'Contraceptives May Cause Birth Deformities, Sterility'

INVESTIGATES BIRTH DEFORMITIES—Dr. Charles Porter, assistant professor of biology, discloses his findings that contraceptives may be a leading cause of deformities in offspring.

By SCOTT MOORE
News Editor

(Copyright, Spartan Daily, 1965)

Use of contraceptives by females may be a leading cause of birth deformities, an SJS professor has discovered.

Female use of diaphragms and birth control pills leads to possible production of harmful antibodies, resulting in malformed offspring, according to Dr. Charles Porter, assistant professor of biology.

Dr. Porter claims that his findings have never before been advanced by competent authorities.

A spot check of several leading Bay Area obstetricians and gynecologists apparently has verified his claim.

'LOGICAL AND FEASIBLE'

Many of the authorities contacted would not comment on the credibility of Dr. Porter's discoveries. Two gynecologists, however, said the data appeared logical and feasible.

At the same time, Dr. A. Maynard Guderian, prominent area gynecologist and director of the Obstetrics and Gynecology Department at Santa Clara County Hospital, strongly attacked the findings yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Guderian charged that Dr. Porter's theory was "not well founded and is based on a number of false premises."

Furthermore, he declared, there is "absolutely no evidence to suggest the increase of incidences of fetal deformities among those who use contraceptives and those who don't."

GUINEA PIGS

Dr. Porter's research concerns infertility in female guinea pigs and the effect of "certain immune responses on birth defects."

"Immune responses" are identified as the sterility of the female following discontinuance of the contraceptive devices.

Five more universities throughout the country are conducting the same research, which began in 1961.

When he began his research at the University of Michigan married couples were used in clinical evaluation.

The couples became infertile to each other, apparently because of prolonged use of the birth control devices, Dr. Porter disclosed.

DISCONTINUE USE

The sterility, or infertility, resulted from antibody materials developed by the female after discontinuing regular use of diaphragms or any other birth control device.

After regular sexual relations resumed without use of the apparatus, the male sperm acted as a "foreign body" in the female uterine structure.

The antibodies, he explained, damage important constituents of the sperm which, as far as his data is concerned, result in the production of deformed offspring.

Furthermore, he said, in cases where similar responses were seen in humans, "great persistence" would have to be exercised by the couple in order for conception to occur.

FEMALE STERILITY

This "persistence" would be necessary because of the female's sterility after she stops using the contraceptives.

"It is these births which we suspect produce deformities," he declared.

Dr. Guderian immediately charged that there is "no evidence" to back up Dr. Porter's thesis. On the contrary, he declared, "there is a great deal of evidence to say this is not so."

Dr. Porter said that if further study proves his findings, he hopes to find ways to determine before conception if there is a probability of a malformed birth.

"If we can correlate 'immune responses' (sterility) with deformities, we're hoping to be able to negate the effect of the responses," he stated.

Next step in his research is to identify the specific antibodies which cause the deformities. An antibody vaccine could then be made from this discovery.

The vaccine, if successful, could put a dramatic end to the birth of deformed children.

An effective birth control method could be developed from the antibody vaccine. Still another vaccine could be developed to permit birth control-treated women to have children when desired, he said.

Initial results of Dr. Porter's findings were first published in the International Journal of Fertility in December 1963.

College Expected To Retain Name

San Jose State College is expected to keep its present name even if the other 17 state colleges change to California State College at (location).

Tom Woods, Sacramento newsman and SJS journalism graduate, made this report to the Spartan Daily yesterday. He added that reliable sources at the capital said they feel San Jose State and San Francisco State will be the last colleges to change their names—if they change at all.

The discussion of name-changing came up in connection with Senate Bill 443. If the bill is passed, the California Board of Trustees would be allowed to grant a name change to any state college which requests it.

Senate Bill 443 would repeal a section of the education code dealing with state college names. Under the present system, the trustees may not grant a change of name request unless the state college involved is in a county having a population greater than 200,000.

One of the Northern California State Colleges which falls in the above category asked the Trustees for a change in the code.

Senator Thomas Reeves (D-Los Angeles) authored Senate Bill 443.

