ABSTRACT

This is an annotated listing of selected print and nonprint resource materials for a basic elementary social studies program in Canada. The list is intended to aid school systems and their personnel in selecting learning materials for use with the Alberta social studies curriculum as set out in their program of studies. Most materials cited were published in the 1970s. Basic elementary programs, filmstrips, study prints, multimedia kits, booklets, and curriculum guides are included. Citations are arranged alphabetically by title within the following categories: Grade 1--Families; Grade 2--Neighbors; Grade 3--Comparing People's Communities; Grade 4--People in Alberta; Grade 5--People in Canada; and Grade 6--The Historical Roots of Man. (Author/RM)

 * Documents acquired by ERIC include many informal unpublished *
 * materials not available from other sources. ERIC makes every effort *
 * to obtain the best copy available. Nevertheless, items of marginal *
 * reproducibility are often encountered and this affects the quality *
 * of the microfiche and hardcopy reproductions ERIC makes available *
 * via the ERIC Document Reproduction Service (EDRS). EDRS is not *

PREFACE

THIS PUBLICATION IS A SERVICE DOCUMENT AND IS NOT PRESCRIPTIVE.

It has been prepared to aid school systems and their personnel in selecting learning materials for use with the Alberta Social Studies Curriculum.

RATIONALE AND GUIDELINES

1. The materials listed in this publication represent an arbitrary selection from a great quantity of Social Studies resources, much of which has a good deal of merit. Resource materials other than those identified in these lists may be used in accordance with policies of the local school system.
2. The materials listed in this publication have been selected as items that may be used with the Social Studies Curriculum as set out in the Programs of Studies. No attempt has been made to identify resource materials for use in the "up to one-third time" portion of the Social Studies Curriculum that may be developed locally by classroom teachers.
3. Prices quoted in this publication are not likely to represent current costs of the items listed. They have been included in order to provide information which could be useful to teachers and others concerned with budgetary allocations for resource materials.
4. Guidelines for selection used in compiling the materials listed include:
  - i. Canadian content, where feasible
  - ii. Currency of information
  - iii. Appropriate reading level
  - iv. Direct relationship to the content and philosophy of the Alberta Social Studies Program
  - v. Visually stimulating
  - vi. Highly selective: a basic list - not comprehensive
  - vii. Materials selected related to the prescribed portion of the Social Studies Program.
5. The School Book Branch of the Department of Education will carry a stock of most of the print materials included in this listing. Other items, including resource materials kits and multi-media items may be obtained from the School Book Branch on a special-order basis.

6. Some of the materials, for example, 16 mm. films, are available through the Audio Visual Services Branch of the Department of Education on a loan basis. Catalogues and descriptive material are available from the Audio Visual Services Branch.
7. As other resources are identified and evaluated, they will be listed in such publications as the Curriculum Newsletter.
8. Some of the material listed for a particular grade may be useful for other grade levels.

1. Then And Now In Frobisher Bay $1.30*. Examines the Eskimos' life today, contrasting it with their life as Nomads.
2. Safari To Serowe $1.35*. Examines how the struggle for survival on the drought-plagued plateau of Southern Africa evokes a different set of values to those of our affluent society.
3. Bern: City In The Mountains $1.35*. Examines the way in which the Swiss people have made wise use of their limited resources.
4. Living In A Norwegian Village $1.35*. Examines the intensive exploitation through agriculture, fishing and tourism.

GRADE IV - PEOPLE IN ALBERTAThe Alberta Government Travel Bureau.

Excellent source of inexpensive or free materials on Alberta. Examples of available materials are: Alberta At A Glance; Alberta Visitors' Guide. This regularly updated publication gives information on climate and features of Alberta parks, camp grounds and recreation facilities along with advertisements for various businesses catering to the tourist industry. Through The Years In The Province of Alberta; The Alberta Wildlife Foundation Presents: Points out examples of the ravaged environment as a result of man's attempts to subdue and control nature and shows how, if we want to maintain a land and life of good quality, we can work with nature rather than against her. Vacation Alberta: Talks about Alberta as a vacation land outlining history, festivals, outdoor fun, cultural programs, things to see and do, and how to get to various places. Historic Sites of Alberta by Dempsey, John A.: Gives location and brief description of some 220 historic sites which commemorate people, places and events. A short outline of the importance or contribution of each is given.

January 15, 1910 (Kit) Gage Educational Publishers, 1971, $59.95*.

This kit is a series of realistic experiences involving typical activities of a Canadian farm family during a winter day in 1910. Photographs and one LP recording, models and documents allow pupils to visualize and relive life as it was at the turn of the century. Simulation games and life-like episodes encourage pupils to think their way through problems and make their own decisions. This kit contains seven boxes of materials for pupil use and one teacher's kit. With some slight adaptations, the material in this kit could be used at the Grade 4 level for Life on a Farm in Alberta in 1910.

Australia And New Zealand Kemball Hall, O'Connor, Thomas, Ginn and Company, 1974, $4.60*.

Presents these countries in an inductive, interdisciplinary way. Case studies, newspaper excerpts, photos, maps and other graphic materials bring these countries alive and similarities to Canada and Canadian problems become apparent. Photos are of excellent quality and well captioned. All measurements given in both British and metric units. Consists of 10 chapters, some presenting regional approach, while others are topically oriented. The regional Australian themes are concerned with the Center, the Tropical North and the areas surrounding the large cities. Topical Australian themes are concerned with the importance of water, sheep, minerals, industry and the dominance of Sydney. Topical New Zealand themes are the efficiency of the country's pastoral industry, the country's scenic wonders, and the Maori-White relations. Text contains an excellent topical and skills index. The activities, far too numerous to all be covered - will demand selectivity on the teacher's part. Extensive teacher's manual outlines objectives for each chapter and gives practical guidance and suggestions in developing the inquiry approach. It contains background information and the answers to all questions in the text exercises. The text is designed for Junior High, but with a Grade 5 - 7 reading level. It would make an excellent teacher or student resource.

