Nigerian Changes His Impressions of America

By MINAKO IYAMA
The picture of America seems to have changed for Amaraeghu Asic Olumba, SJS student from Nigeria majoring in electrical engineering.

A year ago, Olumba said, jokingly, "The Americans do actually believe that we live in jungles with wild animals in Africa. To tell the truth, I saw a real lion and a real elephant for the first time a year ago in Washington, D.C."

AMARAEGHU ASIC OLUMBA ... unhappy exchange student

"A student asked me once if we still eat human beings in Africa," Olumba recalls he replied with a big smile, "I could walk 10 miles at night without a gun."

"Now, however, Olumba is more serious. "When I introduced myself as 'Olumba from Nigeria,' I always received a lot of commendation, cheers, and smiles," he remembers, "but after living in America for

Driggs, Garcia Commentator Argue Over Cuba Problem Will Discuss Cold War

By STEVE AGOSTA
"Why communism in Cuba? Why?"
These are the words of a San Jose teacher by the name of Garcia. Garcia met Steve Driggs last evening in a much talked about debate on Cuba held in Allen Hall.

Garcia, who prefers to keep his first name anonymous, challenged Driggs to the debate charging that Driggs "lied about the Cuban situation" in a panel talk earlier this semester.

The native Cuban listed three types of persons who are in favor of the Castro regime in Cuba: "those in the red spectrum, pseudo-intellectuals and green, immature ideologists."

Garcia included some college students in the third group, saying that these students "Take a few political science courses, may or may not wear a beard and sandals, may or may not take a bath once a week, and think they know all the answers about Cuba."

DRIGGS SPEAKS
Driggs opened his part of the debate pointing out that he would tell what he saw in Cuba as a tourist this past summer. Driggs emphasized that he does not believe all is right in Cuba, but added that the present government has helped the Cuban people.

Elie Abel, NBC foreign affairs commentator, will discuss "Fifteen Years of Cold War—A Checklist of Gains and Losses" in Concert Hall tomorrow at 11:30 a.m. As a former roving reporter for the New York Times, Abel has witnessed firsthand many of the events which history later recorded as gains and losses for the West.

ELIE ABEL ... globe-trotting reporter

Abel is a graduate of McGill University and the Columbia University School of Journalism. He served with a Royal Canadian Air Force radar unit during World War II.

When the war ended, he became United Nations correspondent for the Overseas News Agency. Joining the Times in 1949, Abel reported from most of the Eastern European capitals as well as India, Pakistan, Nepal and Ceylon. One of his strangest experiences, he recalled, took place near Tezpur, India, where he was waiting to report the Dalai Lama's flight from the Communists in Tibet.

"He came through about 8 a.m. in a jeep," said Abel, "surrounded by his companions, men wearing American-style felt hats along with their traditional long robes. It was quite a sight."

In 1959 Abel became chief of the Washington bureau of the Detroit News. Two years later he joined NBC.

Abel is a member of the National Press Club and Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalism society. His lecture is sponsored by the College Lecture Committee, the Journalism and Advertising Department and the Associated Student Body. It is open to the public without charge.

Other Side of Story Told; 'False Charges,' Say Police

By GERALD GUIBOR
More light was shed yesterday on students' testimonies before Student Council Friday afternoon. The other side of the picture, from the city's point of view, was learned yesterday when Police Chief Ray Blackmore, H. O. Jensen, ABC officer, and ASB Attorney General Bill Holley gave statements to Spartan Daily.

Profs Discuss Instructors' Strike Right

Do teachers — and especially, college instructors — have the right to strike?

A panel of four SJS professors discussed this question yesterday afternoon in Cafeteria Rooms A and B.

The panel members were Drs. Roland F. Lee, associate professor of English, Richard G. Tansey, professor of art, William R. Rogers, professor of education and Bert M. Morris, professor of chemistry.

Drs. Tansey and Lee argued that instructors do have the right to strike, while Drs. Morris and Rogers took the opposite position. A New York City case was cited by Drs. Tansey and Lee in which teachers, by threatening to strike, were able to lower the number of students in their classrooms.

If the public delays such needed improvements, Lee said, teachers not only have the right to strike, but are morally obligated to strike for the public's interest.

Both professors for the affirmative stated that teachers should have a voice in setting their salaries and the conditions under which they teach. Dr. Morris opened for the opposition, agreeing that teachers should have the right to strike if other groups do.

He pointed out that national strikes affect nearly everyone instead of single employers. "We no longer strike against a single employer, but (in this case) against our students."

