ABSTRACT

The annotated bibliography was designed to assist teacher-coordinators in cooperative occupational education to be more efficient and effective in selecting, utilizing, and recommending the purchase of instructional materials. A consultant panel of 10 experienced local teacher-coordinators reviewed materials from over 700 publishers. Only those items determined by the panel to be of the most value to local teacher-coordinators are included in the bibliography. The material reviewed for this purpose has been separated into seven major divisions -- the State of Illinois System of five broad occupational fields (applied biological and agriculture; business, marketing and management; health; industrial; and personal and public services) plus special programs, and generally related instructional materials. Within these areas the documents are arranged following a code based on the U.S. Office of Education Codes for Occupational Areas. Eachentry lists title, author, publisher, relevant occupational field, media type, a short discussion of the subject content, cost, learning effectiveness, cost effectiveness, and a comment on possible uses of the material. Concluding the document is a list of publishers' addresses. (BP)

PREFACE AND PROCEDURE

This annotated bibliography has been prepared to assist teacher-coordinators in cooperative occupational education to be more efficient and effective in selecting, utilizing, and recommending the purchase of instructional materials. To achieve this goal, ten experienced local teacher-coordinators in all of the types of cooperative education programs operating in the State of Illinois were hired as a consultant panel. They reviewed the materials that were secured by contacting over 700 publishers of various types of instructional materials. The consultants also assisted in designing a procedure to follow in securing, annotating, and evaluating instructional materials in addition to actually evaluating materials and securing the cooperation of other local coordinators in the field to help in the testing of the materials.

Because individual teachers are busy and lack both the time and financial resources to examine or purchase the tremendous quantity of available materials, a decision was made to only list those instructional materials that were actually reviewed by the consultants and determined to be, in their judgment, the "best buy" for most local teacher-coordinators of cooperative vocational education.

Even though 700 producers of materials were contacted, not all good materials available in the field were evaluated. Hopefully, this publication will be updated regularly and additional materials will be listed that were not included in this edition.

The materials listed, the annotations and the ratings are those of the members of the consultant panel and not those of the project staff or any other individual or agency. The reading level for printed materials was determined by a trained reading specialist. Only minor editing was performed by the project staff to insure consistency in the annotations.

Teacher-coordinators are always looking for new materials and techniques, for doing their job even better. Keeping in contact with publishers by attending meetings and reading professional literature is essential. It is also important to get to know the sames representatives from various publishers and to learn about the services they have available for schools. The prices listed in this publication are subject to change. Please write for current prices to the publishers listed.

This publication was designed to be just one possible guide for locating cooperative education instructional materials, not as the source. Additional details on the procedure that was followed in contacting publishers, securing, annotating, and evaluating the instructional materials that were received from publishers may be secured upon request. Special efforc was expended to help to make this document as useful as possible for the local teacher-coordinator.

A special thank you is extended to the members of the consultant panel for the tremendous amount of time and effort that they devoted to making this a useful publication for teacher-coordinators of cooperative occupational education. Gratitude is also expressed to the staff of the State of Illinois Division of Vocational and Technical Education for their outstanding professional contributions.

EXPLANATION OF ANNOTATION CODING

THE ANNOTATIONS HAVE BEEN SEPARATED INTO SEVEN MAJOR DIVISIONS. THE STATE OF ILLINOIS SYSTEM OF FIVE BROAD OCCUPATIONAL FIELDS, SPECIAL PROGRAMS, AND GENERAL RELATED INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS. TO ASSIST TEACHER-COORDINATORS IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF THEIR OWN SYSTEMS FOR INDIVIDUALIZING INSTRUCTION, A NUMERICAL CODING SYSTEM HAS BEEN UTILIZED BASED ON THE U. S. OFFICE OF EDUCATION CODES FOR OCCUPATIONAL AREAS.

TITLE: CASE STUDIES IN MARKETING AND DISTRIBUTION AUTHOR: Rath. Tapp, and Mason

CO 040 010

PUBLISHER: The Interstate Printers and Publishers, Inc.

pp. 175 - $2.00

RELEVANT TO: Marketing

Copyright: 1965 Reading level: 10-12

TYPE OF MEDIA: Textbook
SUBJECT CONTENT: This book provides genuine "thinking material"--twenty-five case studies in marketing and distribution which have been taken from actual experience. Only the names and places have been changed. These cases will assist distributive education and other marketing students in learning to make valid decisions based on sound judgments.

COST: Above average LEARNING EFFECTIVENESS: Very good COST-EFFECTIVENESS: Very good buy

COMMENT: Effectivenly used, these case studies become guides in developing decision-making abilities by stressing the process of logical thinking rather than that of memorizing. The cases provide active opportunities for learning from a variety of experiences. The case studies are arranged in order of difficulty.

CO 040 011

4 programs - slides $80.00 per set

RELEVANT TO: Marketing TYPE OF MEDIA: Slides and script

Copyright: 1970-1972 Grade level: 11-12

SUBJECT CONTENT: This series brings together a variety of programs all containing creative and innovative approaches in a diverse number of distributive areas, i.e., display new storetypes, original selling avenues -- to name a few. COST: Above average

LEARNING EFFECTIVENESS: Very good COST-EFFECTIVENESS: Very good buy

COMMENT: The series includes four programs, each with a distinctive focus. Surveying the nation for new tendencies in display and all forms of customer-store communications is done by New Trends in Advertising, Promotion & Display. A similar job is done on overseas marketing in Lessons in Marketing from Abroad. Four problem areas--service, departmental looks, use of gimmicks and merchandising combinations—are the subject of Profitable Merchandising Techniques. And two case histories on one of the exciting developments in retailing—do-it—yourself in both fashion and home furnishings -- are dramatically documented in Promoting New Merchandise Ideas.

CO 170 015 5 sets of transparencies $85.00 each

Revised: 1972 Reading level: 11-12

TYPE OF MEDIA: Teacher guide, transparencies

RELEVANT (0: Inter-related, industrial

SUBJECT CONTENT: A series of 5 sets of transparencies dealing with principles and applications of fluid mechanics. The set covers topics: 1) Fundamental Fluid Laws; 2) Fluid Conditioning and auxiliary devices; 3) Fluid Power Input and Output Devices; 4) Hydraulic Input Devices; 5) Energy Modulation and Control Devices.
