ABSTRACT

This document was produced by the Family Resource Center, a federally funded project designed to develop and share resources and information on youth services, child abuse and neglect, and child welfare in Region VIII, which includes Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Montana. This resource guide contains introductory statistical information on the Indian population and state foster care of Indian children in the region. The major part of the guide lists resources pertaining to services for American Indian youth. The listings in the resource guide pertain to various topic areas, such as strengthening Indian families and youth, strengthening Indian identity, youth participation and development, teen parenting among Indian youth, youth abuse and neglect among American Indians, drug abuse and Indian youth, delinquency and status offenders, runaways, residential treatment facilities, independent living programs and emancipation services, and suicide among Indian youth. Each listing contains names and addresses of national resources, specific Indian programs, contacts in and out of the region, ideas for funding sources, and a bibliography. Six selected youth programs in Region VIII that serve Indian youth are described in the last section of the guide. (ERB)

Introduction

The Family Resource Center is a federally funded project designed to develop and share resources and information on youth services, child abuse and neglect, and child welfare in Region VIII, which consists of six states and 23 tribes.

The American Indian youth population is increasing, and Indian youths are vulnerable to stress and cross cultural adjustments in a complex world.

This Resource Guide will enable providers of service to American Indian youth to better understand, implement and deliver programs to this diverse population with many needs and expectations.

In order to complete this Guide, members of a region-wide Task Force of American Indian youth providers were asked to participate by giving their recommendations as to the content areas needed in a Resource Guide for working with youth from various tribal nations in this area. This Guide is an attempt to integrate their ideas and suggestions into a workable packet for networking and sharing of resources from this region.

The Region VIII Family Resource Center wishes to acknowledge the individuals and agencies that assisted in the development of this resource guide. Many of those individuals and agencies are listed as resources in the guide itself.

In particular, the Center appreciates the assistance of the Indian Youth Network members who have affirmed the need for resources for Indian youth service programs. Those individuals and their programs are listed on the following page.

Also, the Center thanks Oneida Little, Region VIII Children's Bureau, and Anselm Roanhorse of the Navajo Nation.

Native American Population
Region VIII
1980 U.S. Census

Total U.S. Population: 226,504,825
 American Indian, Eskimo, Aleut 1,418,195* (6%)
 *(actual number is probably larger)

	Colorado	Montana	N.Dakota	S.Dakota	Utah	Wyoming	Region
Population by State	2,888,834	786,690	652,695	690,178	1,461,037	470,816	6,950,250

% of Total State Pop.	.6	4.7	3.1	6.5	1.3	1.5

National ranking of Region VIII states by Native American Population is: South Dakota (8th), Montana (12th), North Dakota (16th), Utah (18th), Colorado (19th), and Wyoming (25th).

States having larger Native American populations than South Dakota are: California, Oklahoma, Arizona, New Mexico, North Carolina, Alaska and Washington. Between South Dakota and Montana are Texas, Michigan and New York.

American Indian Children in State Foster Care (1982)¹

	Colorado	montana	N.Dakota	S.Dakota	Utah	wyoming
Indian Pop. (under 21)	7,763	18,988	11,022	24,832	11,132	3,460
In Foster Care ²	40	171	226	488	145	13

² Number of children in foster care on any one day in 1982

The number of Indian children in State foster care systems varies from 0 to 622. There are 13 states with 100 or more Indian children in the State's foster care systems; the largest number of Indian children in a State's foster care system is 622, in Minnesota. Arizona and New Mexico, which have large numbers of Indian children less than 21 years have very low rates, 10 and 13 respectively. These figures do not include the Indian children in foster care under the supervision of the Indian Tribal Organizations or private arrangements. Consequently, the reported State figure undercounts Indian children in foster care which may account for the low rates in some states with large numbers of Indian Children. (p.2)

Goals:

- To reunite families whose children have been placed in substitute care
- To keep families together who are "at risk" of losing custody of their children
- To strengthen intact families

Background:

Prior to this program 74% of children were placed off the reservation with histories of long term foster care, and generally placed in non-Indian homes.

Program

Description:

Counseling, referral, transportation, advocacy, outreach services, parenting skills aimed at strengthening family functioning, coordinated with day care.

Client

Characteristics:

Parents and children needing support services to remain together and not be separated (underemployed, educationally disadvantaged, drug abusers)

Bismarck, ND 58502

(701) 255-2773

Contact Person: Jeffrey Hanson, Program Director

Goals: Two group Homes, dealing with short term treatment and evaluation, shelter care, and long term care.

Program Description:

CHYS operates two homes: GoodBird Home, which combines long term care with emergency placement, runaway program and the like. Group counseling is available as well as individual counseling. The Hall Home program is a short term treatment and evaluation program with more concentrated therapy and a goal of getting the child ready for less restrictive placement, i.e., with the family, in foster care, etc.

The program is very versatile, uses a great deal of local resources and attempts to meet the needs of children as can best be met.

Client Characteristics:

Serve youth between 10-18 years old, preference given to Native American clients.

Staff:

Director	Recreational Director
Program Director	House parent aide
Two house parents	Transportation aide
Tutors

Funding:

60% - fee for service (State, BIA)
30% - private donation

Juvenile Intervention Center
P.O. Box 262
Sisseton, SD 57262

(605) 698-3911

Contact Person: Sandra Circle Bear, Director

Goals: The Juvenile Center is designed to help young people in trouble. The Center works with young individuals with chemical abuse, problems with behavior control, problems with anti-social behavior, family problems, problems with communication and sexual malfunctions.

Program
Description:

The Juvenile Intervention Center is a program of the Sisseton-Wahpeton Sioux Tribe. Located on the Lake Traverse Reservation in Northeastern South Dakota, the Juvenile Intervention Center is a licensed residential facility with a bed capacity of 14, which can serve 8 girls and 6 boys between the ages of 12 and 18 years.

The Center has a highly structured program that addresses behavior, but also provides room for growth and individual freedom.

Client
Characteristics:

The Juvenile Intervention Center accepts referrals of young people 12-18 years old.

Staff:

Unique in the services provided, the Juvenile Center has a highly trained staff working in very low ratios with the residents: 2 students per 1 staff.

We have an all Native American staff working with Native American Children. This, more than anything, has proven most effective.

WILD HORSE TRIBAL YOUTH RANCH
Fort Belknap Indian Reservation
Box 249
Harlem, MT 59526

(406) 353-2205 ext. 251

Contact Person: Warren Matte, Director

Goals: To provide ten youths (five boys and five girls) ages 8-18 who are in need of care or supervision, runaways and predelinquent youth.

Program Description: Group and individual counseling sessions. Critical incident meetings are held when needed. Native culture and ceremonies are utilized. Youth residents are encouraged to take part in community and school activities. Sports events, movies, and group trips are scheduled. We are a state licensed facility situated on 85 acres of tribal land. The program is effective because of cultural intervention and awareness, and the family setting helps to avoid negative institutional effects.

Client Characteristics: Youth who are in need of care or supervision, partially handicapped (physically and mentally), runaways or predelinquents.

Staff: Volunteers: Indian Foster Grandparents (respected Tribal Elders) Local Indian community Board of Directors. Personal donations.

Funding: Heifer Project International ($11,000 grant for livestock development)
