ABSTRACT

The fourth revision of this report, prepared under the sponsorship of the Cooperative Accountability Project (CAP), contains seven state accountability statutes enacted in 1975, as well as two other statutes enacted in 1972 and 1973. The contents of the nine laws consist of directives and recommendations for comprehensive planning, evaluation of programs, assessment of student performance, state and local district educational goals and performance objectives, management information systems, teaching competencies and inservice teacher education programs, and school accreditation based on performance. Table 1 presents the status of accountability legislation in November 1975, by listing the states that have enacted laws and those that have not. A cumulative graph indicates the increasing number of states that have enacted such legislation during the past ten years. Table 2 indicates what kinds of programs associated with methods for attaining accountability are being operated or piloted in the 50 states. Complete copies of all the accountability laws are in the appendix. (Author/MLP)

FOREWORD

All three previous editions of the Cooperative Accountability Project's publication, Legislation by the States: Accountability and Assessment in Education, have been among the most frequently requested items issued by the Project. Both the number and variety of requestors clearly indicate that a wide audience is analyzing the many different elements of state mandates for educational accountability. It seems accurate to say that this monograph has become a primary source of information for educators and other individuals involved in the development and evaluation of accountability programs.

As legislatures continue to enact new or modify existing laws concerning educational accountability, it is important to revise Legislation by the States to provide as current data as possible. Thereby, the ongoing growth and improvement of accountability efforts is reflected in legislative directives.

CAP is greatly indebted to Phyllis Hawthorne of the State Educational Accountability Repository (SEAR) for her continuing research which is reflected in the updated editions of this publication. We anticipate its popularity and value will be maintained with each revision.

PREFACE

This report is the fourth revision of Legislation by the States: Accountability and Assessment in Education, which has been prepared under the sponsorship of the Cooperative Accountability Project (CAP). The last updating was completed in November of 1974.

The report contains seven statutes enacted in 1975, as well as two other statutes enacted in 1972 and 1973 not included in previous updatings of the report.

There will be one more updating of Legislation by the States before the Cooperative Accountability Project, administered by the State of Colorado since April, 1972, is completed. The final revision in 1976 will contain copies of all the accountability statutes obtained during the duration of the Cooperative Accountability Project.

We wish to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to all those staff members of the state education agencies who have supplied the Project with legislative acts from their states, as well as with documents for the State Educational Accountability Repository (SEAR).

LEGISLATION BY THE STATES: ACCOUNTABILITY AND ASSESSMENT IN EDUCATION

Section I. Introduction

Nine laws which contain characteristics of the concept of accountability are reported in Legislation by the States: Accountability and Assessment in Education, an annually updated report of the Cooperative Accountability Project. Seven new or amended laws were enacted in 1975 legislative sessions; two of the laws were passed in earlier sessions. The states that enacted these statutes are New Jersey with two laws, Florida with three laws, and Mississippi, Ohio, Oregon, and Kansas, each with one law. The contents of the nine laws, discussed in Section II of this report, consist of directives and recommendations for comprehensive planning, evaluation of programs, assessment of student performance, state and local district educational goals and performance objectives, management information systems, teaching competencies and inservice teacher education programs, and school accreditation based upon performance.

Mississippi is the only new state to be added to the roster of states that currently have some kind of legislation related to accountability, a number which totaled 31 states in November, 1975. This total does not include two more with Joint Resolutions noted in Table 1 which are not laws in the true sense of the definition, but which are being implemented as if they were law. Table 1 presents the status of accountability legislation in November, 1975, by listing the states which have enacted laws and those which have not. A cumulative graph indicates the increasing number of states that have enacted such legislation during the past ten years, reflecting a growth pattern which rose steeply from 1971 to 1973, but which shows signs of tapering off by 1975.

