interrelationship between legal and constitutional development from colonial times to the present.

Friedman, Leon and Fred L. Israel, eds. The Justices of the United States Supreme Court: Their Lives and Major Opinions. 5 volumes. New York: Chelsea House Publishers, 1980 (first four volumes first published in 1969). The classic biographical dictionary covering all the justices who have served on the Supreme Court. An excellent overview of the course of American jurisprudence, the book also contains references to the best books and articles on each justice.

Friendly, Fred W. Minnesota Rag: The Dramatic Story of the Landmark Supreme Court Case That Gave New Meaning to Freedom of the Press. New York: Random House, Inc., 1982. An informative, popular study of the 1931 case of Near v. Minnesota, a landmark First Amendment case.

Funston, Richard Y. Constitutional Counterrevolution: The Warren Court and the Burger Court--Judicial Policy Making in Modern America. Cambridge, Mass.: Schenkman Press, 1977. A detailed study of changes in the orientation and constitutional interpretation of the Supreme Court under Warren Burger. It is mainly concerned with ways the Burger court has modified the more liberal rulings of the Warren court.

Garraty, John A., ed. Quarrels That Have Shaped the Constitution. New York: Harper & Row, 1964. A valuable collection of essays on important constitutional cases and Supreme Court decisions; originally published in American Heritage magazine.

Goldwin, Robert A., and William A. Schambra, eds. How Democratic is the Constitution? Washington: American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research, 1980. This collection of essays is concerned with answering the question posed by its title. In addition to a preface by its editors, the book includes the following essays: "Democracy and the Constitution," by Gordon S. Wood; "Decent, Even Though Democratic," by Ann Stuart Diamond; "The Constitution as an Elitist Document," by Michael Parenti; "Does the Constitution 'Secure These Rights'?" by Walter Berns; "Democracy and the Citizen: Community, Dignity, and the Crisis of Contemporary Politics in America," by Wilson Carey McWilliams; "Deliberative Democracy: The Majority Principle in Republican Government," by Joseph M. Bessette; and "Conservatives, the Constitution, and the 'Spirit of Accommodation'" by Alfred F. Young.

Gunther, Gerald. Cases and Materials on Constitutional Law. 10th ed. University Casebook Series. Mineola: Foundation Press, 1980. An important and reliable constitutional law casebook, organized on legal principles.

Gunther, Gerald, ed. John Marshall's Defense of McCullough v. Maryland. Stanford: Stanford University Press, 1969. Contains the Chief Justice's pseudonymous newspaper defense of his opinion in the great case sustaining the constitutionality of the Second Bank of the United States, with commentary by one of our most distinguished contemporary scholars.

Henkin, Louis. Foreign Affairs and the Constitution. New York: W.W. Norton, 1975 (First published in 1972). A highly informative explication of the conduct of foreign affairs under the constitution.

Hurst, James Willard. Law and Conditions of Freedom in the Nineteenth Century United States. Madison: University of Wisconsin Press, 1956. A suggestive work, relating to national life and public values and explaining the role of law in the growth of the national economy.

Hyman, Harold, and William Wiecek. Equal Justice Under Law: Constitutional Development, 1835-1875. New York: Harper & Row, 1982. A detailed study of constitutional development in the 19th century, especially the court's role in transforming the South's perspective on slavery into constitutional law. The book offers extensive analysis of the 13th, 14th and 15th amendments, their relationship to each other and the narrow interpretation of them by the Supreme Court in the late 19th century.

Jillson, C. "Constitution-Making: Alignment and Realignment in the Federal Convention of 1787." American Political Science Review. 75 (1981). A recent, well-researched essay on the political alignments and realignments during the Constitutional Convention and their influence on the shape of the final constitutional document.

Katz, Stanley. "The Origins of American Constitutional Thought." Perspectives in American History 3 (1969): 474-490. A review article on a number of recent works dealing with the pre-Constitution Period, setting forth a good sample of current thinking on the area.

Kauper, Paul, ed. Constitutional Law: Cases and Materials. 3rd ed. Boston: Little, Brown, 1966. An excellent general casebook organized on legal principles.

Kelly, Alfred H., Winnifred A. Harbison, and Herman Belz. The American Constitution: Its Origins and Development. New York: W.W. Norton & Co., 1983 (6th edition; first published in 1948). The standard text in American constitutional history, newly revised and extensively rewritten. An account of the development of the American Constitution and of American constitutionalism from its origins in England, Europe, and the colonies to our time; contains extensive annotated lists of selected readings for each chapter.

Kenyon, Cecilia, ed. The Anti-Federalists. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1966 (out of print). A fine selection of anti-Federalist pamphlets, prefaced by an extended version of Kenyon's classic essay, "Men of Little Faith," emphasizing the reasons anti-Federalists distrusted the Constitution.

Kerber, Linda K. Women of the Republic: Intellect and Ideology in Revolutionary America Institute of Early American History and Culture Series. Chapel Hill: University of North Carolina Press, 1980. An excellent analysis of the position of women in the constitutional period, emphasizing the politicization of women in the Revolutionary and post-Revolutionary eras, and showing how a synthesis of emerging political values and traditional domestic duties was achieved to define an ambiguous political role for women in the new republic.

Kluger, Richard. Simple Justice: The History of Brown v. Board of Education and Black America's Struggle for Equality. New York: Vintage, 1977. The best account of the story behind the battle against segregated schools that culminated in Brown v. Board of Education. The background covered goes back to the Reconstruction period after the Civil War and brings the story into the 1960's.

Koch, Adrienne. Jefferson and Madison, The Great Collaboration. New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1950. A biographical history of the friendship of these two men and the issues they jointly dealt with, including concepts of rights, the Constitution, republicanism, and the Alien and Sedition Acts.

Konefsky, Samuel J. The Legacy of Holmes and Brandeis: A Study in the Influence of Ideas. New York: Macmillan, 1956. A study of the ideas of two of this century's most influential justices.

Kurland, Philip B. Watergate and the Constitution. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1978. A critical and informed analysis of the constitutional dimensions of Watergate: technical and legal in approach, but comprehensive; based on the William R. Kenan, Jr. Inaugural Lectures.

Kutler, Stanley I. Privilege and Creative Destruction: The Charles River Bridge Case. New York: W.W. Norton, Inc., 1978 (First published in 1971). A well-researched and readable account of the 1837 Charles River Bridge case, focusing on the political and social forces at work in early 19th century American economic development and using the case to study state and federal supreme courts and the interrelation of politics and economics.

Kutler, Stanley I., ed. The Supreme Court and the Constitution: Readings in American Constitutional History. 2nd ed. New York: W.W. Norton, 1977. A fine casebook organized on historical principles.

Levy, Leonard W. Legacy of Suppression: Freedom of Speech and Press in Early American History. Cambridge, Mass.: Belknap Press of Harvard University Press, 1960. The basic account of the early development of American concepts of free speech and the press and the attitudes which led up to the battle over the Alien and Sedition Acts.

Lewis, Anthony. Gideon's Trumpet. New York: Random House, Inc., 1964. A highly popular and moving account of the Supreme Court's 1962 landmark decision extending the right of counsel to the poor as a basic aspect of due process of law.

Magrath, C. Peter. Yazoo: Law and Politics in the New Republic--The Case of Fletcher v. Peck. Providence: Brown University Press, 1966. An extensive and well-written account of the first major contract law decision of the Marshall Court, focusing on a notorious land grab and setting forth the case's political and economic implications for the building of a national economy.