"If we strike," Dr. Morris concluded, "we would not be teaching reason — but force."

Dr. Rogers, speaking last on the panel, said: "A strike would be a test of endurance rather than a test of right or wrong. We are leaders in our profession, and as such we should be able to convince the people with whom we associate through reason — not with our power to strike."

Students claimed Friday that they had "rights taken away" or "were mistreated by officers."

'FALSE CHARGES'
Police Chief Blackmore said, "The report I heard from the ABC said that charges against the Police Department are false."

"An ABC employee said that he was proud of San Jose Police officers, principally those who conducted themselves as gentlemen."

The Police Chief continued, "No one was pushed around. Officers performed the operation as it should be done, particularly when handling not criminals, but plain, everyday good John Doe college students that went astray for a few minutes."

'ENCOURAGED'
One of the six students who appeared Friday said that he was "encouraged to get a beer. When I had one in hand, an officer grabbed me by the back of the neck," the student said.

A comment from ABC officer H. O. Jensen said: "I wasn't there exactly at the time when this might have occurred." He added,

"but it is not our department's practice to entrap or mishandle them."

ENTRAPMENT
On the question of using entrapment as a defense for the students, District Attorney Louis Bergna said: "The defense of entrapment is available only when it was not the defendant's intent to commit crime, but when the crime was actually planned or instigated by the police." However, he said that the law states: if the defendant's intent were present, then arrest by decoy does not constitute entrapment.

ASB Attorney General Bill Holley stated, "No charges against the police will be made."

At the same time, he said, "We have hope that such occurrences do not happen again. We are trying to take care of the students who have been victimized."

Holley went on to say that there is "cause to believe what happened is the police's authority. The minor nature of this whole situation is a tempest in a teapot."

BLUNDER
He also said that in his opinion, "There is no reason for the way the incident was handled. I think it was a blunder on the part of the administration and the police department."

In effect, the intent of student government is the hope that students will get due consideration from the police. This is hoped for in terms of the students' future records.

It has been pointed out already by ASB Pres. Steve Larson that they "have committed crimes."

Students claimed Friday that they had "rights taken away" or "were mistreated by officers."

'FALSE CHARGES'
Police Chief Blackmore said, "The report I heard from the ABC said that charges against the Police Department are false."

Beers and Tears

Six students told a sad story to Student Council Friday. They claimed they were treated unfairly after being arrested at a beer bust one week earlier.

The students, all under 21, were among 14 arrested when the state Alcohol Beverage Control (ABC) decided to put an end to the weekly "buck-a-head" beer parties sponsored by enterprising SJS students.

What the students told Student Council was supposed to show cases of mistreatment by police and ABC officials. It was supposed to show unfair dealings by jail guards and matrons.

The whole thing made us think of a line from a college drinking song that goes, "She wept a sad tear in her bucket of beer." There were tears wept Friday afternoon in Student Council, but we think it was all a waste of time.

For more than an hour the students "testified," and as the afternoon wore on, the only real complaint we heard was of ABC plainclothesmen urging the party goers to drink more beer. But even this is completely within the existing law.

The other complaints of being handcuffed, laughed at in jail, and on and on seemed rather insignificant, especially since San Jose Police Chief Ray Blackmore was commended by the ABC officials for the way the students were handled.

Another interesting fact came up Friday. Each time one of the six students was asked straightforward if he felt he had been roughed up, the student answered, "No."

It's unfortunate that so many young students had to be involved in the raid, but the facts are that they were all underage, at the beer bust, and had consumed some beer. Whether they were drunk or not, they were breaking the law.

Underage drinking goes on en masse on this and just about any other campus in America. It goes on every Friday afternoon and night, and every time a minor lifts a cup of beer to his mouth, he knows of the gamble he is taking.

If he's careful he won't get caught. If he gets caught, he's in trouble. A spade's a spade.

But to cry about it is like the spilt milk bit. It's a little late. We suggest that Student Council forget about the whole thing. Council has little to stand on, and the flimsy charges are hardly worth jeopardizing good relations with a friendly police force.

If minors want to drink, they must learn the consequences of getting caught. Either that or drink where they won't get caught.

After all, getting arrested for drinking is a downright sobering experience.—J.A.

HAPPINESS CAN'T BUY MONEY

With tuition costs steadily on the rise, more and more undergraduates are looking into the student loan plan. If you are one such, you would do well to consider the case of Leonid Sigafos.