Many bills introduced in 1975 did not become law either because they engendered political difficulties, could not be funded, or were not wanted by state education agencies and were defeated. The Education Commission of the States noted in its June 30, 1975, issue of Legislative Review that 60 bills with accountability elements had been introduced since the beginning of the 1975 legislative sessions. The majority of the 60 bills, however, died in committee, were killed, or were vetoed by state governors. Some of the bills still may be pending or they may be reintroduced in the January, 1976, legislative sessions. Kentucky will be introducing the "Educational Accountability Act of 1976" in January, which marks the start of a 90-day session in that state. The bill lists general educational goals and requires the Kentucky Department of Education, with the assistance of an advisory group, to present the Governor with a plan for achieving these goals by April, 1977. The Joint Interim Committee of the Kentucky State Legislature has agreed to the bill, and there is a chance that it will become law in 1976. The Massachusetts State Board of Education is refiling a bill for assessment in the state's 1976 legislative session. In addition to the statewide assessment program for evaluating the effectiveness of education in certain subject areas, incentive grants will be provided to cities, towns, and regional school districts for instituting local assessment programs. New Jersey will be introducing a bill in 1976 for a management information system. A California Senate bill, which would have amended the well-known Stull Act for evaluating the performance of certificated employees, died in committee. A second bill introduced by the California Assembly for affirmative action, which had some accountability-related methods, was vetoed by the Governor.

Not all states have laws relating to accountability. Some departments of education and their local school districts are opposed to mandated accountability, but this does not mean that these states do not engage in programs that strive for accountability. Whether or not a law has been passed, there isn't a state in the nation that has not introduced in its educational planning some means for attaining accountable results. A review of state education agency reports in the Wisconsin State Educational Accountability Repository (SEAR) indicates that accountability has become a factor in the educational plans and programs of all state education agencies and that the concept is beginning to reach the local school districts as well. Methods for achieving accountability are revealed in programs for planning, assessment and evaluation programs; program planning-and-budgeting systems; management information systems; management-by-objectives systems; accreditation of schools based upon performance; various competency-based teacher education and certification programs; and in programs that are expressly titled accountability programs.

Table 2 indicates what kinds of programs associated with methods for attaining accountability are being operated or piloted in the 50 states. We emphasize that the development of this Table is based solely upon state education agency reports in SEAR. Omissions in the Table are quite possible because SEAR may not contain information about every project a state is piloting or beginning to implement. Some states are piloting or beginning to implement programs allied to accountability but are not yet at the stage where printed reports about the programs are available.

The identification of the programs in Table 2 does not mean that all the states are conducting full-blown programs in all the areas checked. Some of the programs are being piloted on an experimental basis; some are operating in a few school districts on a voluntary, try-out basis. This situation is particularly applicable to competency-based teacher education programs, several of which are being tried out on a pilot basis in the teacher preparation programs of the states' colleges and universities. Most of the pilot support goes to the teacher preparation institutions, but considerable support also is directed to inservice program development in the local school districts, as well as for the development of alternative certification methods. Table 2, therefore, does not describe the degree to which the states are committed to the programs; it only indicates that the states are involved in accountability-related programs, in some cases extensively, in other cases in the beginning stages. The Table does reveal that all the states are trying out or actively operating a number of programs associated with accountability, whether or not the programs have been mandated by law. The programs that have been mandated by law, insofar as SEAR has been able to determine, are denoted with an asterisk.

The next two sections of this report describe some of the main points in the nine laws reported for the first time, beginning with 1976 legislation in Section II. Section III discusses the two laws enacted before 1975. Complete copies of all the laws can be found in the Appendix.

¹Readers are cautioned to remember that states checked for CBTE/CBTC in this table do not necessarily have operating programs. Although some states have implemented CBTE/CBTC programs, the majority merely are making studies of such a program or are conducting pilot programs in the state's colleges, universities, or in some local school districts. Several states have enacted laws. (Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, Kansas, Massachusetts, Oregon and Washington) which are predisposed toward CBTE/CBTC in that they call for an evaluation of teachers according to evaluative criteria to be established by the state board of education or by a state teachers' commission.

²The Arkansas Department of Education has directed that a study be conducted of CBTE/CBTC.

³State goals are not mandated in California. Since 1972, a Joint Legislative Committee on Educational Goals and Evaluation and the Department of Education have been collecting local district goals, subgoals, and priorities based on criteria established by the Committee to assist the local districts in identifying their educational goals and priorities. The Committee recommends that the collection of goals be used as a basis for proposing state and local program priorities for California public schools.

⁴Colorado has not mandated a state assessment program according to the Colorado Department of Education. Testing and assessment of students is conducted by local districts.

⁵Georgia mandated a state assessment program, but an assessment is being conducted in Atlanta only, known as the Atlanta Assessment Project.