Maier, Pauline. From Resistance to Revolution: Colonial Radicals and the Development of American Opposition to Britain, 1765-1776. New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1972. A highly readable and thorough study of the essentially conservative character of the American Revolution, the role played by protest in the American Revolution, and the impact of this aspect of the Revolutionary period on the formation of the new government.

Malbin, Michael J. Religion and Politics: The Intentions of the Authors of the First Amendment. Washington, D.C.: American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research, 1978. The author has demonstrated that the First Amendment was not a fruit of the "strict separationist" thought of Jefferson and Madison.

Marcus, Maeva. Truman and the Steel Seizure Case: The Limits of Presidential Power. New York: Columbia University Press, 1977. A scholarly and very readable, in-depth treatment of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube case in which President Truman seized the steel mill and was strongly sanctioned by the Supreme Court for exceeding executive authority. It is a day-to-day account of law, politics, and history as they came together in the case.

Martin, Charles H. The Angelo Herndon Case and Southern Justice. Baton Rouge: Louisiana State University Press, 1976. A careful study of civil rights during the Depression and the role played by this case in broadening the First Amendment and ultimately in achieving a wider view of the permissible limits of free expression.

Mason, Alpheus T. The Supreme Court from Taft to Burger. Baton Rouge: Louisiana State University, 1979 (3rd ed.; first published in 1958 as The Supreme Court from Taft to Warren). A basic account, recently revised, of the role of Chief Justices in the interpretation of the Constitution from 1920 to the 1970's.

McCloskey, Robert G. The American Supreme Court. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1960. An excellent brief history covering the period from 1789 to the 1950's.

McDonald, Forrest. We The People: The Economic Origins of the Constitution. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, Midway Reprint Series, 1976 (First published in 1958). The most important refutation of Beard's economic interpretation of the Constitution. McDonald re-examines the various factions and geographic affiliations represented at the constitutional convention and concludes that the document is the product of a much more complex set of interests and purposes.

McIlwain, Charles H. Constitutionalism: Ancient and Modern. Ithaca: Cornell University Press, 1958 (First published in 1940). One of the leading studies of the concept of constitutionalism in terms of general political history. It is based on the Messenger Lectures on the Evolution of Civilisation, Cornell, 1938-39.

Miller, John C. The Federalist Era, 1789-1801. New York: Harper & Row, 1960. A well-written, general history of the constitutional period which concentrates on the Washington and Adams administrations.

Morgan, Edmund S. The Birth of the Republic: 1763-89. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1977. This is a brief, clearly written, authoritative history of the founding period, which emphasizes the development of constitutional government as the expression and continuation of early ideas of just government shared by Americans in the Revolutionary period.

Morgan, Richard E. The Supreme Court and Religion. New York: Free Press, 1972. A highly authoritative overview of the subject, focusing particularly on developments since the 1940's.

Murphy, Paul L. The Constitution in Crisis Times, 1918-1969. New York: Harper & Row, 1972. An historical overview of 20th century constitutional development which picks up from Hyman & Wiecek (Equal Justice Under Law: Constitutional Development, 1835-1875), and Loren P. Beth (The Development of the American Constitution, 1877-1917). Handles constitutional development within an historical framework. The bibliography is a solid compilation of the material available for working the recent period.

Murphy, Paul L. World War I and the Origin of Civil Liberties in the United States. New York: W.W. Norton, 1979. A study of the modern civil liberties movement, set against 19th and early 20th century neglect in this area.

Murphy, Paul L. "Time to Reclaim: The Current Challenge of American Constitutional History." American Historical Review 69 (1963). A presentation of a modern view of the Constitution as an aspect of political experience and political development with a differing focus and concern from that of Randall ("The Interrelation of Social and Constitutional History").

Newmyer, R. Kent. The Supreme Court under Marshall and Taney. New York: Crowell, 1968. A valuable recent synthesis, incorporating both a modern evaluation, and a good review of recent constitutional literature for this period.

Norton, Mary Beth. Liberty's Daughters, The Revolutionary Experience of American Women, 1750-1800. Boston: Little, Brown, 1980. A careful assessment of the impact of the Revolution upon women's lives, with useful sections of the changing legal status of women, and their political position.

Paul, Arnold M. Conservative Crisis and the Rule of Law: Attitudes of Bar and Bench 1887-1895. Published for the American Historical Association by Cornell University Press, Ithaca, 1960. The most significant study of the emergence of a conservative reaction against progressive reforms during the late 19th century which dominated Supreme Court thinking until 1937. An excellent analysis of the Court's activist role in coping with challenge of reform and of late 19th century intellectual history and its relation to law.

Peltason, Jack Walter and Edward Samuel Corwin. Understanding the Constitution. New York: Holt, Rinehart & Winston, 1967 (First published in 1949). A basic reference work by two outstanding authorities in the field which provides fundamental information about the Constitution: how to read it and care for it.

Pennock, James Roland, and John W. Chapman, eds. Constitutionalism: NOMOS XX. New York: New York University Press, 1979. A collection of essays by leading scholars, offering a general evaluation of constitutionalism.

Pfeffer, Leo. Church, State and Freedom. Boston: Beacon Press, Inc., 1967 (rev. ed.; first published in 1953). A classic, liberal examination of early cases involving freedom of and freedom from religion.

Pole, J.R. The Pursuit of Equality in American History. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1978. A thorough, yet readable study of the concept of "equality" in terms of four categories: equality of rights, equality of opportunity, equality of results and equality of esteem. Pole, an English scholar with an exceptional knowledge of American history and life, traces these categories in terms of American legal and political thought and experience; based on his participation in the Jefferson Memorial Lecture Series at the University of California, Berkeley.

Pritchett, C. Herman and Alan F. Westin, eds. The Third Branch of Government: 8 Cases in Constitutional Politics. New York: Harcourt, Brace & World, 1963. A collection of interesting case histories by leading political scientists, treating modern constitutional controversies. The essays are "The Supreme Court Since 1937" by Alan F. Westin and C. Herman Pritchett; "Freedom of Conscience: The Flag-Salute Case," by David R. Manwaring; "Industrial Relations: The Portal to Portal Pay Case" by Richard E. Morgan; "Cruel and Unusual Punishment: The Electric-Chair Case" by Barrett Prettyman, Jr.; "Separation of Church and State: The Released Time Case" by Frank J. Sorauf; "Freedom of Association: The N.A.A.C.P. in Alabama" by George R. Osborne; "Government Loyalty-Security Programs: Subversion and the Cold War" by Leonard G. Miller; "Problems of Federalism: The Offshore Oil Case" by Lucius J. Barker; and "Religion and Commerce: The Sunday Closing Cases," by Sister Candida Lund.

Rakove, Jack N. The Beginnings of National Politics: An Interpretive History of the Continental Congress. New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1979. A study of the period under the Articles of Confederation, detailing political activity of the time and tracing the ideas of political reform that led to the Constitutional Convention.

Randall, J.G. "The Interrelation of Social and Constitutional History." American Historical Review 35 (1929). The modern view of the Constitution as an aspect of political experience and political development was set forth here.