Woods reported that some state college personnel are concerned that the bill would give the trustees power to change all the names. However, he explained, the change of name will remain a voluntary act by the particular college.

'King' Cole Dies at 45

The final chapter to a story in jazz and soft ballads has been written.

Nat "King" Cole died from cancer of the lungs. Those same lungs gave power to the voice which carried him to fame and fortune.

Cole entered St. James Hospital in Santa Monica Dec. 8, cutting short his Las Vegas engagement at the Sands Hotel, to check on a respiratory ailment.

He underwent surgery for the removal of a cancerous lung Jan. 25.

The 45-year-old singer died Monday morning.

He leaves his wife, Maria, daughters Carol, 19; Natalie, 14; his adopted son Nat Kelly, 5; and twins Casey and Timolin, 3.

Summer Institutes

SJS Profs To Receive $200,000 in Grants

National Defense Educational Act (NDEA) grants totaling almost $200,000 have been given to four SJS teachers for various institutes to be conducted this summer, according to Research Coordinator Robert S. Jordan.

Dr. Robert Bainbridge, Elementary Education, has been allotted almost $44,000 for a Reading Institute.

An Institute for Educational Media Specialists, under the direction of Dr. Harold E. Hailer, Secondary Education, will operate on almost $42,000 through the help of the NDEA.

Dr. James H. High's History Institute will focus on world history by studying the decline of imperialism and the growth of nationalism. This is the first time a history grant ($50,000) has been given by the NDEA. Forty selected teachers of junior and senior high schools will attend.

An English Institute, which will cover language, literature and composing, will convene under the authority of Dr. Sidney W. Tiedt, Elementary Education. The grant allowed for this area totals over $61,000.

All four institutes will operate from Feb. 15 to Oct. 31, 1965.

Departments Post Class Lists

Last minute shoppers still have a wide variety of classes to choose from, according to department representatives.

While no overall listing is compiled for the Spring semester, students may select classes from lists available in each department office.

Courses may be added without approval of the Registrar's Office until Feb. 24. After that date, a change of program card must be obtained.

BOMB PLOT BROKEN UP BY FBI

NEW YORK (UPI)—FBI agents and local police yesterday seized three men and a woman—all members of various extremist organizations—on charges of plotting to dynamite three of America's famed symbols of freedom—the Statue of Liberty, the Washington Monument and the Liberty Bell.

The three Negro men and a white woman were rounded up in New York City where they apparently planned to strike first. Also seized was a large cache of dynamite.

SOURCES SAY SOVIET MISSILES IN HANOI

SAIGON (UPI)—Soviet ground to air missiles have arrived in the North Viet Nam capital of Hanoi, reliable sources said yesterday. Arrival of Russian missiles in North Viet Nam has not been publicly confirmed by the U. S. Embassy here or by sources having access to U. S. aerial reconnaissance photographs of the Hanoi area.

Council To Discuss Portrait

A tradition dating back to the earliest days of SJS will be continued by this year's Student Council.

Meeting just prior to semester break, council voted to continue the practice of presenting a portrait of SJS' president to the college.

Once again this will be the case as council has voted to allocate $700 for a portrait of Dr. Robert D. Clark, 18th president of SJS.

A complete report will be given to council today by Bob Pisano, ASB president, on the detailed cost break-down of the project.

Council's first meeting of the spring semester will also include a report on the Seventh Street sound system.

The report is expected to call for supervision of the sound system by the Audio-Visual Department.

The finance committee will present the report on the feasibility of a sound system on the closed street for rallies and gatherings.

Two English Profs Retire; Express 'Mixed Emotions'

The conclusion of the 1964 fall semester marked the end of 67 years of service to the SJS campus for two distinguished faculty members, Dr. Josephine Chandler and Dr. Harold P. Miller, both professors of English.

Dr. Chandler joined the SJS faculty in 1936. She received her A.B. from Drury College in 1922; her A.M. from Columbia University in 1925; and her Ph.D. from the University of California in 1935. She also spent a year studying at Oxford and Harvard Universities.

Before coming to SJS, she taught at Lindenwood College in Missouri and at Southeast Oklahoma State Teachers College.