Section II. Legislation Enacted in 1975

New Jersey Chapter 212, Laws of 1975

One of the more interesting of the new 1975 laws, in light of the attention paid to school financing in recent years, is a New Jersey statute enacted in September of 1975 which entails a comprehensive educational plan tied in with a state aid program to implement the system. Intense public interest was created in New Jersey when the State Supreme Court in 1973 upheld the decision of the Superior Court (Robinson vs. Cahill) that the current method of financing public education in the state was unconstitutional, and the system would have to be changed. New Jersey's State Constitution says that "the maintenance and support of a thorough and efficient system of free public schools for the instruction of all the children in the state between the ages of five and eighteen years is a legislative responsibility." The Court determined that the present financing method failed to provide the "thorough and efficient" system required under the State Constitution. The Court directed the state to define what educational obligation was intended by the phrase, "thorough and efficient," and ordered the New Jersey State Legislature to develop a plan for financing a system of education to meet the constitutional mandate by December 31, 1974.

The State Board of Education appointed a Task Force (composed of State Board members, the Commissioner of Education, and the New Jersey Department of Education's division heads) to come up with a definition of "thorough and efficient" education. The Task Force decided to develop the definition through the State Board of Education's Administrative Code which constitutes the official instrument of the state for the codification of its rules. Changes in the Administrative Code must be submitted to the public for its views, and the Task Force involved educational and civic groups, as well as the public, in the development of the definition. The proposed Code changes have received wide distribution throughout the state, but final action for adoption has not been taken by the State Board of Education up to the present time. The definition of "thorough and efficient" does appear in the new law, Chapter 212, Laws of 1975, New Jersey Statutes.

Chapter 212, known as the "Public School Education Act of 1975," was introduced to the Senate in December of 1974. In the bill, the New Jersey State Legislature maintains that a thorough and efficient system of public education "depends upon the economic, historical, social, and cultural context in which that education is delivered." The bill goes on to define the overall goal of a thorough and efficient system of free public schools as one which "provides all children in New Jersey, regardless of socioeconomic status or geographic location, the educational opportunity which will prepare them to function politically, economically, and socially in a democratic society."

A state aid program to implement the bill provides approximately $300 million in additional school aid in 1976-77, representing an increase to 39 per cent; $420 million by 1977-78, and increase to almost 40 per cent; and $50 million in guaranteed minimum aid to districts above the statewide average. The New Jersey State Legislature had not appropriated the funds for the program as of November, 1975, and it is possible that the section providing $50 million in guaranteed minimum aid might jeopardize legislative approval of all funding for the bill.

Chapter 212 contains several provisions that are consonant with methods to attain accountability:

- Establishment of educational goals and standards of performance, both at the state and local levels
- Encouragement of public involvement in the establishment of the educational goals
- Review and update of goals and performance standards set by the state at least once every five years
- A statewide system for evaluating the performance of each school
- Evaluation and monitoring of programs, both at the state and local levels

Four years after the effective date of Chapter 212, the State Board of Education is to submit a comprehensive report to the Governor and the New Jersey State Legislature which assesses the effectiveness of the law in achieving a thorough and efficient system of free public schools. Following a review of local school and district evaluation of programs, the State Board of Education can bring action before the Superior Court if corrective steps are indicated from the review and if a local board of education refuses to comply with the State Board's recommendations.

New Jersey Chapter 16, Laws of 1975

A second bill, Chapter 16, Laws of 1975, was enacted in New Jersey in February of 1975 which should be read in context with the directives in Chapter 212. The bill created a legislative Joint Committee on the Public Schools to monitor the system of free public schools in the state. Its members are seven senators and seven assemblymen. The Committee is to conduct a continuing study of the public school system, its financing, administration, and operations, and make recommendations for legislative action for the maintenance and support of a thorough and efficient system of free public schools. The role of the Joint Committee on the Public Schools, in cooperating with the State Board of Education and the Commissioner of Education to implement the thorough and efficient system, is documented in Chapter 212.

Mississippi House Bill No. 35, 1975

Few legislative acts have been enacted by state legislatures in recent sessions that are labeled accountability programs; more often approaches to accountability are not designated as such, but can be found in comprehensive education acts that encompass several programs. Accountability processes also are obscured in state fiscal budgets which provide funds, and therefore indicate support, for programs associated with accountability. The Michigan State Legislature, for instance, has provided funds for competency-based teacher certification programs since 1973. It is not certain that the funds proposed for the competency-based programs in Michigan's 1975-76 budget will remain intact because the state is involved in significant budget revisions, but proposed funds have been allocated to competency-based teacher certification programs in the current Michigan state budget bill not yet approved.