Rossiter, Clinton. 1787: The Grand Convention. New York: Macmillan Publishing Co. Inc., 1966. A readable, balanced interpretation of the framing process, by a scholar very sympathetic to Hamilton and other federalists. The book contains much valuable biographical information and offers a counter-view to that of Charles Beard in An Economic Interpretation of the Constitution.

Scheiber, Harry N. "American Constitutional History and the New Legal History: Complementary Themes in Two Modes." Journal of American History 68 (1981). Updates the work of Randall ("The Interrelation of Social and Constitutional History").

Scheiber, Harry N. "Federalism and the American Economic Order, 1789-1910." Law and Society Review Fall (1975). A valuable study of the Federal role, in terms of constitutional development, in promoting and regulating the American economy. The book stresses the positive role of the states in shaping the 19th century economy.

Schubert, Glendon. Constitutional Polity. Boston: Boston University Press, 1970. An interesting, "realist" critique of policy making by the Supreme Court in decisions during the period from Chief Justice Taft to Chief Justice Warren; based on the Gaspar G. Bacon Lectures on the Constitution of the United States, 1968, Boston University.

Smith, James M., and Murphy, Paul, eds. Liberty and Justice: A Historical Record of American Constitutional Development. New York: Knopf, 1968. Presents the basic documents virtually as a constitutional history; organized on historical principles.

Solberg, Winton, ed. The Federal Convention and the Formation of the Union of the American States. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1958. A generous selection of primary source materials including a good selection of Madison's Notes of Debates. Also contains an ample selection of material from the ratifying conventions.

Stearns, Jean. The Federalist Without Tears. Washington D.C.: University Press of America, 1977. A sampler of Federalist writings in present day English style, with selected examples of original texts for comparison.

Stites, Francis N. Private Interest and Public Gain: The Dartmouth College Case, 1819. Amherst: University of Massachusetts, 1972. Discusses the case so vital to 19th century economic development, with ample justice to the socio-economic aspects of the situation.

Storing, Herbert J., and Murray Dry. What the Anti-Federalists Were For. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1981. A separate paperback edition of the introduction to Storing's seven-volume collection, The Complete Anti-Federalist which appears in volume 1 of that set. While of brief compass and designed to guide the reader through the maze of Anti-Federalist pamphlets published in the full edition, this book trenchantly analyzes the debate over ratification of the United States Constitution during 1787 and 1788.

Storing, Herbert J., ed. The Complete Anti-Federalist. 7 volumes. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1981. A massive collection of Anti-Federalist writings, analyzed in terms of the continuing dialogue over the political life of the community.

Stourzh, Gerald. Alexander Hamilton and the Idea of Republican Government. Stanford: Stanford University Press, 1970. A study of the political thought of one of the most important of the Founders.

Swindler, William F. Court and Constitution in the Twentieth Century. Volume 1: The Old Legality, 1889-1932; Volume 2: The New Legality, 1932-1968. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1969. An excellent overview of the period containing a number of helpful appendices.

Taper, Bernard. Gomillion v. Lightfoot: The Tuskegee Gerrymander Case. New York: McGraw-Hill Co., 1962. A highly readable analysis of the key voting rights case in 1960 which led to major breakthroughs in extending the franchise to southern blacks. The book, which first appeared in the New Yorker magazine, is a look at the Court's first involvement with political questions related to reapportionment.

Thompson, Kirk. "Constitutionalism and Political Action." Journal of Politics 31 (1969). An historical and philosophical analysis of the role of ideology in constitutionalism.

Tocqueville, Alexis de. Edited by J.P. Mayer and A.P. Kerr; translated by George Lawrence Democracy in America. Garden City: Anchor Doubleday, 1969 (First Published in 1835). The classic account by a perceptive French observer of early 19th century American society and culture with heavy emphasis on the conflict between liberty and equality in the American politico-constitutional system.

Vile, Maurice J. C. Constitutionalism and the Separation of Powers. Oxford and New York: Clarendon Press, 1967. A highly informative, comparative study of the development of the American concept and practice of the separation of powers, set against the "mixed government" background of the English system.

Washburn, Wilcomb E. Red Man's Land/White Man's Law: A Study of the Past and Present Status of the American Indian. New York: Charles Scribner's & Sons, 1971. A basic, sometimes polemical, study of the relationship of American Indians and the law. One of the best overviews on the subject, the book documents the legal duplicity to which Indians have been subjected.

Wheeler, Harvey. "Constitutionalism." Handbook of Political Science. vol. 5. Governmental Institutions and Processes. Reading: Addison-Wesley Publishing Co., 1975. An excellent, if challenging, new discussion of a difficult concept.

White, G. Edward. The American Judicial Tradition: Profiles of Leading American Judges. New York: Oxford University Press, 1976. A biographical study of American constitutional and legal development, modeled on Richard Hofstadter's The American Political Tradition. The book reviews the experience of state court justices as well as leading members of the United States Supreme Court.

Wills, Garry. Explaining America: The Federalist. Garden City: Doubleday, 1981. A controversial reinterpretation of the writings that are often treated as the starting point of constitutional interpretation.

Wilstach, Paul, ed. Correspondence of John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, 1812-1826. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1925. An early edition of a famous correspondence between these two leaders during the constitutional period. Not directly concerned with constitutional matters, the collection, nonetheless, provides insight into the roots of the American political and governmental tradition.

Wood, Gordon S. The Creation of the American Republic, 1776-1787. New York: W.W. Norton, 1972 (First published in 1969). An important study of the origins of republican ideology as it emerged from the Revolution and the efforts in state constitution-making. The book emphasizes the originality and conservatism of the Federalists in writing the constitution.

Wood, Gordon S., comp. The Confederation and the Constitution: The Critical Issues. Lanham: University Press of America, 1979 (First published in 1973). An excellent short anthology of selected articles and chapters on the period 1783-1787. Woods' introductions are instructive.

Wright, Benjamin F. The Growth of American Constitutional Law. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1967 (First published in 1942). A valuable synthesis of judicial-constitutional development from 1787 to the 1940's.

Zainaldin, Jamil S. Law in Antebellum Society: Legal Change and Economic Expansion. New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1983. An informative legal history, illuminating social, economic and intellectual influences in the development of American law from 1820 to 1860. The book is primarily a compilation of bibliography and pertinent documents.

BIBLIOGRAPHY ACCORDING TO TYPE OF PUBLICATION

(all listings are fully noted in the alphabetical section above)

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL AND HISTORIOGRAPHICAL WORKS

- "American Constitutional History and the New Legal History: Complementary Themes in Two Modes," Harry N. Scheiber.
- "Constitutionalism and Political Action," Kirk Thompson.
- "The Constitution in the Gilded Age: The Beginnings of Constitutional Realism in American Scholarship;" "The Realist Critique of Constitutionalism in the Era of Reform;" "Changing Conceptions of Constitutionalism in the Era of World War II and the Cold War;" and "New Left Reverberations in the Academy: The Antipluralist Critique of Constitutionalism," Herman Belz.
- Early American Law and Society, Stephen Botein.
- "The Interrelation of Social and Constitutional History," J.G. Randall.
- Law in Antebellum Society: Legal Change and Economic Expansion, Jamil S. Zainaldin.
- "The Origins of American Constitutional Thought," Stanley Katz.
- "Time to Reclaim: The Current Challenge of American Constitutional History," Paul L. Murphy.