Leonid, the son of an unemployed bean gleaner in Straightened Circumstances, Montana, had his heart set on going to college, but his father, alas, could not afford to send him. Leonid applied for a Regents Scholarship, but his reading speed, alas, was not very rapid—three words an hour—and before he could finish the first page of his exam, the Regents had closed their briefcases crossly and gone home. Leonid then applied for an athletic scholarship, but he had, alas, only a single athletic skill—picking up beebees with his toes—and this, alas, aroused only fleeting enthusiasm among the coaches.

And then—happy day!—Leonid learned of the student loan plan: he could borrow money for his tuition and repay it in easy installments after he left school!

Happily Leonid enrolled in the Southeastern Montana College of Lanolin and Restoration Drama and happily began a college career that grew happier year by year. Indeed, it became altogether ecstatic in his senior year because Leonid met a coed named Anna Livia Plurabelle with hair like beaten gold and eyes like two sockets full of Lake Louise. Love gripped them in its big moist palm, and they were betrothed on St. Crispin's Day.

Happily they made plans to be married immediately after commencement—plans, alas, that were never to come to fruition because Leonid, alas, learned that Anna Livia, like himself, was in college on a student loan, which meant that he not only had to repay his own loan after graduation but also Anna Livia's and the job, alas, that was waiting for Leonid at the Butte Otter Works simply did not pay enough, alas, to cover both loans, plus rent and food and clothing and television repairs.

Heavy hearted, Leonid and Anna Livia sat down and lit Marlboro Cigarettes and tried to find an answer to their problem—and, sure enough, they did! I do not know whether or not Marlboro Cigarettes helped them find an answer; all I know is that Marlboros taste good and look good and filter good, and when the clouds gather and the world is black as the pit from pole to pole, it is a heap of comfort and satisfaction to be sure that Marlboros will always provide the same easy pleasure, the same unstinting tobacco flavor, in all times and climes and conditions. That's all I know.

Leonid and Anna Livia, I say, did find an answer—a very simple one. If their student loans did not come due until they left school, why then they just wouldn't leave school! So after receiving their bachelor's degrees, they re-enrolled and took master's degrees. After that they took doctor's degrees—loads and loads of them—until today Leonid and Anna Livia, both aged 87, both still in school, hold doctorates in Philosophy, Humane Letters, Jurisprudence, Veterinary Medicine, Civil Engineering, Optometry, Woodpulp, and Dewey Decimals.

Their student loans, at the end of the last fiscal year, amounted to a combined total of nineteen million dollars—a sum which they probably would have found some difficulty in repaying had not the Department of the Interior recently declared them a National Park.

You don't need a student loan—just a little loose change—to grab a pack of smoking pleasure: Marlboros, sold in all fifty states in familiar soft pack and Flip-Top box.

Stimulated Economy Boosts British Tories

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Last April, with one eye on the British voter and the other on Britain's dawdling economy, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government cut taxes and launched an impressive program to stimulate industry.

From an economic standpoint, the program has lived up to the hopes of its planners.

Last week Britain's industrial production index hit a new high, and UPI's London financial editor, Harry Hobbs, reported Britain "still in the process of steady expansion."

Heavy Communist purchases of grain have sent freight rates skyrocketing, and long-depressed shipping firms now are earning fat profits.

Shipbuilding has come to life under the stimulus of government credit for new tonnage.

The Bank of England has eased credit restrictions to permit close to a billion dollars in fresh money to be made available to industrial and individual borrowers.

The stock market, which had hesitated as Conservative party leaders squabbled over the selection of a man to fill the prime minister's post left vacant by the ailing Macmillan, resumed its advance and closed out the week at a new high for the year.

Exports were continuing their steady rise.

A further sign of economic health was the fact the government permitted several million pounds sterling to leave the country for investment in a new nylon plant in West Germany.

Throughout the country, unemployment which had been a cause of mounting concern only six months ago, was declining steadily.

All of this was good news for Britain, and under other circumstances the Conservatives logically might well expect some rewards from the voters.

Professional football's proverb that "on any given day any team can beat any other team" was realized Sunday at Kezar Stadium. The previously winless San Francisco 49ers outfought the previously undefeated Chicago Bears 20-14 for the biggest upset of the season.

Up in the stands before the game the spectators were relaxed and cordial.

It was a good day for football and the color and thrill of the Sunday afternoon pageantry made the stadium a true sportsman's haven. Fans greeted each other with a sheepish, "Well here we go again."