Australia The Sunburnt Country (Man and Earth Program for Geography) Birchell, Gary/Forester, James, Fitzhenry & Whiteside Limited, $3.36*.

This book is divided into 5 main chapters which deal with the Aborigines of Australia and their history, the Riverina of New South Wales, the Sugar Coast of Queensland, from Gold to Nickel, and the Southern Metropolis of Sydney. The material is well illustrated with photos, drawings, maps and diagrams. Questions are asked throughout, with the stress on the development of geographical skills and concepts rather than on the acquisition of factual knowledge. Developed for Junior High students, this book is a good teacher resource as well as student book for the very best Grade 4 readers.

The Big Dam Country Bruce Ramsey and Dan Murray, Dan Murray Ltd., 1969, $2.50*.

A pictorial record of the development of the Peace River country from its discovery to the building of the Bennett Dam. Contains authentic reproductions of Alexander Mackenzie's and other explorers' journals. The entire book consists of reproductions of original documents, newspaper photographs and descriptive annotations in an effort to capture the spirit of the area both past and present. Reading level - upper elementary.

Buyers Beware (People In The City) Barbara Love, Gage Educational Publishing Ltd., 1972.

Examples of misleading advertising and sales pitches, suggestions to help get the best deal, and examples of organizations set up to help consumers. The American content is overshadowed by the importance of the message. Easily handled by upper elementary. The material lends itself to extra development by both teacher and pupil. Because it is American some examples such as medical and hospital costs are not directly applicable, but the message is still clear.

Concepts And Enquiry Social Science Staff of Educational Research Council of America, Allyn & Bacon Inc., 1970 & after, $2.50* to $3.00*.

General Series Notes: Through the use of the inquiry approach, basic concepts of geography and economics are developed. Reviews general geography and the geography of the region in question. Gives excellent treatment to the subject matter proper. Makes excellent use of questioning strategies. Questions are generally rated as to their degree of difficulty (i.e. rote, thinking, and research). Many value-loaded areas besides an excellent historical and geographical treatment. Excellent as material for comparisons.

Series Titles: A Rural Community: Webster City, Iowa.

A Forest Products Community: Crossett, Arkansas.

Agriculture: Man And The Land Looks at agriculture in many lands with some references to past practices.

The Edson Grande Prairie Trail Mrs. Balbir Tawana & Dave Tawana, Alberta Teachers' Assoc., Barnett House, $1.00*.

This Grade 4 historical unit selects its content from the time when the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway decided to establish its divisional headquarters at Edson. It traces the development and decline of the Edson Trail as a main artery to the Peace River Country. Using the historical method the student investigates the growth of Edson between 1910 - 1915. He considers reasons for the establishment of the Edson Trail and evaluates its successes and failures, as well as examining the Trail's effects on settlement in the Peace River country. Problems of geography, economics and sociology are stressed with emphasis on the pioneer's ability to cope with the successes and failures of everyday life. The student is given the opportunity to read, interpret and evaluate historical documents including photographs, book excerpts and letters.

An Enquiry Into The Peace River Region by the Peace River Regional of the Social Studies Council ATA, Barnett House, $1.00*.

A look at education, travel, communications, health, occupations, clothing, housing and entertainment in the Peace River area since 1910. Use of the unit should be determined by the teacher, so no particular suggestions are included. The intention is that the materials be used in an inquiry approach, with the drawing of inferences from clues contained in the pictures and the texts a major aim.

The Frank Slide (Kit) Candian Social Sciences Services, $25.00*.

An authentic account of the disaster, dramatically told with maps and photographs. This kit contains 30 student booklets (source materials and exercises), a tape, transparency, and teacher's manual. It is intended to lead students to many interesting discoveries about the famous slide of 1903.

Gage World Community Study Gage Educational Publishing Ltd., 1970, Book $1.55*, Teacher's Guide $.95*.

General Series Note: The following titles from this series were judged to be worthwhile for making comparisons to Alberta centres. Some skills and concepts which are developed through these books are: using and understanding maps; using a variety of quoted evidence and pictures in order to draw conclusions; mathematics (numbers, distances, money, time, zones, altitudes, areas, population). The general approach is to give some item of information and to ask related questions. These books are well illustrated and enjoyable. Teacher's guides for each are available.

Series Titles: Down Under At Barwidgee: Douglas E. Long. Life on a large ranch in south-eastern Australia is presented through excerpts from many letters written to "Gregg" (in Ontario), by the Manager of the ranch, his children, and other people who lived there. The student will discover some aspects of the areas' geography and how it affects the life style on ranch, how the land and herds have been improved and how different aspects of the ranch operations are carried out. Will help the student discover how the people of Barwidgee used modern methods to make a better living. (Figures quoted are from 1966 or 1967).

Bern: City In The Mountains: Robert H. Field. The citizens of Bern are presented as a resourceful people who have achieved distinction and success through the wise use of limited resources.