HISTORICAL PERIOD OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

- The Anti-Federalists, Cecilia Kenyon, ed.
- The Antifederalist Papers, Morton Borden, ed.
- The Beginnings of National Politics: An Interpretive History of the Continental Congress, Jack N. Rakove.
- The Bill of Rights; Its Origin and Meaning, Irving Brant.
- The Birth of the Republic: 1763-89, Edmund S. Morgan.
- The Complete Anti-Federalist, Herbert J. Storing, ed.
- The Confederation and the Constitution: The Critical Issues, Gordon S. Wood, comp.
- Constitutionalism: Ancient and Modern, Charles H. McIlwain.
- Constitutionalism and the Separation of Powers, Maurice J. C. Vile.
- "Constitution-Making: Alignment and Realignment in the Federal Convention of 1787," C. Jillson.
- The Creation of the American Republic, 1776-1787, Gordon S. Wood.
- The Declaration of Independence: A Study in the History of Political Ideas, Carl L. Becker.
- The Federalist, Jacob E. Cooke, ed.
- The Federalist Era, 1789-1801, John C. Miller.
- The First American Constitutions: Republican Ideology and the Making of State Constitutions in the Revolutionary Era, Willi Paul Adams.
- The Framing of the Constitution of the United States, Max Farrand.
- From Resistance to Revolution: Colonial Radicals and the Development of American Opposition to Britain, 1765-1776, Pauline Maier.
- The Ideological Origins of the American Revolution, Bernard Bailyn.
- Jefferson and Madison, The Great Collaboration, Adrienne Koch.
- Law in the New Republic: Private Law and the Public Estate, George Dargo.
- Legacy of Suppression: Freedom of Speech and Press in Early American History, Leonard W. Levy.
- Liberty's Daughters, The Revolutionary Experience of American Women, 1750-1800,

- Mary Beth Norton.
Miracle at Philadelphia: The Story of the Constitutional Convention, May to September 1787, Catherine Drinker Bowen.
The Records of the Federal Convention of 1787, Max Farrand, ed.
Religion and Politics: The Intentions of the Authors of the First Amendment, Michael J. Malbin.
Self-Evident Truths: Being a Discourse on the Origins and Development of the First Principles of American Government--Popular Sovereignty, Natural Rights, and Balance and Separation of Powers, Paul K. Conkin.
1787: The Grand Convention, Clinton Rossiter.
We The People: The Economic Origins of the Constitution, Forrest McDonald.
What the Anti-Federalists Were For, Herbert J. Storing and Murray Dry.
Women of the Republic: Intellect and Ideology in Revolutionary America, Linda K. Kerber.

GENERAL WORKS

- Alexander Hamilton and the Idea of Republican Government, Gerald Stourzh.
The American Constitution, 1877-1917, Loren P. Beth.
The American Constitution: Its Origins and Development., Alfred H. Kelly, Winifred A. Harbison and Herman Belz.
The American Judicial Tradition: Profiles of Leading American Judges, G. Edward White.
American Law and the Constitutional Order: Historical Perspectives, Lawrence Friedman and Harry Scheiber.
The American Supreme Court, Robert G. McCloskey.
The Constitution and What It Means Today, Edward S. Corwin (Revised, Harold W. Chase and Craig R. Ducat).
The Constitution in Crisis Times, 1918-1969, Paul L. Murphy.
Constitutional Counterrevolution: The Warren Court and the Burger Court--Judicial Policy Making in Modern America, Richard Y. Funston.
Constitutional Polity, Glendon Schubert.
"Constitutionalism" essay by David Fellman in the Dictionary of the History of Ideas: Studies of Selected Pivotal Ideas, vol. 1.
"Constitutionalism" essay by Harvey Wheeler in the Handbook of Political Science, vol. 5.
Constitutionalism: NOMOS XX, James Roland Pennock and John W. Chapman, editors.
Correspondence of John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, 1812-1826, Paul Wiltach, ed.
Court and Constitution in the Twentieth Century. Volume 1: The Old Legality, 1889--1932; Volume 2: The New Legality, 1932-1968, William F. Swindler.
Democracy in America, Alexis de Tocqueville (Edited, J.P. Mayer and A.P. Kerr; translated, George Lawrence).
An Economic Interpretation of the Constitution of the United States, Charles A. Beard.
Explaining America: The Federalist, Garry Wills.
"Federalism and the American Economic Order, 1789-1910," Harry N. Scheiber.
The Federalist Without Tears, Jean Stearns.
The Growth of American Constitutional Law, Benjamin F. Wright.
The Jeffersonian Crisis: Courts and Politics in the Young Republic, Richard E. Ellis.
The Justices of the United States Supreme Court: Their Lives and Major Opinions, Leon Friedman and Fred L. Israel, editors.
Law and Conditions of Freedom in the Nineteenth Century United States, James Willard Hurst.

- The Least Dangerous Branch: The Supreme Court at the Bar of Politics, Alexander M. Bickel.
- The Legacy of Holmes and Brandeis: A Study in the Influence of Ideas, Samuel J. Konefsky.
- Selected Essays on Constitutional Law, Association of American Law Schools, ed.
- Structure and Relationship in Constitutional Law, Charles L. Black, Jr.
- The Supreme Court and the Idea of Progress, Alexander M. Bickel.
- The Supreme Court from Taft to Burger, Alpheus T. Mason.
- The Supreme Court under Marshall and Taney, R. Kent Newmyer.
- The Vineyard of Liberty: The American Experiment, James MacGregor Burns.
- Understanding the Constitution, Jack Walter Peltason and Edward Samuel Corwin.

CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES

- Black Resistance/White Law: A History of Constitutional Racism in America, Mary F. Berry.
- Church, State and Freedom, Leo Pfeffer.
- "The Civil War as a Constitutional Crisis," Arthur E. Bestor.
- Conservative Crisis and the Rule of Law: Attitudes of Bar and Bench 1887-1895, Arnold M. Paul.
- Democracy and Distrust: A Theory of Judicial Review, John Hart Ely.
- Equal Justice Under Law: Constitutional Development, 1835-1875, Harold Hyman and William Wiecek.
- Foreign Affairs and the Constitution, Louis Henkin.
- How Democratic is the Constitution?, Robert A. Goldwin and William A. Schambra, editors.
- The Pursuit of Equality in American History, J.R. Pole.
- Red Man's Land/White Man's Law: A Study of the Past and Present Status of the American Indian, Wilcomb E. Washburn.
- "State Sovereignty and Slavery," Arthur E. Bestor.
- The Supreme Court and Religion, Richard E. Morgan.
- Truman and the Steel Seizure Case: The Limits of Presidential Power, Maeva Marcus.
- Watergate and the Constitution, Philip B. Kurland.
- World War I and the Origin of Civil Liberties in the United States, Paul L. Murphy.

CASEBOOKS

- Cases and Materials on Constitutional Law. 10th ed. Gerald Gunther.
- Constitutional Law: Cases and Materials. 3rd ed., Paul Kauper, ed.
- Liberty and Justice: A Historical Record of American Constitutional Development, James M. Smith and Paul L. Murphy, editors.
- Processes of Constitutional Decision-making, P. Brest and S. Levinson.
- The Supreme Court and the Constitution: Readings in American Constitutional History, Stanley I. Kutler, ed.

