DELIBERATE SOCIAL CHANGE IN THE CITY: LIST OF SUGGESTED READINGS

Leonard Duhl
and
Donald A. Schon

University of California
College of Environmental Design
Urban Social Policy Program

NOTE: The list was designed to serve as a base for intensive research as well as an outline for normal course reading; students are encouraged to read selectively and skim as much as possible.

I. The Scope of "Social Change"

Manheim, Karl. "Planning for Freedom," in Etzioni, Amitai and Etzioni, Eva, eds. Social Change (New York: Basic Books, 1964).

Morison, Elting E. Men, Machines, and Modern Times (Cambridge: MIT Press, 1967).

Chapter 1: "Introductory Observations:" (skim).

*Chapter 2: "Gunfire at Sea."

*Chapter 6: "Men and Machinery."

Frank, Lawrence K. "The Need for a New Political Theory," 96 Daedalus (Summer 1967) pp. 809-16.

Etzioni, Amitai and Eva Etzioni, eds. Social Change: Sources, Patterns, and Consequences (New York: Basic Books, 1964).

Hoffer, Eric. The Ordeal of Change (New York: Harper & Row, 1963).

Heilbroner, Robert L. The Future as History (New York: Harper, 1960). Chapter 1.

II. Toward a Theory of Social Change.

*Moore, Wilbert E. Social Change (Englewood Cliffs, N.J.: Prentice-Hall, 1963). (Skim to get structure, not content. What areas has he neglected? Would you organize the book differently? How helpful is the discussion of each topic?).

Yarmolinsky, Adam. "Ideas into Programs", 2 The Public Interest (Winter 1966) pp. 70-79.

2. CPL Exchange Bibliography #250

*Rapoport, Anatol. Operational Philosophy: Integrating Knowledge and Action (New York: Harper & Row, 1953; available as a Science Editions paperback). (A very interesting book which seeks to bring some of the work of modern analytical philosophy and research methodology to bear on the problem of translating theory into action. Part I seems useful here.)

Dye, Thomas R. Politics, Economics, and the Public (Chicago: Rand McNally, 1966).

Chapter 1: "A Model for Analysis of Policy Outcomes" pp. 1-21.

Chapter 2: "The Design of Policy Research" pp. 22-45.

*Rapoport, Anatol, op. cit. Chapter 17: "Metaphors and Models" pp. 203-214.

*Van Dyke, Vernon. Political Science: A Philosophical Analysis (Stanford: Stanford U. Press, 1960). (A very readable exposition of many of the most important concepts underlying our work in this course. Virtually every chapter is directed toward a central problem which we face in working toward a theory or useful description of social change. Read as much as you have time for; this book and Rapoport complement each other nicely.)

Klausner, Samuel Z. "Links and Missing Links Between the Science of Man", in Klausner, ed., The Study of Total Societies (Garden City, N.Y.: Anchor Books, 1967) pp. 3-29.
See also Klausner's Epilogue (pp. 193-206) in the same volume.

Etzioni, Amitai and Fredric R. DuBow. "Some Workpoints for a Macro-sociology," in Klausner, op. cit., pp. 149-161.

Etzioni, Amitai. The Active Society: A Theory of Societal and Political Processes (New York: The Free Press, 1968).

III. - A. The Rational Problem Solving Process.

Easton, David. "A Systems Analysis of Political Life," in Walter Buckley, ed., Modern Systems Research for the Behavioral Scientist (Chicago: Aldine Publishing Co., 1968) pp. 428-436. (This article applies systems concepts to a framework of rational assumptions; the categories set forth in the bibliography overlap at a number of points and many hybrid approaches are possible.)

Vickers, Geoffrey. "Is Adaptability Enough?", in Buckley, op. cit., pp. 460-473.

*Hirschman, Albert O. Journeys Toward Progress (New York: The Twentieth Century Fund, 1963).
Part II: "Problem-solving and Reformmongering," pp. 227-298.

3. CPL Exchange Bibliography #250

*Dahl, Robert A. and Charles E. Lindblom. Politics, Economics, and Welfare (New York: Harper & Row, 1953).

Chapter 1: "Social Techniques and Rational Social Action," pp. 3-24.

Chapter 3: "Some Social Processes for Rational Calculation," pp. 57-92.

Chapters 12 & 13: "Bargaining: Control Among Leaders," pp. 324-365.

III. - B. Behavioral Approaches to Social Change; Functional Analysis.

*Rosenblueth, Arturo, Norbert Wiener and Julian Bigelow. "Behavior, Purpose, and Teleology," in Walter Buckley, ed., Modern Systems Research for the Behavioral Scientist (Chicago: Aldine Pub. Co., 1968) pp. 221-225.