Living In A Norwegian Village: David Cutzin

Home On The Range: Frank C. Hardwick. By following the activities of a ranch nurse (Canadian) on a modern sheep ranch (in Wyoming) and members of a real family on the ranch, the student is led to discover the answers and to form opinions on the following questions: What do sheep provide for mankind? Where do sheep thrive? What are sheep really like? Is life better on the open range than on a small farm? In Towns rather than Cities? The emphasis is on the effects that geographic conditions have upon the people on the ranch and their work, and how the challenges of the environment are met. As this is a real life situation where not only the good points but also some of the frustrations are presented, the student will become involved and will have to clarify his opinions on value questions such as: the relative importance of a close-knit family, the issue of wild-life conservation "when coyotes and rattle snakes can be a threat" the value to the child starting his own enterprise and assuming responsibilities, and the advantages and disadvantage of rural and urban living.

Ginn Sample Studies of Canada Ginn and Company, 1967. Teacher's Manual $4.15*. Single titles in packages of 5 per package $5.00*.

In-depth studies of relatively small but important samples of a larger geographic region or geographic topic. Each booklet with the help of the printed word, and the use of some of the geographer's tools (i.e., pictures, charts and maps) and with the use of questions and activities, can help the student to discover and understand certain concepts about the industry, resources and geography of the region under study. The overall presentation helps to bridge the gap between the book and the reality. Vocabulary can be easily handled by most Grade 4 students. The material is organized and presented in a manner that will make it difficult for the student to not get involved. Good teacher's manual available.

Series Titles: Wheat Farming by Wm. J. Russell.

An Oil Well by D.L. Massey. See also Canada This Land Of Ours in the Grade 5 section.

This kit is designed to help students read and interpret illustrative materials such as photographs, editorial cartoons, graphic data, charts, and diagrams which are common to texts, newspapers, and other media. Individual pupil booklets and a teacher's guide are included.

A Horse For Running Buffalo Van Nostrand Reinhold Ltd., $3.95*.

This book tells the story of Running Buffalo, a young Blackfoot boy. It is set in southern Alberta, about 150 years ago, and tells of the life-style and customs of the Blackfoot people at that time.

The Hutterite Ways Rolf C. Seidel, Production House, St. Albert, Sound Filmstrip. $21.00*, Booklet $2.00*.

This history and life-style of the Hutterites through the study of what goes on in a family living in the colony. A combination of large type and sketches provides an interesting learning experience. Booklet can be used as coloring book. The filmstrip with audio tape gives the students an insight of the history, religion and life-style of Alberta Hutterites.

Indians Of The Plains O.L. Davis Jr., Van Nostrand Reinhold Ltd., 1971, $1.15*.

An introduction to the Indians of the American Plains, their origins, life-style and some of the changes they have undergone since the coming of the white man. In spite of the focus being on the Indians of the United States, most of the information is transferable to Canada.

There are some interesting activities suggested, but, by itself, this book will probably not stimulate the child to further discovery. It could be useful primarily for an introductory lesson on Indians. The reading level is approximately Grades 3 and 4.

Indians N.W.T. (Dogrib Legends) Curriculum Division, Department of Education N.W.T., Virginia Football (J.A. MacDiarmid). Distributed by McGraw Hill. Series package containing the Teacher's Manual and one copy of each of the 6 Student's Books: $21.65* or Shrink Pack containing 5 copies of any series title: $14.75*, Teacher's Manual only: $3.95*.

General Series Note: Very simple short Dogrib legends, beautifully illustrated with native art. The value is specially in the teacher's manual which approaches each legend from an interdisciplinary point of view and offers suggestions for almost all subject areas. The legends were collected on tape and translated without alterations.

Titles In The Series: Peace Between the Tribes; How A Fox Saved The People; The Raven's Lesson; How The Fox Got His Crossed Legs; Woman And The Pups; Tsequa and The Chief's Son.

Also available from the same source are the "Tendi" and "Johnny" series which describe certain aspects of native life in the North-West Territories through the activities and actions of children. The reading level in these series is Grade 2 - 3. The teacher's guides give suggestions for related activities in social studies, language, arts, science, mathematics, art and music.

Kibbutz On The Negev (with Teacher's Guide) Doreen Jampolsky & Derald Willows, 1973, Gage Educational Publishing Ltd., Book $1.55*, Teacher's Guide $.95*. Package of 10 - $14.10*.

An objective presentation of the topic wherein it is left to the students to form their own opinions about what they read and observe. Examines a form of communal living that has had strong influence on Israel's development as a nation. As a topic for study it has significance in a world where patterns of family and group living are being subjected to analysis and change. This form of community life is not presented as a Utopian solution; however, through this study it is hoped that the student will discover how dedication to an ideal can give added meaning to life and contribute to the progress of any society. Useful as a comparison-type study, particularly for those studying a Hutterite colony. The material in the student's book represents a core of data for about 4 or 5 weeks' work.

Map And Globe Skills (Kit) S.R.A., $150.10*.

This kit is designed to help students develop skills essential to the effective use of maps and globes, by understanding the significance of facts shown on maps and globes. Individual pupil booklets and a teacher's guide are included. Multi-graded.

Map Reading Milliken, $6.95*.

Australia: Designed to teach basic map reading skills, this volume contains 12 color transparencies and 28 spirit duplicating masters. Duplicating masters include maps and exercise sheets with short, informational readings written at a 4 - 6 Grade reading level on the following topics: A look at Australia, political divisions, climate, landforms, surface waters, plant life, artesian wells, sheep and wool areas, natural resources, agriculture, cities, the Great Barrier Reef, Tasmania and New Zealand. Teacher's guide included.