CASE HISTORIES

- The Angelo Herndon Case and Southern Justice, Charles H. Martin.
- Antitrust and the Oil Monopoly: The Standard Oil Cases, 1890-1911, Bruce Bringhurst.
- The Dorr War: Republicanism on Trial, 1831-1861, George M. Dennison.
- The Dred Scott Case in Historical Perspective, Don E. Fehrenbacher.

- Gideon's Trumpet, Anthony Lewis.
- Gomillion v. Lightfoot: The Tuskegee Gerrymander Case, Bernard Taper.
- John Marshall's Defense of McCullough v. Maryland, Gerald Gunther, ed.
- The Jones and Laughlin Case, Richard C. Cortner.
- Marshall v. Jefferson: The Political Background of Marbury v. Madison, Donald O. Dewey.
- Minnesota Rag: The Dramatic Story of the Landmark Supreme Court Case That Gave New Meaning to Freedom of the Press, Fred W. Friendly.
- Private Interest and Public Gain: The Dartmouth College Case, 1819, Francis N. Stites.
- Privilege and Creative Destruction: The Charles River Bridge Case, Stanley I. Kutler.
- Quarrels That Have Shaped the Constitution, John A. Garraty, ed.
- Scottsboro: A Tragedy of the American South, Dan T. Carter.
- Simple Justice: The History of Brown v. Board of Education and Black America's Struggle for Equality, Richard Kluger.
- The Steamboat Monopoly: Gibbons v. Ogden, 1824, Maurice G. Baxter.
- The Third Branch of Government: 8 Cases in Constitutional Politics, C. Herman Pritchett and Alan F. Westin, editors.
- They Have No Rights: Dred Scott's Struggle for Freedom, Walter Ehrlich.
- Yazoo: Law and Politics in the New Republic--The Case of Fletcher v. Peck, C. Peter Magrath.

DOCUMENTS

- The Civil Rights Record: Black Americans and the Law 1849-1970, Richard Bardolph, ed.
- Documents of American History, A. Commager, ed. (Original editor: Henry Steele Commager).
- The Federal Convention and the Formation of the Union of the American States, Winton Solberg, ed.

STATE HUMANITIES COUNCILS

Walter Cox, Executive Director
The Committee for the Humanities in Alabama
Box A-40
Birmingham-Southern College
Birmingham, Alabama 35254
205-324-1314

Gary Holthaus, Executive Director
Alaska Humanities Forum
429 "D" Street, Room 306
Loussac Sogn Building
Anchorage, Alaska 99501
907-272-5341

Lorraine Frank, Executive Director
Arizona Humanities Council
First Interstate Bank Plaza
100 W. Washington, #1290
Phoenix, Arizona 85003
602-257-0335

Jane Browning, Executive Director
Arkansas Endowment for the Humanities
Remmell Bldg., Suite 102
1010 W. Third Street
Little Rock, Arkansas 72202
501-372-2672

James Quay, Executive Director
California Council for the Humanities
312 Sutter, Suite 601
San Francisco, California 94108
415-391-1474

James Pierce, Executive Director
Colorado Humanities Program
1836 Blake Street, Suite 100
Denver, Colorado 80202
303-292-4458

Bruce Fraser, Executive Director
Connecticut Humanities Council
195 Church Street
Wesleyan Station
Middletown, Connecticut 06457
203-347-6888 or 347-3788

Henry Hirschbiel, Executive Director
Delaware Humanities Forum
2600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Wilmington, Delaware 19806
302-738-8491

Beatrice Hackett, Executive Director
D. C. Community Humanities Council
1341 "G" Street N.W., Suite 306
Washington, DC 20005
202-347-1732

William Brennan, Executive Director
Florida Endowment for the Humanities
University of So. Florida
LET, Room 468
Tampa, Florida 33620
813-974-4094

Ronald Benson, Executive Director
Georgia Endowment for the Humanities
1589 Clifton Road, NE
Emory University
Atlanta, Georgia 30322
404-329-7500

Annette Lew, Executive Director
Hawaii Committee for the Humanities
2615 So. King Street, Suite 211
Honolulu, Hawaii 96826
808-947-5891

David Hansen, Executive Director
The Association for the Humanities in Idaho
1409 W. Washington Street
Boise, Idaho 83702
208-345-5346

Robert Klaus, Executive Director
Illinois Humanities Council
618 S. Michigan
Chicago, Illinois 60605
312-939-5212

Kenneth Gladish, Executive Director
Indiana Committee for the Humanities
3135 North Meridian
Indianapolis, Indiana 46208
317-925-5316

Thomas H. Hartig, Executive Director
Iowa Humanities Board
Oakdale Campus
University of Iowa
Iowa City, Iowa 52242
319-353-6754

Marion Cott, Executive Director
Kansas Committee for the Humanities
112 West 6th Street, Suite 210
Topeka, Kansas 66603
913-357-0359

Charlotte Baer, Acting Director
Kentucky Humanities Council
Ligon House
University of Kentucky
Lexington, Kentucky 40506-0442
606-257-5932

Michael Sartisky, Executive Director
Louisiana Committee for the Humanities
The Ten-O-One Building
1001 Howard Avenue, Suite 4407
New Orleans, Louisiana 70113
504-523-4352

Karen Bowden, Executive Director
Maine Humanities Council
P. O. Box 7202
Portland, Maine 04112
207-773-5051

Judith O'Sullivan, Executive Director
Maryland Humanities Council
516 North Charles Street, Suite 304-5
Baltimore, Maryland 21201
301-837-1938

Nathaniel Reed
Massachusetts Foundation for the Humanities and Public Policy
155 Woodside Avenue
Amherst, Massachusetts 01002
413-545-1936

Ronald Means, Executive Director
Michigan Council for the Humanities
Nisbet Building, Suite 30
1407 S. Harrison Road
East Lansing, Michigan 48824
517-355-0160

Cheryl Dickson, Executive Director
Minnesota Humanities Commission
Metro Square LL 85
St. Paul, Minnesota 55101
612-224-5739

Cora Norman, Executive Director
Mississippi Committee for the Humanities
3825 Ridgewood Road, Room 111
Jackson, Mississippi 39211
601-982-6752

Robert Walrond, Executive Director
The Missouri Committee for the Humanities, Inc.
Loberg Building, #204
11425 Dorsett Road
Maryland Heights, Missouri 63043
314-739-7368

Margaret Kingsland, Executive Director
Montana Committee for the Humanities
P. O. Box 8036
Hellgate Station
Missoula, Montana 59807
406-243-6022

Sarah Rosenberg, Executive Director
Nebraska Committee for the Humanities
Cooper Plaza, Suite 405
211 North 12th Street
Lincoln, Nebraska 68508
402-474-2131

Elmer Cole, Executive Director
Nevada Humanities Committee
P. O. Box 8065
Reno, Nevada 89507
702-784-6587

Philip Ginsburg, Executive Director
New Hampshire Council for the Humanities
112 South State Street
Concord, New Hampshire 03301
603-224-4071

Miriam Murphy, Executive Director
New Jersey Committee for the Humanities
73 Easton Avenue
New Brunswick, New Jersey 08903
201-932-7726

Allen Gerlach, Executive Director
New Mexico Humanities Council
1712 Las Lomas, N.E.
University of New Mexico
Albuquerque, New Mexico 87131
505-277-3705

Jay Kaplan, Executive Director
New York Council for the Humanities
33 West 42nd Street
New York, New York 10036
212-354-3040