Mills, C. Wright. "Two Styles of Social Science Research," in Mills, Charles Wright, ed., Power, Politics, and People (New York: Oxford U. Press, 1961) pp. 553-567.

*George, Alexander L. "Political Leadership and Social Change in American Cities," 97 Daedalus (Fall 1968) pp. 1194-1217. (Read for comparison with the Lindsay article immediately following; George seems to represent many of the assumptions and priorities that are usually characterized as "behaviorist", while Lindsay is more systems-oriented in that he focuses not on people, but on the organizational context in which they function. For the Lindsay reference, see III. - D.)

Coleman, James, Herbert Menzel and Elihu Katz. "Social Processes in Physicians' Adoption of a New Drug," in Etzioni and Etzioni, op. cit., pp. 439-454.

Cancian, Francesca. "Functional Analysis of Change," ibid., pp. 122-124.

Lippitt, R., J. Watson and B. Westley. The Dynamics of Planned Change (New York: Harcourt, Brace and World, 1958).

Lewin, Kurt. "Group Dynamics and Social Change," in Etzioni and Etzioni, op. cit., pp. 354-361.

III. - C. Social Change as Socio-Political Conflict.

Coser, Lewis. The Functions of Social Conflict (Glencoe, Ill.: The Free Press, 1956).

*Coser, Lewis. "The Termination of Conflict," in Etzioni and Etzioni, eds., Social Change, pp. 471-475.

4. CPL Exchange Bibliography #250

- *Banfield, Edward C. Political Influence (Glencoe, Ill.: The Free Press of Glencoe, 1961). (Excellent series of cases with concluding theoretical discussion. Read rapidly Part II, pp. 235-306, and then read critically:
Chapter 11: Concerting Action by Influence.
Chapter 12: Influence and the Public Interest.
Is there such a thing as "the public interest?" Does anyone act in it?)
- Schelling, Thomas C. The Strategy of Conflict (New York: Oxford U. Press, 1963).
(An excellent and highly readable account of what constitutes reasonable action in a conflict situation involving the interdependent actions of the participants. The following parts seem relevant here:
Part I: "Elements of a Theory of Strategy", pp. 3-80.
Part II: "A Reorientation of Game Theory", pp. 83-172.
Part III: "Strategy With a Random Ingredient", pp. 173-204.
Read rapidly with an eye toward changes necessary for application to our situation.)
- Shubik, Martin, ed. Game Theory and Related Approaches to Social Behavior (New York: Wiley, 1964).
Chapter 1: "Game Theory and the Study of Social Behavior: An introductory Exposition", pp. 3-77.
(Read for a general introduction to the approach, assumptions, and utility of game theory. Many parts can be skimmed. Is game theory valuable for our purposes? How?)
- Mills, C. Wright. "The Structure of Power in American Society", in Mills, C. Wright, ed., Power, Politics, and People (New York: Oxford U. Press, 1961) pp. 23-38.
- Rose, Arnold M. "Contrasting Theories of Political Power in American Society", in Rose, The Power Structure: Political Process in American Society (New York: Oxford U. Press, 1967) pp. 1-40.
- *Rapoport, Anatol. "Critiques of Game Theory," in Buckley, op. cit., pp. 474-489.
- Morris, Robert and Martin Rein. "Emerging Patterns in Community Planning," in Bernard J. Frieden and Robert Morris, Urban Planning and Social Policy (New York: Basic Books, Inc., 1968) pp. 23-38.

Haven: Yale U. Press, 1950).
- *Coser, Lewis A. "Social Conflict and the Theory of Social Change," in Chaim I. Waxman, ed., Poverty: Power and Politics (New York: Grosset & Dunlap, 1968) pp. 64-78.
- III. - D. Systems Analysis and Institutional Factors in Change.
- Forrester, Jay W. "Industrial Dynamics. After the First Decade", 14 Management Science (March 1968) pp. 398-415.
- *Beer, Stafford. Management Sciences: The Business Use of Operations Research (Garden City: Doubleday & Co., 1968).
(Paperback: Doubleday Science Series).
(An exceedingly readable and even entertaining exposition of the basic ideas and applications of operations research-cum-systems analysis. The discussion is oriented toward management applications, but the transition between management and social change concerns is a very short one, at least in this area. Depending on your background, you may already know most of the material in the book. If not, at least sample each of the chapters, because the concepts are basic to many other concerns in the course. 189 pp.)

Review," in Buckley, op. cit., pp. 11-30.