Mexico The Fideler Company - Grand Rapids, Michigan, 1963, $5.00*. Patricia Fent Ross.

This book contains a great deal of general information about the geography, history and culture of Mexico. The book has large print and vocabulary suitable for the average Grade 4 student.

People And Places In Canada Holt, Rinehart and Winston of Canada, 1968, Book $1.15*, Teacher's Guide $1.75*.

General Series Notes: Individual sample study books provide students with the opportunity to discover Canada from sea to sea. Through an in-depth study of a representative community chosen as an example of the character of a geographic region, these books aim to develop broad concepts about the country as a whole. Written in an easy informal style, including interviews, personal records and original photographs. Each study is built around authentic people and families typical of the inhabitants of the region. Questions, illustrations and projects will encourage the involvement of every student in the inquiry process. Skills in map reading and graphic and statistical analysis are developed.

Series Titles: Alberta Foothills (Revised) Gary de Leeuw - A ranch in south western Alberta. Topics range from the yearly round of activities to the economics of cattle production.

The Crowsnest Pass: A Coal Mining Valley - David Jones and Gilles Lemieux - The effects of mining and related industries on the families of the miners and the community as a whole.

Home Oil Calgary: Oil Exploration and Production - Edward Koch - Through a study of two families, one in Swan Hills and the other in Calgary, this study attempts to give a representative picture of the oil industry in Canada.

People In Canada, Australia, New Zealand (People In Change). D. Ian Allen, Addison-Wesley Publishing Co., 1973. $2.36*. Teacher's Guide $.80*.

Contains explanations of life in different communities, past and present, in each area listed in the title. Well illustrated. Has good glossary and index. A good teacher resource. Reading level - upper elementary.

People, Places, Products (Kit) Macmillan Company of Canada, $94.00*.

The complete kit contains 5 display prints, 5 filmstrips, 5 record albums, and a teacher's manual. This kit shows how man uses such natural resources as lumber and fish and how he produces others such as cotton, grain and cattle. It looks closely at the processes of production, distribution and consumption of goods to emphasize the interdependence of all people and to lead pupils to form a basic concern for ecology.

Alberta: Where The Mountains Meet The Plains Tomkins, Tomkins and Scarfe, from Regional Studies of Canada Gage, 1970, approximately $1.50*.

This booklet is not as attractive as those in certain other series, however, it gives a better overview of the whole province in question. Excellent use is made of questioning strategies. Could be useful for classroom instruction or individual study. Discusses a variety of agricultural practices in Alberta while helping the student to understand why one particular area might be more suitable than another for a certain practice. Then moves briefly into the pulp and paper industry before discussing at some length the importance and extent of oil production in Alberta. Also, Calgary and Edmonton are discussed, and we get a glimpse of Banff & Jasper and the beauty of the Rockies.

R.C.M.P. Centennial Series (3 Kits) Part 1 - The Whiskey Traders: Part 2 - The March West; Part 3 - Men in Scarlet. Canadian Social Sciences Services, $45.00*, $45.00*, $50.00*.

Each kit contains 30 or more student booklets, a teacher's guide, and instruction booklet, 1 or 2 tape recordings, maps, historical photos and documents. The kits use the inquiry method to lead students to generalize as to the need for law and order in the Canadian West, to review the reasons for the formation of the N.W.M.P., to better understand the difficulties establishing themselves in Western Canada and to question whether they were successful in carrying out duties assigned by the Federal Government. These kits are intended to help students understand the contributions the R.C.M.P. made to the development of Canada. The teacher's guide give detailed lesson plans suggesting ways to use the kits for inquiry activities and areas for value discussions.

"The Whiskey Traders" emphasizes the reasons for the formation of the N.W.M.P.; "The March West" emphasizes the formation of the force; "Men in Scarlet" emphasizes the establishment of the N.W.M.P. in Western Canada.

When Grandma And Grandpa Were Kids Neil Sutherland, 1970, Book $1.55*, Teacher's Guide $.85*, W.J. Gage Limited.

A typical day in the life of two children some 60 years ago. Using recollections, illustrations, catalogue pictures, photos, reprints of old text books, we see what life was like upon getting up in the morning, deciding what to wear, having breakfast, attending school, working and playing around the house, going on a shopping trip, and enjoying a special holiday. Fairly typical of life in or near a growing urban centre in an agricultural region.

World Discovery Program (Teacher's Manual only) Dr. Joseph Kirman, U. of A., J.M. Dent & Sons Canada Ltd., 1971, $3.00*.

This Teacher's Manual contains a good outline for a program of studies wherein Alberta would be compared to other countries. Unit lessons plans give outline for an analysis of the history, economy, and geography of Alberta in contrast to and comparison with Australia, Argentina, the U.S.S.R., Iran and Oklahoma.

GRADE V - PEOPLE IN CANADA

Arctic Islands Petroleum Exploration Rex Vogel, Canadian Social Science Services, 1972, $10.00*.

Simulation Game: For 4 to 35 players, in 4 to 6 teams. Length of play: 1 to 2 hours which can be broken down into 30 minute periods. Teams represent petroleum exploration company, while players represent the shareholders or executives of the same. The objective is to maximize profits. Decisions to be made are: what properties to take options on; what properties to drill on; whether to buy or rent drilling rigs; whether to work an established field or wildcat. The purpose of the game is to help students discover some of the problems facing companies searching for petroleum, specifically in the Canadian Arctic. The play itself emphasizes competition but with options for co-operation. Strategic thinking and decision making are involved, but chance is a factor. Players do not begin with equal resources. Winners are those individuals or companies that end up with more than they had to begin with. Could be useful at a time when there is so much interest in the Canadian Arctic's resources, and so much concern for the region's ecological balance. As this game stresses the profit motive, an attempt should be made to also expose students to a game where the ecosystem's preservation is the main concern. All materials in game are reusable.