Brent Glass, Executive Director
North Carolina Humanities Committee
112 Foust Building, UNC-G
Greensboro, North Carolina 27412
919-379-5325

Everett Albers, Executive Director
North Dakota Humanities Council
P. O. Box 2191
Bismarck, North Dakota 58502
701-663-1948

Charles Cole, Jr., Executive Director
The Ohio Humanities Council
760 Pleasant Ridge Avenue
Columbus, Ohio 43209
614-231-6879

Anita May, Executive Director
Oklahoma Foundation for the Humanities
Executive Terrace Building, Suite 500
2809 Northwest Expressway
Oklahoma City, Oklahoma 73112
405-840-1721

Carolyn Buan, Acting Director
Oregon Committee for the Humanities
418 S. W. Washington, #410
Portland, Oregon 97204
503-241-0543

Craig Eisendrath, Executive Director
Pennsylvania Humanities Council
401 N. Broad Street, #818
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19108
215-925-1005

Arturo Morales Carrion, Executive Director
Fundacion Puertorriquena de las Humanidades
Apartado Postal S-4307
San Juan de Puerto Rico 00904
809-721-2087

Thomas Roberts, Executive Director
Rhode Island Committee for the Humanities
463 Broadway
Providence, Rhode Island 02909
401-273-2250

Leland Cox, Executive Director
South Carolina Committee for the Humanities
6 Monckton Blvd., Suite C
Columbia, SC 29206
803-738-1850

John Whalen, Executive Director
South Dakota Committee on the Humanities
University Station, Box 35
Brookings, South Dakota 57007
605-688-6113

Robert Cheatham, Executive Director
Tennessee Committee for the Humanities
P. O. Box 24767
Nashville, Tennessee 37202
615-320-7001

James Veninga, Executive Director
Texas Committee for the Humanities
1604 Nueces
Austin, Texas 78701
512-473-8585

Delmont Oswald, Executive Director
Utah Endowment for the Humanities
Ten West Broadway
Broadway Building, Suite 900
Salt Lake City, Utah 84101
801-531-7868

Victor Swenson, Executive Director
Vermont Council on the Humanities and Public Issues

P. O. Box 58
Hyde Park, Vermont 05655
802-888-3183

Robert Vaughan, Executive Director
Virginia Foundation for the Humanities and Public Policy

One-B West Range
University of Virginia
Charlottesville, Virginia 22903
804-924-3296

Toya Andrew, Interim Director
Virgin Islands Humanities Council

College of the Virgin Islands
215 Humanities Building
St. Thomas, Virgin Islands 00802
809-774-9200, ext. 286

William Oliver, Executive Director
Washington Commission for the Humanities

Olympia, Washington 98505
206-866-6510

Charles Daugherty, Executive Director
Humanities Foundation of West Virginia

Box 204
Institute, West Virginia 25112
304-768-8869

Patricia Anderson, Executive Director
Wisconsin Humanities Committee

716 Langdon Street
Madison, Wisconsin 53706
608-262-0706

David Tebaldi, Executive Director
Wyoming Council for the Humanities

Box 3972, University Station
Laramie, Wyoming 82071-3972
307-766-6496

MAJOR PRIVATE AND STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETIES AND MUSEUMS

Alabama Department of Archives and History

624 Washington Avenue
Montgomery, Alabama 36130
205-832-6510

Alabama Historical Association

3121 Carlisle Road
Birmingham, Alabama 35213
205-324-0998

Alaska Historical Commission

3221 Providence Avenue
Anchorage, Alaska 99504
907-274-6222

Alaska State Museum

Pouch FM
Juneau, Alaska 99811
907-465-2902

Arizona State Department of Library, Archives and Public Records

3rd Floor, State Capitol
Phoenix, Arizona 85007
602-255-3701

Arizona Historical Society

949 E. 2nd Street
Tucson, Arizona 85719
602-628-5774

Arkansas History Commission

One Capitol Mall
Little Rock, Arkansas 72201
501-371-2141

Arkansas Historical Association

History Department
12 Ozark Hall
University of Arkansas
Fayetteville, Arkansas 72701
501-575-3001

Historical Society of Southern California

200 East Avenue 43
Los Angeles, California 90031
213-222-0546

California State Department of Parks and Recreation

Box 2390
Sacramento, California 95811
916-445-2358

California Historical Society

2090 Jackson Street
San Francisco, California 94109
415-567-1848

Colorado Division of State Archives and Public Records

1313 Sherman Street
Denver, Colorado 80203
303-866-2055

The State Historical Society of Colorado

1300 Broadway
Denver, Colorado 80203
303-866-2136

Connecticut Historical Commission

59 S. Prospect Street
Hartford, Connecticut 06106
203-566-3005

The Connecticut Historical Society

1 Elizabeth Street
Hartford, Connecticut 06105
203-236-5621

Delaware Division of Historical and Cultural Affairs

Hall of Records
Dover, Delaware 19901
302-736-5314

The Historical Society of Delaware

505 Market Street Mall
Wilmington, Delaware 19801
302-655-7161

Florida Division of Archives, History and Records Management

R.A. Gray Building
Pensacola and Bronough Streets
Tallahassee, Florida 32301
904-488-1480

Florida Historical Society
University of South Florida Library
Tampa, Florida 33620
813-974-2731

Georgia Department of Archives and History
330 Capitol Avenue S.E.
Atlanta, Georgia 30334
404-656-2358

Georgia Historical Society
501 Whitaker Street
Savannah, Georgia 31401
912-944-2128

Hawaii State Archives
Iolani Palace Grounds
Honolulu, Hawaii 96813
808-548-2355

Hawaiian Historical Society
560 Kawaiahao Street
Honolulu, Hawaii 96813
808-537-6271

Idaho State Historical Society
610 N. Julia Davis Drive
Boise, Idaho 83702
208-334-2120

Illinois State Historical Library and Illinois State Historical Society
Old State Capitol
Springfield, Illinois 62706
217-782-4836

Indiana Historical Bureau
140 N. Senate Avenue
Indianapolis, Indiana 46204
317-232-2537

Indiana Historical Society
315 W. Ohio Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202
317-232-1882

Iowa Division of Historical Museum and Archives
E. 12th and Grand Avenue
Des Moines, Iowa 50319
515-281-5111

State Historical Society of Iowa
402 Iowa Avenue
Iowa City, Iowa 52240
319-338-5471

Kansas State Historical Society
120 W. 10th Street
Topeka, Kansas 66612
913-296-3251

Kentucky Historical Society
300 W. Broadway
Frankfort, Kentucky 40601
502-564-3016

Louisiana Historical Society
203 Carondelet Street
600 Maritime Building
New Orleans, Louisiana 70130
504-588-9044

Louisiana State Museum
751 Chartres Street
New Orleans, Louisiana 70116
504-581-4321

Maine State Museum
State House Complex
Augusta, Maine 04333
207-289-2301

Maine Historical Society
485 Congress Street
Portland, Maine 04101
207-774-1822

Maryland Historical Society
201 W. Monument Street
Baltimore, Maryland 21201
301-685-3750

Maryland Historical Trust
21 State Circle
Annapolis, Maryland 21401
301-269-2212

Bay State Historical League
Room 51, State House
Boston, Massachusetts 02133
617-742-7989