EX-DEPARTMENT HEAD

Dr. Miller taught at SJS for 37 years. He served as acting head of the English Department in 1955-56, and as the department head from 1958-1962. Prior to joining the SJS faculty, he taught at the University of Nevada.

He received his A.B. from Northwestern University in 1924; his M.A. from the University of California in 1927; and his Ph.D. from Yale University in 1936.

DR. HAROLD MILLER

... to retire

The two emeritus faculty were highly praised by Dr. Dwight Bentley, head of the Journalism and Advertising Department, who himself has been on the SJS faculty roster for 31 years. "They were both great teachers.

"I took my first college course in English from Dr. Miller in 1928. He was magnificent. He undoubtedly was one of SJS' greatest teachers. Dr. Chandler is also to be remembered as a superb teacher," he noted.

MIXED EMOTIONS

The two both expressed mixed emotions over their retirement.

"I'm retiring with ambivalent feelings," Dr. Chandler said, "I am going to miss the association with my students and colleagues. I shall miss teaching for I have thoroughly enjoyed it. But, I very much disliked grading and I am very glad to be free of the necessity to grade," she added.

"I feel that the time has come for a change—for more leisure time—and I am looking forward to that."

Dr. Miller seconded such thoughts. "I am beginning to get tired and need a prolonged rest. I've liked San Jose State and have never even looked for or considered other employment. I intend to remain in the area and will use the library and see old friends often."

Anderson Needs Support

New football mentor, Harry Anderson, needs assistance in improving the football program.

Teamwork will help Anderson overcome the terrific odds that face him. The slim budget, rough schedule, and recruitment problems can all be solved but Anderson can't do it alone.

A lot of vocalizing was done to get a new coach. Now SJS has one. The vocalizing should not stop but be turned to useful assistance in solving the problems before the football program.

Tips to the coaches as to possible recruits, better attendance at games, budgeting a bigger allocation for football, and other extras are needed to help the program grow.

School spirit, not "spirits," should prevail at all games so that the team members know that the student body is supporting them.

Yell leaders, song leaders and the marching band all show their spirit as do the boys in the "gold and white" that are on the field trying to win for SJS.

Back in the stands, the traditional "leave early to beat the traffic" attitude prevails. After all the team doesn't leave early, so why should the fans?

Show the true "Spirit of Spardi" and get behind the new coach, the team and SJS. —M.N.

Student Says G.E. Courses Have Value

Editor:

I would like to disagree on two of the points brought up in the Dr. Staveley interview by Sharon Osaki in Monday's Spartan Daily.

First, the general education requirements that he objects to seem to have proved their value in counteracting a degree of specialization so extreme as to produce isolation and rigidity of thought for different departments.

Second, Dr. Staveley said he feels the "Free Speech" Movement at Berkeley attracts outstanding students. But what really seems to have happened there, was that some students sabotaged the university because it emphasized research over teaching for the benefit of faculty and graduate students, just as any high-level university does, and because it exerted controls that the public considers reasonable over the students. What students will this attract, except radicals?

Flyer Criticized

Editor:

Knowing the John Birch Society's stand on the United Nations, I cannot help but believe that their "United Nations Dance" is nothing but a propaganda front.

I believe their advertising is misleading, and purposely so, to get unsuspecting people to come (and pay the fee). Across the top of the flyer announcing the dance are the words "United Nations Dance," along the side is a large United Nations' symbol, and nowhere in the text of the announcement is any hint given that the dance is to be anti-United Nations.

The only indication I got is in the lower left-hand corner—THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY. Therefore, I deduce that the proceeds of the dance are to go to a fund for anti-United Nations' education, rather than to some benefit of the United Nations as the symbolic heading of the flyer had indicated to me.

As of 4 p.m. yesterday, 19,275 students were registered at San Jose State, setting a new record for spring enrollment. The total might go higher.

According to Lowell C. Pratt, SJS publications manager, enrollment for this spring does not exceed the 20,402 total set last fall, but it does set a new high for spring sign-ups.

Birch Society To Hold U.N. Dance

The SJS chapter of The John Birch Society (JBS) will sponsor a "United Nations Dance" this Friday night.