Canada (Kit) National Geographic Society, $81.00*.

The complete kit contains 6 tapes and 6 filmstrips. It presents a historical and geographical study of the major regions of Canada (Atlantic, Quebec, Ontario, Prairie Provinces, the West, and the North). It outlines major industries, means of transportation, and contemporary problems.

Canada's Northland (Man on the Earth) Gunn, Angus M., Oxford University Press, 1974, $1.95*.

Describes the life of the Inuit, conditions in the far North and the effects of resource development on the land and the people. For purposes of comparisons, contains an interesting chapter on life in a large Russian city which is further to the north than Inuvik. Good use is made of illustrations and maps. The reading level is approximately Grade 7.

Canada: This Land Of Ours Wiley, Welsh, King, Thomas, Fryer & McLean, Ginn and Company, 1970, Book $5.25*, Teacher's Manual $3.85*.

The book divides Canada into 7 geographical regions. Concepts related to climate, vegetation, geology, economics and so forth, are spaced throughout the text and only introduced where particularly relevant rather than being repeated for all geographical regions. One will find an abundance of photos, drawings, diagrams, tables, newspaper clippings and maps to arouse curiosity. The skills and concepts are introduced in stages of increasing difficulty. There are more activities than could possibly be covered; teachers will have to be selective. The accompanying teacher's manual gives an introduction, the summary of objectives, a summary of contents, text development, answers to questions and explanations for each chapter. There is also a reference list of both print and non-print material and it gives practical suggestions for developing the inquiry approach. Teachers who wish to extend the use of the topical approach can use titles from the Ginn sample studies of Canada series. (Listed elsewhere in this section). These 24 page booklets each describe in depth an important Canadian industry or city.

Canada: "The True North Strong And Free" Moreland-Latchford Productions Ltd. Kit, $75.00*.

This kit contains 6 colored filmstrips without captions and 6 cassettes. The average playing time of the cassette is 16 minutes. The average number of frames in the filmstrip is 71. Covers the history, geography, people and the economy of (a) the Maritimes (b) Quebec (c) Ontario (d) the Prairies (e) B.C. (f) the North. The teacher's guide, which is very brief, lists the objectives for each filmstrip, its contents and points to discuss. Even though many of the concepts presented are at a Junior High level, the material can be used at the Upper Elementary level. As the teacher's guide is very brief, the material must be previewed so that the class can adequately be prepared. The material in this kit can be particularly useful as an introduction to a Canadian area under study or for individual instruction.

The Canadians Fitzhenry & Whiteside, 1974, $1.75* Each.

General Series Notes: A continuing series of biographies of lesser known Canadians who have made a significant contribution to our society in areas of politics, art, sports, business, science, human relations. Each chapter is followed by probing questions which will necessitate serious thought, further research and a clarification of values on the part of the student. Books are illustrated in an imaginative style with original photos, illustrations and documents. Reading level - Grade 7. Excellent for enrichment or for individual study.

The Canadian Flag Cinemedia, Encyclopaedia Britannica, $39.00*.

The package contains 3 filmstrips (without captions), 2 records and teaching notes. The sound filmstrips present the flags of Canada's past, how Canada got it's flag, and Canadian flags and how they are used. They follow the many stages and the controversy through which Canada passed in the selection of a distinct national flag. Also included is, Lester B. Pearson's historic 'Flag Speech'. Through the history of our flag, the student is confronted with the value question of, on the one hand, desiring to assert our individuality as a nation, while on the other hand, desiring to maintain our ties with the past.

Coniferous Forests and Temperate Grasslands of North America (Introducing Earth) L.F. Hobley, Macmillan & Co. Ltd.

Canadian emphasis very heavy. Looks at the Prairies, its agriculture industry, the coniferous forests, their extent, lumbering, the Maritime provinces, the North-West, the Pacific Coast, Mining and Fishing. Ample questions and suggested activities. Reading level - Grade 5. No Teacher's Guide available. All measurements in metric units.

Exploring Canada Through Maps (Kit) Oxford University Press, $35.00*.

This kit contains multiple copies of each of 52 skill cards, 20 slides, a teacher's hardbook and an answer guide. These are to be used in conjunction with a school atlas and together they will provide balanced studies in Canadian geography and history. The skill cards contain illustrations and interesting readings which are followed by activities and questions arranged in order of difficulty. The slide set is a selection of illustrations from the skill cards.

Growth Of A Nation (Study Prints) Co-ordinating Editor/Daniel R. Birch, Fitzhenry & Whiteside Ltd., 1973, $43.00*.

Twenty-nine study prints follow the growth and completion of the Canadian nation with emphasis on the part played by the West. Starting with the earliest days of competition between English and French for furs (5 cards) the pictures illustrate the increasing tide of exploration and settlement, as explorers and trappers and first settlers (5 cards) are followed by the railway (4 cards), miners and police (3 cards) who are in turn followed by the homesteaders and farmers (6 cards). This set also contains 8 cards on the growth of British Columbia. The prints (approx. 15 x 20) are generally in color, with additional black and white pictures, readings and suggested activities on the reverse side. Set also includes a comprehensive teacher's manual.

A Guide To Understanding Canada (Geography of Canada) James Peters, Guinness Publishing Ltd.