Massachusetts Historical Commission
294 Washington Street
Boston, Massachusetts 02108
617-727-8470

Massachusetts Historical Society
1154 Boylston
Boston, Massachusetts 02215
617-536-1608

Historical Society of Michigan
2117 Washtenaw Avenue
Ann Arbor, Michigan 48104
313-769-1828

Michigan History Division,
Michigan Department of State
208 N. Capitol
Lansing, Michigan 48918
517-373-6362

Minnesota Historical Society
690 Cedar Street
St. Paul, Minnesota 55101
612-296-2747

Mississippi Department of Archives and History
100 S. State Street
Jackson, Mississippi 39201
601-354-6218

Mississippi Historical Society
100 S. State Street
Jackson, Mississippi 39201
601-354-6218

State Historical Society of Missouri
1020 Lowry Street
Columbia, Missouri 65201
314-443-3165

Missouri Historical Society
Jefferson Memorial Building
Forest Park
St. Louis, Missouri 63112
314-361-1424

Montana Historical Society
225 N. Roberts
Helena, Montana 59601
406-449-2694

Nebraska State Historical Society
1500 R Street
Lincoln, Nebraska 68508
402-471-3270

Nevada Historical Society
1650 N. Virginia Street
Reno, Nevada 89503
702-784-6397

Nevada State Museum
Capital Complex
Carson City, Nevada 89710
702-885-4810

New Hampshire Historical Society
30 Park Street
Concord, New Hampshire 03301
603-225-3381

The New Jersey Historical Society
230 Broadway
Newark, New Jersey 07104
201-483-3939

New Jersey Historical Commission
113 W. State Street, CN 520
Trenton, New Jersey 08625
609-292-6062

Museum of New Mexico
History Bureau, Palace of Governors
North side of the Plaza
Santa Fe, New Mexico 87501
505-827-2921

Division of History and Anthropology, New York State Museum
3099 Cultural Center
Empire State Plaza
Albany, New York 12230
518-474-1299

New York Historical Society
170 Central Park West
Manhattan, New York 10024
212-873-3400

New York State Historical Association
Lake Road, Route 80
Cooperstown, New York 13326
607-547-2533

Historical Society of North Carolina

109 East Jones Street
Raleigh, North Carolina 27611
919-733-4763

North Carolina Division of Archives and History

109 E. Jones Street
Raleigh, North Carolina 27611
919-733-7305

State Historical Society of North Dakota

North Dakota Heritage Center
Bismarck, North Dakota 58505
701-224-2669

The Ohio Historical Society

I-71 and 17th Avenue
Columbus, Ohio 43211
614-466-1500

Oklahoma Historical Society

2100 N. Lincoln Boulevard
Oklahoma City, Oklahoma 73105
405-521-2491

Oregon Historical Society

1230 S.W. Park Avenue
Portland, Oregon 97205
503-222-1741

Historical Society of Pennsylvania

130th Locust Street
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19107
215-732-6200

Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission

William Penn Memorial Museum
3rd and North Street
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania 17120
717-787-2891

Centro de Estudios Avanzados de Puerto Rico

The Caribbean
Calle de San Sebastian Num 1
San Juan, Puerto Rico 00904

Conservation Trust of Puerto Rico

P.O. Box 4747
San Juan, Puerto Rico 00905
809-722-5834

Rhode Island Historical Society

52 Power Street
Providence, Rhode Island 02906
401-331-8575

South Carolina Department of Archives and History

P.O. Box 22669
Columbia, South Carolina 29211
803-758-5816

South Carolina Historical Society

100 Meeting Street
Charleston, South Carolina 29401
803-723-3225

South Dakota State Historical Society

Soldiers' and Sailors' Memorial Building
East Capitol Avenue
Pierre, South Dakota 57501
605-773-3615

Tennessee Historical Commission

4721 Trousdale Drive
Nashville, Tennessee 37219
615-741-2371

Tennessee Historical Society

War Memorial Building
Nashville, Tennessee 37219
615-741-2660

Tennessee State Museum

Polk Cultural Center
505 Deaderick
Nashville, Tennessee 37219
615-741-2692

Texas Historical Commission

1511 Colorado
Austin, Texas 78701
512-475-3092

Texas State Historical Association

SRH 2-306
University Station
Austin, Texas 78712
512-471-1525

Utah State Historical Society,
Crane Building, Suite 1000
307 West 2nd Street
Salt Lake City, Utah 84102
801-533-5755

Vermont Historical Society, Inc.
State Street
Montpelier, Vermont 05602
802-828-2291

Island Resources Foundation
Harms Lagoon Marine
Red Hook
St. Thomas, Virgin Islands 00801
809-775-3225

Virginia Historical Society
428 North Boulevard
Richmond, Virginia 23221
804-358-4901

Virginia Historic Landmarks Commission
Morsons Row
221 Governor Street
Richmond, Virginia 23219
804-786-3143

Washington State Historical Society
315 Stadium Way
Tacoma, Washington 98403
206-593-2830

West Virginia Department of Culture and History: Archives and History Division
Science and Culture Center
Charleston, West Virginia 25305
304-348-0230

State Historical Society of Wisconsin
816 State Street
Madison, Wisconsin 53706
608-262-3266

Wyoming State Archives Museums and Historical Department
Barrett Building
Cheyenne, Wyoming 82002
307-777-7010

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS STATE CHAPTERS

Juanita G. Watson, President
League of Women Voters of Alabama
20 Pinemont Drive
Tuscaloosa, Alabama 35406
205-759-1440

Paula Ziegler, President
League of Women Voters of Alaska
307 Bawden Street
Ketchikan, Alaska 99901
907-225-5077

Felice Bews, President
League of Women Voters of Arizona
3201 N. 16th Street, #3
Phoenix, Arizona 85016
602-234-0580

Bettye B. Pickett, President
League of Women Voters of Arkansas
915 Oak Street, Suite 1011
Conway, Arkansas 72032
501-327-3209

Mary Jane Merrill, President
League of Women Voters of California
926 J Street, Suite 1000
Sacramento, California 95814
916-442-7215

Wilma Davidson, President
League of Women Voters of Colorado
1600 Race Street
Denver, Colorado 80206
303-320-8493

Percy Lee Langstaff, President
League of Women Voters of Connecticut
60 Connolly Parkway
Hamden, Connecticut 06514
203-288-7996

Joyce Johnson, President
League of Women Voters of Delaware
900 Washington Street
Wilmington, Delaware 19801
302-571-8948

Sue Panzer, President
League of Women Voters of the District of Columbia
1346 Connecticut Avenue, N.W.
Room 718
Washington, D.C. 20036
202-785-2616

Susan Shulman, President
League of Women Voters of Florida
1420 N.W. 2nd Avenue, Suite 2 & 3
Boca Raton, Florida 33432
305-391-5602

Lee Wash, President
League of Women Voters of Georgia
100 Edgewood Ave., N.E.
Suite 1010
Atlanta, Georgia 30303
404-522-8683

Peter Herman, President
League of Women Voters of Hawaii
49 S. Hotel Street, #314
Honolulu, Hawaii 96813
808-531-8031

Sally M. Gibson, President
League of Women Voters of Idaho
1507 E. Lander
Pocatello, Idaho 83201
208-233-6516

Jean Peterson, President
League of Women Voters of Illinois
67 E. Madison Street
Chicago, Illinois 60603
312-236-0315