Then the spectators broke into a roaring laughter. But the wide grins yielded an air of tragedy. Down on the track the 49er donkey was being led around wearing a sign which read: "For Sale . . . Easy Terms."

Soon after the kickoff it became apparent that the 49ers were on fire. Forty-niner fans aren't gracious but they do respect effort and spirit. And when the gun sounded an "old man" (synonymous with Title) named Lamar McHan and a gutsy defense sent the Bears homeward licking their wounds.

The donkey paraded around without his "for sale" sign and someone in the crowd was bombarded with cushions when he hollered, "We want Brodie."

Dr. Benjamin T. Sims, in his Thrust and Parry letter of Oct. 17, charges that my Oct. 14 letter was "unjustified." I fail to see anything unjustified about it. My disrespect for those in authority above me is quite justified since they obviously have no respect for me or for my basic dignity. I also fail to see what is impertinent about my criticism of a double social standard of behavior (Dr. Sims would scream bloody murder if HE were hauled off to jail for possession of alcoholic beverages).

Just because I advocate justice does not mean that I advocate anarchy, and a college professor should certainly know better than to suggest such nonsense. Where Dr. Sims got the idea that the word "freedom" was mentioned in my letter is a mystery. I do not consider myself qualified to talk about freedom, never having had any. Also, since Dr. Sims said a number of statements in my letter could be questioned I choose to challenge him to public debate on this subject at place and time of his choosing.

Finally, I would like Dr. Sims to know that he needn't go off to joust with the officials of the high school I attended; may he be assured that they tried their utmost to change me into the kind of bowing and scraping automaton he would like me to be.

"BROTHER" OWREN

Firmly 'Anchored' Delta Sig Active

"You lose," shouted Delta Sigma Phi fall pledges after they tied, strapped and handcuffed George Owren, Delta Sig house manager, to the Delta Gamma anchor recently.

Owren was lured to the D. G. house by the sorority's house manager under the false pretense of swapping houses for two weeks. He was met by 18 Delta Sig pledges rather than one lovely house manager. After a brief moment of captivity, the brave actives showed up to rescue "brother" Owren.

The Delta Sig actives appear to be getting the poor end of the bargain. The overly confident and mischievous pledges began the year by making a menagerie out of the fraternity. How would you like to awaken to an iguana looking at you? Well, the brothers not only awakened to the iguana, but to two rats, seven birds, one guinea pig, and the tangy fragrance of flaming limburger cheese. Now isn't that taking things a little bit too far?

Prof Exhibits Paintings At College Art Gallery

An exhibition of oil paintings by Fred Spratt, assistant professor of art, are now on view at the College Art Gallery until Oct. 28.

The fourteen paintings on exhibition are among many produced by Spratt while on a year's sabbatical leave. During this time he spent nine months living and painting in St. Ives and Cornwall, England, where he became acquainted with many prominent British painters. He also toured galleries and museums in France, Holland, and Belgium.

In painting his landscape works, Spratt was amazed to discover, when he arrived in Cornwall, that he had already been painting this quality of country prior to ever going there.

Cornwall possesses for a unique attraction for the painter-professor. "The Penwith Peninsula, barely a dozen miles across in Cornwall, conveys an overwhelming sense of age," commented Spratt. "It is visible in an eroded granite coast and outcropping, remnants of tin mines dating to pre-Roman times, the mass of moorland, and the awesomeness of the North Atlantic, hardly ever out of sight."

Spratt was born in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and has studied painting at the Dallas Museum of Fine Art. He holds a B.A. in art from Iowa Wesleyan College and an M.S. in art from the State University of Iowa. As a recognized painter and teacher, his work has received awards from the Des Moines Art Center, the California Museum Association, the Crocker Gallery in Sacramento, and the California State Fair and Exposition.

Hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on weekdays and from 1:15 to 5 p.m. on Sundays during the run of each exhibition.

Music Fraternity Gives First Recital Tonight

Phi Mu Alpha, honorary men's music fraternity, will present its first recital this semester tonight at 8:15 in Concert Hall.

Opening the program will be Telemann's "Sonata for Bassoon" performed by Larry Fryman on the bassoon, Linda Stricklen on the cello, and James Curtis on the harpsichord.

Following this will be three songs by Carson Wong, baritone, with Dae Baird accompanying him on the piano. The pieces will be Handel's "Where'er You Walk," Purcell's "I Attempt from Love's Sickness to Fly," and Marikanto's "A Fairy Story by the Fire."

With his trumpet, Richard Pedro will play Haydn's "Concerto for Trumpet." Also, Nick Gallo, piano, will play Bach's, "French Suite No. 3."