This beautifully illustrated and well designed manual is intended to guide students in understanding the geography of Canada through their own discoveries. The problems in this book are designed to motivate the student to discover through research. The material has been graduated from simple to difficult. A skill building chapter on map reading is included to help students acquire and utilize the basic skills needed for broad understanding of maps. It is not intended that all the problems be answered in one year. A teacher's guide is also available. It outlines approaches for discussion and the solutions to the posed problems.

The Living Arctic (Kit) Canada, The Arctic) Encyclopaedia Britannica $50.00*.

This kit contains 5 filmstrips, a teacher's guide, overhead transparency, maps, booklets and documents, providing information on Canada's Arctic today and yesterday. The kit examines the physical setting, the Eskimo heritage, white men in the Arctic, patterns of life there, and the new North, as the Arctic undergoes its most intensive changes yet. The printed material in this kit is a mixture of seemingly unrelated items, with no clear indication of their intended use. However, the filmstrips (which have captions) are generally excellent.

Living In Canada (Canada-Geography & History) Cameron/Innis/Richards/Clarke, Irwin & Company Ltd., 1968, $5.25*.

The first 130 pages look at Canada's geography from regional point of view. What follows is the history of Canada from its discovery and its first inhabitants through to life in the mid 1800's. There are end of chapter reviews, problems and also suggested activities. This book, though it is unimaginative in its presentation, could be an excellent resource manual or teacher reference.

Longhouse to Blastfurnace (Canada, Hamilton, Ont., Past to Present), James Forrester, Gary Birchall, Douglas M. Gray: Fitzhenry & Whiteside Ltd., $1.92* (accompanying teacher's guide $.80*, accompanying filmstrip $4.95*)

Series Title: Man and His World; Sub-Title: The Growth of an Industry; Plots the development of Hamilton from the primeval forest to the modern city. Along the way, students will encounter a variety of topics. The clothing, food, agriculture, hunting and society of the Indians are explored. Early settlement of upper and lower Canada

Operation Railroad (Kit) (Canada History, The C.P.R.) Canadian Social Sciences Services, $55.00*.

This kit contains 30 student booklets of source materials, documents, tapes, maps and a teacher's manual. It is intended to guide students in the use of primary sources and help them formulate hypotheses, carry out research and arrive at conclusions about the reasons for building of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The student materials contain information which is particularly relevant to students in Western Canada.

People And Places In Canada Holt, Rinehart and Winston of Canada, 1968, Book $1.15*, Teacher's Guide $1.75*.

General Series Notes: Series of individual sample study books, provides students with the opportunity to discover Canada from sea-to-sea. Through an in-depth study of a representative community chosen as an example of the character of a geographic region, these books aim to develop broad concepts about the country as a whole. Written in an easy informal style, including interviews, personal records and original photographs. Each study is built around authentic people and families typical of the inhabitants of the region. Questions, illustrations and projects will encourage the involvement of every student in the inquiry process. Skills in map reading and graphic and statistical analysis are developed.

Series Titles: Alberta Foothills (Revised) Gary de Leeuw. A ranch in south western Alberta, topics range from the yearly round of activities to the economics of cattle production.

The Crowsnest Pass: A Coal Mining Valley - David Jones and Gilles Lemieux. The effects of mining and related industries on the families of the miners and the community as a whole.

Ferryboats of British Columbia: Richard P.R. Porter and David Jones. The life and work of the ferryman, including such aspects as shift work and scheduling, and a general exploration of boats, shipping, and life at sea.

The Fisherman of Lunenburg: James H. Marsh. First hand reports of fishing industry and a ship building community.

Flin Flon: David Jones. A study of a northern mining community, including a discussion of the indian-metis population, and the importance of mining to the community.

Gold River: A Centre For Lumbering - Ronald C. Jones and Frank Waters. An exploration of logging and various forestry concerns including re-forestation and fire control.

Granby: A Manufacturing Centre - Jean Lavallee. The lay out of the town, its economic life and its influence on the surrounding countryside provide the focus of this study. The conflicts inherent in a growing urban centre in Quebec are explored.

Home Oil Calgary: Oil Exploration and Production - Edward Koch. Through a study of two families, one in Swan Hills and the other in Calgary, this study attempts to present a representative picture of the oil industry in Canada.

Kitchener: A Meat Packing Centre - Edward Koch. An intensive study of Kitchener's meat packing industry. Present some of the factors influencing the character and growth of the city itself and its position relative to economic growth in southern Ontario.

Manitoba Lowlands: A Mixed Farm - Gary de Leeuw. A study of a mixed farm near Steinbach Manitoba. Introduces topics such as crop rotation, mechanization, marketing of produce, geographic and climatic influences on farming.

Okanagan Valley: Life On An Orchard - Ronald J. Carswell. A fruit farm in Summerland. The farm, the family methods of fruit growing and harvesting with a comparison to other farms in Canada are the subjects treated.

Port Alberni: Pulp and Paper - R.D. Bramwell. A study of a family and their community, as well as an exploration of the pulp and paper industry.

Winnipeg: Gateway To The West - Edward Koch. A representative study of a large metropolis, including such aspects of urban communities as industry, population, transportation, growth and development, recreational facilities and urban planning.

Regional Studies Of Canada Gage, 1970, approx. $1.50*.

Series Notes: These booklets are not as attractive as those in certain other series, however, they give a better overview of the whole province in question. Excellent use is made of questioning strategies. Could be useful for classroom instruction or individual study.

