I- DEFINITION OF INTERNATIONAL LAW:

A body of rules established by custom and recognized by nations as binding in their relations with one another.

To qualify as a subject under the traditional definition of international law, a state had to be sovereign: It needed a territory, a population, a government, and the ability to engage in diplomatic or foreign relations. States within the United States, provinces, and cantons were not considered subjects of international law, because they lacked the legal authority to engage in foreign relations. In addition, individuals did not fall within the definition of subjects that enjoyed rights and obligations under international law.

A more contemporary definition expands the traditional notions of international law to confer rights and obligations on intergovernmental international organizations and even on individuals. The United Nations, for example, is an international organization that has the capacity to engage in treaty relations governed by and binding under international law with states and other international organizations. Individual responsibility under international law is particularly significant in the context of prosecuting war criminals and the development of international Human Rights.

II- DEFINITION OF THE LAW?

Law may be defined as a body of rules, created by the state, binding within its jurisdiction and enforced with the authority of the state through the use of sanctions.

The difference between the two definitions is that the law is constituted by the state and international law is formed by agreements, traditions and customs recognized by nations accepted. But, if international law is an agreement of the United Nations, it binds all members and all members are responsible for it.

II- GENERAL AGREEMENTS ADOPTED by UNITED NATIONS

One of the first things we should consider when protecting the family is the protection of married women. There are no international regulations on the protection of the family or the protection of married women. Instead, UN conventions were adopted to protect women, irrespective of whether they were married or unmarried.

When we look at the agreements for women the United Nations has adopted, we see the following:

A- CEDAW (THE CONVENTION ON THE ELIMINATION OF ALL FORMS OF DISCRIMINATION AGAINST WOMEN (CEDAW))

This convention was adopted in 1979 by the UN General Assembly, is often described as an international bill of rights for women.

IT CONSERNS ABOUT ,

- THE PRINCIPLE OF EQUILITY OF MEN AND WOMEN IN ALL LEGAL SYSTEM
- ABOLISH ALL DISCRIMINATORY LAWS AND PROHIBITINIG DISRIMINATION AGAINST WOMEN (ALL ACTIONS)
- TO ESTABLISH TRIBUNALS AND OTHER PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS FIR EFFECTIVE PROTECTION OF WOMEN

B- RECOMMENDATION NO. R (2000) 11 OF THE COMMITTEE OF MINISTERS (PROTECTION OF WOMEN FROM SEXUAL EXPLOITATION)

Recommendation was adopted by the Committee of Ministerson 19 May 2000, at the 710th meeting of the Ministers' Deputies.

According to the Recommendation, trafficking in human beings for the purpose of sexual exploitation constitutes a violation of human rights and an offence to the dignity and the integrity of the human being and it recommends to the member states;

C- RECOMMENDATION REC (2002) 5 OF THE COMMITTEE OF MINISTERS ON (THE PROTECTION OF WOMEN AGAINST VIOLENCE (BODILY, MENTALITY, ECONOMICALY, SOCIALY PROTECTIONS)

Recommendation was adopted by the Committee of Ministers on 30 April 2002 at the 794th meeting of the Ministers' Deputies. It recommends that the governments of member states have to review their legislation and policies with a view to:

- guaranteeing the recognition, exercise and protection of women human rights and fundamental freedoms;
- taking necessary measures, to ensure that women are able to exercise freely and effectively their economic and social rights;
- ensuring that all measures are coordinated nation-wide;
- focused on the needs of the victims;
- relevant state institutions as well as non-governmental organizations (NGOs) be associated with the elaboration and the implementation of the necessary measures,
- encouraging at all level NGOs involved in combating violence against women and establishing active co-operation with these NGOs, including appropriate logistic and financial support.

D- UN RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY 57/179

THE ELIMINATION OF CRIMES AGAINST WOMEN COMMITTED IN THE NAME OF HONOUR

Most of the honor killings are against married women and it is understood from the forensic data. Therefore, the UN conventions on honor killings contain very important regulations.

AS A RESULT; WE NEED TO ACCEPT those informations.

1- I SUPPORT THE UNITED NATIONS RESOLUTIONS, RECOMMENDATIONS AND CONVENTIONS CONCERNING VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN.