Concluding the program will be Handel's "Trio Sonata for Two Oboes and Figured-Bass," performed by Wayne Sorensen, associate professor of music, and Gary Gray on the oboes; Larry Fryman on the bassoon; and Margaret Brownlee on the harpsichord.

Student Is Chosen For New Zealand Teaching Position

Most SJS students graduate and work in this community or the state. But Darrell "Dee" Ebert, senior art major, will be teaching in New Zealand beginning in January and lasting 3 years.

Upon receiving his degree in art and a secondary teaching credential, Ebert will board an ocean liner in San Francisco and head for the coal mining town of Greymouth. Here he will teach in a high school.

While in New Zealand, he will be living in a dormitory, where he will be getting room and board for supervising students.

Republican Hits Foreign Aid Waste

"Why should the U.S. spend $3.1 billion on an air-conditioned yacht for the emperor of Ethiopia when 17 million Americans go to bed hungry every night?" Republican Congressman Ed Foreman of Texas asks.

Foreman attacked what he calls "wasteful government foreign aid" in a speech before the Santa Clara County Young Republicans last Friday night.

Foreman pointed out that the U.S. is giving $130 billion in aid to 104 out of the 112 countries of the world. "We have supported Communist dictatorships throughout the world," the Texas representative charged.

Foreman described how the U.S. loaned $2.5 million interest-free for the first 10 years and at a rate of 3/4 of one per cent per year following the first 10 years to the Yugoslavian government.

Adaptation of Steinbeck Book, 'Grapes of Wrath,' Tomorrow

"The Grapes of Wrath," a cinematic presentation of John Steinbeck's novel, is the feature classic film for tomorrow afternoon and evening.

Director John Ford feels that many novels comprise elements which cannot be assimilated by the cinema. Novels which keep within the confines encompassed by film can naturally be expected to favor cinematic adaptations.

This is confirmed by Ford's treatment of Steinbeck's novel.

"In recording and exploring physical reality, the cinema virtually challenges us to confront that reality with the notions we commonly entertain about its significance. It keeps us from perceiving it. Perhaps part of the medium's significance lies in its revealing power," said one film critic.

"Grapes of Wrath" will be accompanied by "A Little Phantasy on a 19th Century Painting," "Isle of the Dead," by the nineteenth-century painter, Arnold Boecklin, is the subject of this experiment in the art of cinema.

Both films may be seen in TH55 at 3:30 or 7 p.m.

Gator Booters Meet Hungry SJS Tonight

San Francisco State's Golden Gators invade Spartan Stadium tonight for a second-round NorCal League soccer match with San Jose State at 8 p.m.

The Gators are winless in league play and lost to the Spartans 5-0 Oct. 7. San Jose has suffered two in the opening circuit encounter consecutive setbacks since playing against the Gators and are 2-2 in league action.

Stanford edged the Spartans 5-4 in overtime Saturday at Palo Alto. It was a heartbreaking defeat for San Jose State after losing to California 3-2 earlier in the week.

Al Korbus, Lou Fraser, Efiok Akpan and Asman Kahn scored the Spartan goals against the Indians. Klaus Bergman led Stanford's scoring attack with two goals.

The victory put the Indians in first place in the NorCal League with a 2-0 league mark and increased their season record to 4-0. California's tie game Saturday (0-0) with San Francisco University gave the Indians the lead.

San Jose State's only other league win came with a 8-0 shut-out of University of San Francisco. Until the Cal clash, the Spartans were undefeated with a 6-0 mark but now stand at 6-2.

Korbus and Akpan continue to lead the San Jose scoring attack. Korbus has scored 16 goals and Akpan 14 in the Spartan's eight contests.

Defensively, Valdis Svans has been doing a fine job in the nets for the Spartans while Ed Zumot, Tom Zinter, and Dave Kingsley have also been doing quite well for coach Julie Menendez.

San Jose still is not out of the NorCal League race although with two defeats, Stanford has to play Cal and USF twice each yet while the Spartans have one game remaining with both Cal and Stanford.

FORTY-TWO SKIDOO—Walt Roberts (right) heads goalward as another 42—Cal's Jerry Mosher—manages to trip him up on the Bear three. On the next play Herb Engel cracked over for the score to give the Spartans a momentary one-touchdown lead early in the first quarter of Saturday's 34-13 Cal victory.

A Coach's Proudest Moment

"We were hoping for a 5-2 season this year, but after what I saw out there today, there's no reason why we can't make it 5-1-1. Okay?" A resounding cheer went up.