Series Titles: Alberta: Where The Mountains Meet The Plains - Tomkins, Tomkins & Scarfe. Discusses a variety of agricultural practices in Alberta while helping the student to understand why one particular area might be more suitable than another for a certain practice. Then moves briefly into the pulp and paper industry before discussing at some length the importance and extent of oil production in Alberta. Also, Calgary and Edmonton are discussed, and get a glimpse of Banff and Jasper and the beauty of the Rockies. (More useful for Grade 4).

Southern Ontario - Workshop of the Nation.

Northern Ontario - Land of Buried Treasure.

Quebec - French-Canadian Homeland.

The Atlantic Provinces - Tidewater Lands.

Manitoba - Where East meets West.

Saskatchewan - Land of Far Horizons.

British Columbia - Mountain Wonderland.

North of Sixty - Canada's Advancing Frontier.

R.C.M.P. Centennial Series (3 Kits) Part 1, The Whiskey Traders; Part 2, The March West; Part 3, Men In Scarlet; Canadian Social Sciences Services, $45.00*, $45.00*, $50.00*.

Each kit contains 30 or more student booklets, a teacher's guide, and instruction booklet, 1 or 2 tape recordings, maps, historical photos and documents. The kits use the inquiry method to lead students to generalize as to the need for law and order in the Canadian West, to review the reasons for the formation of the N.W.M.P., to better understand the difficulties establishing themselves in Western Canada and to question whether they were successful in carrying out duties assigned by the federal government. These kits are intended to help students understand the contributions the R.C.M.P. made to the development of Canada. The teacher's guides give detailed lesson plans suggesting ways to use the kits for inquiry activities and areas for value discussions.

"The Whiskey Traders" emphasizes the reasons for the formation of the N.W.M.P.; "The March West" emphasizes the formation of the force. "Men In Scarlet" emphasizes the establishment of the N.W.M.P. in Western Canada.

Saskatchewan: A People And A Province W. Lowry R. Knight & Don C. Barnett, Fitzhenry & Whiteside, 1974, $3.95*.

Written by Saskatchewan educators for students at the Grade 4 level. Contains a description of Saskatchewan, a study of its people, its history, government and resources. Uses numerous questions and activities and a variety of approaches to the subject. A good mix of information and structure for a study unit.

Saskatchewan Sample Studies (Curriculum Resource Books Series) John Newton, Les Richards, McClelland & Stewart, 1971, $2.50*.

A geographical study designed to encourage the student to think for himself and to draw his own conclusions. Pictures, maps, charts and descriptions of landscapes will help him discover how agricultural and mineral resource development in Saskatchewan are influenced by natural settings, climate and other factors, and what men have done to overcome certain difficulties. Book has introductory chapter on map skills. Agricultural is studied through conditions and activities on an actual farm on the south Saskatchewan Plain. Section on mineral resource development looks at the petroleum, potash and uranium industries. Final chapters deal with Saskatoon and Regina and smaller urban centers. Contains many illustrations but lack of color reduces total impact. Contains large number of questions, some of a recall nature and some requiring additional research. Reading level would be for best upper elementary. Would make a good teacher resource book for unit on Saskatchewan.

Seeing Canada's West And North (Western Canada, History & Geography) Dr. W.C. Wonders (U. of A.), Coronet, 4 color filmstrips, 2 LP records, teacher's guide $38.00*, 4 color filmstrips, 4 cassettes, teacher's guide $48.00*. (Distributed by Social Studies School Service).

The diversity of Canada's western and northern provinces and territories is explored in a program of four color sound filmstrips. After an initial introduction to the land forms and resources of the area, the program investigates agriculture, fishing, industry, and commerce as they contribute to the complex society and economy of the region. A review of the history of Western Canada discusses the Hudson's Bay Company, the first explorers, the settlement of Manitoba's Red River Valley, the organization of the North West Mounted Police, and the many gold rushes. Teacher's guide summarizes each filmstrip and suggests possible classroom activities.

Studies In Canadian History - Gage, Book $1.12*, Teacher's Guide $.50*, package of 10 books plus teacher's guide $10.00*.

General Series Notes: The two books in this series are not text books. They are a combination of sourcebook and study guide for students to use as a tool to discover Canadian history just as historians do. The emphasis is on the development of certain concepts and skills rather than on the mastery of a body of factual content. More suited to better readers.

Series Titles: Early Days In Upper Canada: David W. Williams. Examines the "pioneer in the backwoods" stereotype image and then extends the student's awareness to the actual rapid change and growth in Upper Canada in the 1790 to 1840 period. The text pictures, illustrations and original documents in the study will reveal that by the 1830's, Upper Canada was rapidly becoming urbanized and that the pattern of rural settlement had already shifted from pioneer subsistence to fairly intensive commercial agriculture. The content areas are the Loyalists and European Immigrations, the patterns of rural and urban settlement and the resulting changes in the landscape. The child will have to weigh the advantages and disadvantage of immigration and also the advantages and disadvantages of settling in virgin territory.

Montreal 1850 - 1870: Provides materials for an in-depth study of urban Canadian life in the mid 19th century. Will help students acquire a better understanding of what the term "city" encompasses, of the work of the historian, of the kind of questions he asks and the skills he needs. Contains pictures, illustrations and original documents from which to draw information.

The Sudbury Region Richard P. Baine, Holt, Rinehart and Winston of Canada Ltd., 1969.