Nancy Smith, President
League of Women Voters of Indiana
38 N. Pennsylvania Street, Suite 308
Indianapolis, Indiana 46204
317-634-3588

Janet Adams, President
League of Women Voters of Iowa
111 Wilson Community Center
2430 E. University Avenue
Des Moines, Iowa 50317
515-262-6645

Nancy Scott, President
League of Women Voters of Kansas
909 Topeka Boulevard - Annex
Topeka, Kansas 66612
913-354-7478

Dorothy L. Steelman, President
League of Women Voters of Kentucky
305 Ann Street, Suite 332
Frankfort, Kentucky 40601
502-875-2188

Bette B. Bornside, President
League of Women Voters of Louisiana
850 N. 5th Street, #103
Baton Rouge, Louisiana 70802
504-344-3326

Penny Harris, President
League of Women Voters of Maine
325 Garland Street
Bangor, Maine 04401
207-947-4737

Kathy Ellett, President
League of Women Voters of Maryland
5 State Circle
Annapolis, Maryland 21401
301-269-0232

Susan Shaer, President
League of Women Voters of Massachusetts
8 Winter Street
Boston, Massachusetts 02108
617-357-8380

Beverly McAninch, President
League of Women Voters of Michigan
200 Museum Drive, Suite 202
Lansing, Michigan 48933
517-484-5383

Jean Tews, President
League of Women Voters of Minnesota
555 Wabasha, Room 212
St. Paul, MN 55102
612-224-5445

Neva Greenwald, President
League of Women Voters of Mississippi
513 N. State Street
Jackson, Mississippi 39201
601-825-3691

Sydell Shayer, President
League of Women Voters of Missouri
6665 Delmar, Room 304
St. Louis, Missouri 63130
314-727-8674

Diane Young, President
League of Women Voters of Montana
3300 7th Street, N.E.
Great Falls, Montana 59404
406-453-3943

Ruth L. Metcalf, President
League of Women Voters of Nebraska
Anderson Building, Suite 314
12th & O Streets
Lincoln, Nebraska 68508
402-475-1411

Sandra Metcalf, President
League of Women Voters of Nevada
3909 Springhill Avenue
Las Vegas, Nevada 89121
702-451-6568

Susan Oechsle, President
League of Women Voters of
New Hampshire
3 Pleasant Street, Room 3
Concord, New Hampshire 03301
603-225-5344

Gloria J. Jones, President
League of Women Voters of
 New Jersey

212 W. State Street
 Trenton, New Jersey 08608
 609-394-3303

Peggy Hemmendinger, President
League of Women Voters of
 New Mexico

510 2nd Street, Suite 219
 Albuquerque, New Mexico 87102
 505-242-9271

Joan S. McKinley, President
League of Women Voters of
 New York

817 Broadway
 New York, New York 10003
 212-677-5050

Elizabeth W. Grant, President
League of Women Voters of North Carolina

2637 McDowell Street
 Durham, North Carolina 27705
 919-493-1178

Inez Orthmeyer, President
League of Women Voters of North Dakota

815 N. 3rd Street
 Fargo, North Dakota 58102
 701-232-8457

Gretchen Denton, President
League of Women Voters of Ohio

65 S. Fourth Street
 Columbus, Ohio 43215
 614-469-1505

JoAnn Puckett, President
League of Women Voters of Oklahoma

400 N.W. 23rd Street
 Oklahoma City, Oklahoma 73103
 405-525-7734

Linda A. Dinus, President
League of Women Voters of Oregon

317 Court Street N.E., Suite 202
 Salem, Oregon 97301
 503-581-5722

Anne Schink, President
League of Women Voters of Pennsylvania

Strawbridge & Clothier Building
 11th Floor
 8th & Market Streets
 Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19105
 215-627-7937

Awilda Morales-Fortuno, President
League of Women Voters of Puerto Rico

GPO Box 3724
 San Juan, Puerto Rico 00936
 809-725-2131

Jane Sherman, President
League of Women Voters of Rhode Island

41 Seekonk Street
 Providence, Rhode Island 02906
 401-274-5822

Linda Bilanchone, President
League of Women Voters of South Carolina

2838 Devine Street
 Columbia, South Carolina 29205
 803-771-0063

Judy Winter, President
League of Women Voters of South Dakota

1604 S. Williams
 Sioux Falls, South Dakota 57105
 605-336-7421

Rosemary Hansen, President
League of Women Voters of Tennessee

1701 21st Avenue South, #425
 Nashville, Tennessee 37212
 615-297-7134

Lois Carpenter, President
League of Women Voters of Texas

1212 Guadalupe, #109
 Austin, Texas 78701
 512-472-1100

Nanette Benowitz, President
League of Women Voters of Utah
2804 Highland Drive, Suite #9
Salt Lake City, Utah 84106
801-272-1712

Margaret Gaskins, President
League of Women Voters of Vermont
2 Railroad Avenue
Essex Junction, Vermont 05452
802-879-4314

Susan Siepel, President
League of Women Voters of Virgin Island
P.O. Box 638
St. Thomas, Virgin Island 00801
809-774-1400

Jean McCart, President
League of Women Voters of Virginia
510 S. Main Street
Blacksburg, Virginia 24060
703-552-7072

Ruth V. Coffin, President
League of Women Voters of Washington
111 Monroe Center
1810 N.W. 65th Street
Seattle, Washington 98117
206-789-8683

Becky Cain, President
League of Women Voters of West Virginia
2313 S. Walnut Drive
St. Albans, West Virginia 25177
304-727-6547

Mary Grady, President
League of Women Voters of Wisconsin
625 W. Washington Avenue
Room 209
Madison, Wisconsin 53703
608-256-0827

Judy Knight, President
League of Women Voters of Wyoming
5317 Bill Nye
Laramie, Wyoming 82070
307-742-0078

OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

American Academy of Political and Social Science

3937 Chestnut Street
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19104
215-386-4594

American Association for State and Local History

708 Berry Road
Nashville, Tennessee 37204
615-383-5991

American Bar Association

1155 East 60th Street
Chicago, Illinois 60637
312-947-3621

American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research

1150 Seventeenth Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20036
202-862-5800

American Historical Association

400 A. Street, S.E.
Washington, D.C. 20003
202-544-2422

American Library Association

50 East Huron Street
Chicago, Illinois 60611
312-944-6780

American Political Science Association

1527 New Hampshire Avenue N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20036
202-483-2512

American Studies Association

307 College Hall/CO
University of Pennsylvania
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19104
215-898-5408

Center for the Study of the American Constitution

University of Wisconsin
Humanities Building, Room 5218
Madison, Wisconsin 57306
608-263-1865

Claremont Institute for the Study of Statesmanship and Political Philosophy

480 North Indian Hill Boulevard
Claremont, California 91711
714-621-6825

George Mason University

Project for the Study of Human Rights
4400 University Drive
Fairfax, Virginia 22030
703-323-2340

League of Women Voters of the United States

1730 M Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20036
202-429-1965

The National Archives

National Archives and Records Service
General Services Administration
Washington, D.C. 20408
202-655-4000

National Endowment for the Humanities

Old Post Office
1100 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20506
202-786-0267

National Federation of State Humanities Councils

12 South 6th Street, Suite 527
Minneapolis, Minnesota 55402
612-332-2407