The scene was Memorial Stadium in Berkeley and the speaker was Bob Jones, San Jose State freshman coach, who had just watched his yearlings stand off the mighty California frosh 0-0.

"I've never been prouder of a winning effort by any team I have coached — and that's been since 1949," Jones said. "We played a terrific game on defense and that was the difference."

The frosh mentor called the deadlock the biggest achievement by any Spartababe team he's coached. "We tied Stanford the first year I was here, but the Cal team we met today was much stronger."

The Cubs, who murdered (44-0) the same Fresno State frosh team that the Spartababes handled 22-12, had a chance to score late in the game. They had the ball on the SJS three, with fourth down and goal.

A Karl Dawkins pass was thrown too high in the end zone and SJS had held with 1:44 showing on the scoreboard clock.

Cal picked up 328 total offensive yards to the Spartababes 108. Cal amassed 254 yards rushing as compared to the 471 yards they ground out against FSC.

San Jose came close to stealing away a victory. In the second quarter, Ray Blute rolled out and suddenly whirled and threw cross-field to Gary Stepansky, SJS halfback. With nothing but clear field ahead of him, Stepansky dropped the ball.

"Larry Hunsaker, just a skinny kid, was our most valuable man out there . . . Chuck Rogers and Chuck Gillingham did a great job, but it's hard to single out a few, when it's a team victory," Jones said.

San Jose meets University of Pacific frosh Thursday at Stockton. Game time is 3 p.m.

Owls Squash SJS Poloists; UOP Next Foe

Dismayed by Saturday's 13-3 thumping at the hands of Foothill College, the Spartan water polo varsity began preparations today for a revenge victory against UOP Friday night in the Spartan Pool.

Coach Lee Walton said, "We didn't have a good mental attitude—the boys wanted to win, but not bad enough."

Pete Sagues, who won the sprints 75 per cent of the time and played aggressive defense, Mike Hansen and Charley Douglas were the only ones singled out by Walton for top efforts. Hansen scored two of the locals' three points.

All-American poloist Bobby Benson tallied four goals for the Owls. It was coach Nort Thornton's second straight win over the Spartans this year and left the SJS seven with a 2-5 NorCal League mark.

The freshmen also found themselves on the short end Saturday, dropping their first NorCal League game, 7-3 to the Owl reserves. "Our 1-2 scoring punch (Jack Likins and Greg Buckingham) had their worst days and it really hurt," Walton said.

Spartan Harriers Smother Cal; Face Golden Gate Track Club

San Jose State's varsity and freshman cross-country teams handily smothered Cal Saturday but this week's meet won't be a "patsy."

The Spartan varsity faces the Golden Gate Track Club, here Saturday. Miller fears them because of experienced runners like Ron Davis, Craig Spillman, Phil Darnall, Dave Kammeyer and Bill Morgan.

Gene Gurule, Ben Tucker, Jeff Fishback and Danny Murphy finished abreast at the end of four miles at Berkeley, all timed in 20:06. Tom Tuite was 15 yards behind in 20:11.

Freshman Bob Price was the first Bear finisher, ending up sixth behind Tuite.

Coach Dean Miller said that the course was muddy from rains the previous day forcing his team to wear spikes.

Murphy ran well on his bad ankle, injured in a Wednesday workout. Rich Fernandez elected not to test his tender ankle and took the weekend off.

The varsity ran as a team the last mile over the Strawberry Canyon course, racking up their seventh straight perfect score against Cal.

It was also Miller's 109th dual meet win without a loss.

"It was wonderful," was all that Miller had to say about his varsity, but he was more enthusiastic over his freshmen runners.

George Rios "ran his guts out" trying to catch Price and missed by eight yards, finishing seventh in 20:15. Darrell Dunafon surprised everyone by following Rios across the tape.

Dunafon, a 4:19.6 miler at San Diego, ran his best race of the season, and apparently had plenty of reserve at the finish.

Bill Myers was the third frosh finisher. All three led George Linn, the No. 1 Bear varsity performer to the finish.

In comparing scores, the frosh showed a 22-38 edge over the Cal varsity while posting a 20-43 win over the Bearcubs.

Price, a 4:14.6 miler as a prep in upper state Washington, is the only bright light on a bleak California cross-country team. Price defeated Rios in what apparently was a fluke at the Sacramento Invitational when the Spartababe took a wrong turn.

However, the Cal runner showed it was no fluke Saturday.