The City of Sudbury and Levack, a smaller mining town nearby, are the setting of this geographical study. The mining industry in these areas and a family living in each of the two places. Though the illustration in this book is enjoyable, the object, as stated in the introduction, is "to understand how important these metals (i.e. nickel) are in the lives of people who live in the region and how important they are to all Canadians". The child will also learn a lot about the mining industry and life in a smaller town. Many of the problems that are posed are very interesting. This book makes generous use of maps and questions.

When Grandma And Grandpa Were Kids (Canada History) Neil Sutherland, W.J. Gage Ltd., 1970, Book $1.55*, Teacher's Guide $.85*.

A typical day in the life of two children some sixty years ago.

Using recollections, illustrations, catalogue pictures, photos, reprints of old text books, we see what life was like upon getting up in the morning, deciding what to wear, having breakfast, attending school, working and playing around the house, going on a shopping trip, and enjoying a special holiday. Fairly typical of life in or near a growing urban centre in an agricultural region.

Communities In Action Unit 1 Discussion Pictures, J.M. Kirman, S.R.A. 15 photoboards and Teacher's Guide $37.00*.

Fifteen Picture Cards, 17" x 23" depict various aspects of community life in Canada today, and for contrast and comparison, Canada in the past and other lands. Manufacturing, trade, farming, education and fishing are portrayed. For each picture the teacher's guide provides additional topics for study, discussion questions and activities. A list of references, books, films, filmstrips, tapes and maps is provided to assist in related research.

Made In Ancient Egypt Christine Price, E.P. Dutton & Co. Inc., 1970, $5.95*.

A remarkable collection of photos and illustrations that bring history to light and make the reader that much more appreciative of the accomplishments of this civilization. The emphasis is on the total scope of ancient Egyptian history as told through its art and architecture.

Man In His World Fitzhenry & Whiteside, Book $1.92*, Teacher's Guide $.80*, Filmstrip $5.95*.

General Series Notes: Written by a team of Canadian authors. Based on the notion that in effective education the process of learning is more important than acquiring facts. The series should succeed in drawing out the student's interest and involvement. Appeal is made to his curiosity about life in the past. This is coupled with a strong human emphasis. Includes graphs, statistics, diagrams, photographs, maps and many suggested activities and questions. The authors use many methods to encourage learning: the enquiry approach; problem solving; simple experiments; DID YOU KNOW? Role playing and THINGS TO DO SECTION. The value of these books is not only in what they contain but in how they lead the student to discover even more. Books contain useful bibliographies.
Series Titles: Kings of Peru: Forrester, Birchall, Parr & Williamson. An imaginative study of the Incan civilization, its agriculture, religious practices, government and conquest.

Mexico Emerges: Takes the student back to the ancient Mayan civilization and to the rich culture of the Aztecs. The authors show how Spanish domination, the struggle for independence in 1821, the war with the United States, and the revolution of 1910 are all part of the fibre of modern Mexico. The authors encourage students to act out scenes from history, research significant persons such as Montezuma and Cortez, interpret art and religious customs, and solve problems such as those faced by archaeologists.

Gifts Of The Nile: Flannigan, Gray, Hall & Hladun. Gifts Of The Nile centres on an ancient land, an unusual river, and an intriguing people, as seen through the eyes of a young Canadian girl. She explores the ruins of the past with her archaeologist father and learns to ask questions, gather evidence, formulate hypotheses, test these hypotheses and come up with generalizations about life in the past. As the student goes through The Gifts Of The Nile, he can develop the same thought processes with the help of information given in charts, diagrams, statistics and photographs.

The Greeks Struggle For Excellence: Ranges through a wide variety of topics: The Greek and his environment; agriculture; business; the government and laws of ancient Greece - how they work; city states; wars and battles; sculpture; pottery; music, literature; philosophy. The stories of Pericles, Cleisthenes, Phidias and Socrates come alive. The book is very well illustrated with maps, photos, charts and drawings.

China: James Forrester, 1972. The book uses simple pictures, diagrams, maps and charts to show life in China, past and present. It also includes a short play and diagrams of homes and villages in order to present the "human" aspect.

Indians Of The Plains This is another useful title in this series.

The Mayans Knew Tillie S. Pine & Joseph Levine, McGraw Hill, 1971, $4.72*.

This is an attractive picture book which covers things that the Mayans knew long ago which are done today. It includes directions for making up books using picture writings to tell a story.

The Pyramids John Weeks, MacMillan of Canada, 1971, $1.95*.

With accompanying pictures and diagrams we read about the land of the pyramids, their planning, the quarrying, cutting and transportation of the stone blocks, the building of the pyramid and the methods and skills of the workmen. Excellent treatment of the subject. High interest level. Reading level is for good Grade 6. A good reference or resource book. Not a questioning type book, but what it does it does very well. The clothing, architecture, art objects, tools and religious rites of each society are illustrated. 6 color filmstrips with captions $36.00*.

The Story Of Man's Past Walter E. Beevers & Eleanor R. Young, Ginn & Company, Text $6.80*, Workbook $2.00*, Teacher's Copy $7.95*, Teacher's Copy of Workbook $2.00*.

This book is designed to familiarize the student with a historical heritage and to help realize that: we have a debt to the past: that the discovery of farming and domestication of certain animals were great revolutions in man's history: that the first civilizations probably developed independently in Asia and Africa: that India and China contributed important discoveries, art, literature and knowledge to the whole world and that our debt to the Greeks and Roman immeasurable. Teacher's Guide is very thorough and also contains annotated version of student text. Also available is a student workbook designed to clarify and enrich the objectives of the text. It contains a variety of thinking and learning exercises devised so that students can work at them independently. Some suggested activities designed for students in United States are not applicable.