The semi-formal dance will be held at Lou's Village, 1465 West San Carlos St., from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. Cost per person is $1.

"We are holding this dance to let our presence on campus be known," Lee Slaughter, JBS chapter leader declared. He also stated he hopes to recruit more college students for the society.

"We didn't want to call it an anti-UN dance," Slaughter emphasized, "because the program will not be exclusively anti-UN."

"Students," he said, "are usually exposed to only one side of the UN. This program will show some fallacies and erroneous ideas about the UN."

"In concept," he continued, "the UN is a good idea. It should not serve as a tool for one political power."

The JBS chapter is not an official on-campus organization but is composed entirely of SJS students.

Hoopsters Edge Broncs 65-63; Face Tough USF Dons Tomorrow

USF, undefeated in WCAC competition, may face its most inspired opponent when it visits the Spartans at the Men's Gym tomorrow at 8 p.m.

Coach Stu Inman's five won a 65-63 struggle over Santa Clara last night after hitting 17-25 first half shots, and leading 43-31 at half time.

Broncos Eric Paulson and Mike Gervasoni are hailed as the best guard combination in the conference, but Spartan senior guards Ron Labetich and Gary Gresham stole the show.

After the first three minutes of play, the score was 2-2. Suddenly, Labetich stole the ball, Gresham did the same, and the crowd was screaming. A few seconds later Labetich stole the ball again. Only three additional minutes had elapsed, and San Jose State led 11-2.

Pete Newell, who hit three consecutive 25-foot jumpers, and hit 8 out of 12 shots, scored 16. S. T. Saffold and Frank Tarrant scored 13 and 12 respectively.

Tomorrow's opponent, USF, features a front line of Joe Ellis, rated "the most complete basketball player in the conference," WCAC rebounding and field goal percentage leader Ollie Johnson, and Erwin Mueller, second in the latter department.

The Spartababes, who led the Colts 38-32 at halftime before losing 75-63, face the USF frosh, the only team which has defeated the Colts, tomorrow at 6 p.m.

Weekend Spartan Sports Results

Heavyweight Ray Lychak won all three of his matches and Loren Miller suffered his first dual meet loss of the season, as the grapplers defeated UCLA 21-10, and lost to Cal Poly 20-6 and Oregon 18-8 at the men's gym Saturday.

The wrestlers play host to Stanford today at 7:30 p.m. in the wrestling room. Freshman and junior varsity competition begins at 6 p.m.

Miller, 147 lbs., was defeated by Doug Robertson, Pacific Coast champion from Oregon, who won the match in the last 10 seconds.

Art Beatty, 137 lbs., won two and lost one. One of his victories was against Mike Ruiz of Cal Poly, one of the top wrestlers on the coast.

GYMNASTICS
Rich Chew, fifth best all around gymnast on the west coast, captured 11 out of 14 possible first places as he sparked SJS's two dual meet victories Saturday.

The Spartans defeated the University of California at Santa Barbara 69-50, and San Francisco State 69-51 at the Spartan gym.

Jeff Milman captured two first places in the trampoline. Jeff Wolfe, who rejoined the team after a year's absence, accounted for 14 points in the two meets.

SWIMMING
The SJS aquamen lost to Chico State 54-51, but trounced San Francisco State 69-27 in semester break competition.

In the Chico meet, Spartan backstroker Al Kelly was barely nosed out for first place. Tom Eldridge won the butterfly in 12:18.1, Steve Hancock won the diving competition by a 30-point margin, Jay Dore won the breaststroke in 2:30.1, Mike Hanson won the 50- and 100-yard sprints, and the Spartan medley relay team was also victorious.

The mermen won every event against weak SFS except the breaststroke and individual medley.

TRACK
The Spartan mile relay team which had apparently won the event at the Los Angeles Times Indoor Track Meet Saturday, was disqualified for running out of its lane.

Despite the disqualification the team proved it will be one of the favorites in the NCAA championship meet. Sophomore Tom Smith ran away from Olympic gold medalist Mike Larabee on the anchor leg.

GOLF
Qualifying for the varsity golf team continues this week as SJS prepares for the opening match March 1.