Mississippi is an exception to these "hidden" approaches to accountability. The Mississippi State Legislature enacted House Bill No. 35 in February, 1975, which initiates a state educational accountability and assessment program. The Mississippi Department of Education is to develop the program and establish a procedure for the continuing examination and updating of adopted state goals. Goal-related performance objectives are to be identified, and procedures are to be established for evaluating state and school district performance in relation to the stated goals and objectives. Public reporting is required. The Mississippi Department of Education may appoint a state advisory committee on educational accountability.

Local Mississippi school boards are required to adopt plans for local accountability programs to measure the adequacy and efficiency of educational programs offered by the school districts. The local school boards can appoint citizen advisory accountability committees to make recommendations to the local boards. The State Department of Education is to provide technical assistance to the local school districts in planning and implementing their programs. Inservice training for personnel involved in carrying out the state's program of accountability is to be provided by the Mississippi Department of Education.

The Mississippi accountability act is not a prescriptive bill; it provides broad guidelines for carrying out the intent and purpose of the bill and allows the State Department of Education to determine the specific procedures for establishing and implementing the program.

Ohio Senate Bill No. 170, 1975

The Ohio State Legislature mandated a state assessment program in the 1975 session as a result of a study by a legislative education review committee established two years ago. This bill is more prescriptive in its directives than the Mississippi law. The Ohio Department of Education has been operating a Title III needs assessment program in reading, and the Department staff hopes to integrate the needs assessment program with the new assessment program mandated by law.

Senate Bill No. 170 requires the appointment of a state advisory committee to draw up proposed plans and standards for the assessment program after consulting with professional educators and other governmental officials and citizens. The members of the advisory committee are to be appointed by the State Board of Education; four legislators must be included in the membership.

The assessment is to be conducted annually and is to provide the desired information no later than the 1975-76 school year, which does not allow much lead time in preparing for the program. A sampling of students, including those from racial and cultural minority backgrounds, is to be assessed on a variety of subjects. Reading and English composition must be included among the subjects assessed and at several age and grade levels. Objective-referenced testing and a variety of test instruments are to be used, and data referenced to state and national norms may be collected and analyzed. The data will be used to identify educational needs according to socioeconomic, demographic, and other characteristics in a way that will preserve the anonymity of the students, teachers, schools, and school districts.

The Ohio Department of Education is to evaluate annually each new educational program and activity it administers that was initiated during or after the 1975-76 school year. The evaluation is to show the degree to which the program or activity achieves its goals and objectives and meets the state's educational needs. This information is to be open to the public.

School districts are to issue annual reports of school programs for each school in the district according to guidelines set forth by the State Board of Education and the appointed state advisory committee. The reports should contain information about the achievements, problems, plans, and improvements in the school or school district, and they are to be issued to the local communities, parents, and citizens.

Oregon Senate Bill No. 829, 1975

Many states have coordinating councils for higher education, but some states have appointed councils or state boards of education in charge of public and private education from kindergarten through post-graduate programs. Oregon is one of these states.

Senate Bill No. 829, enacted in Oregon's 1975 legislative session, amended and repealed certain sections of the Oregon Statutes regarding the duties of the Educational Coordinating Council, which had been in charge of all segments of public and private education in the state. The name of the Council was changed by the Bill to the Oregon Educational Coordinating Commission, and the seven members of the new Commission are to be appointed by the Governor. None of the members is to be affiliated with governing boards or employed by or operating a public or private educational agency or institution. The Commission is to appoint an advisory committee, and this committee is to represent all segments of education.

The Bill has some accountability aspects which apply to elementary and secondary education, as well as to post-secondary education. The Commission is to develop, adopt, and maintain a comprehensive educational plan and related policy objectives, including statewide educational goals and indicators for evaluating the qualitative and quantitative effectiveness of all aspects of education from kindergarten through post-graduate programs. The educational programs are to be evaluated to determine the extent to which identified needs are being met. Finally, a comprehensive statewide data information system is to be developed and implemented.

Florida Chapter 75-284

A comprehensive information system also received attention from the Florida State Legislature in 1975, first in Chapter 75-284 and again in the Florida State Appropriations Bill for 1975-76.

Chapter 75-284 is titled the "Public Education Act of 1975." The bill amends previous sections of the Florida Statutes 1974 Supplement. Some of the amendments apply to the comprehensive information, accounting, and reporting system of sections of Florida's Educational Finance Act of 1973, while others relate to local district comprehensive educational plans required by 1974 amendments to the Educational Finance Act of 1973.

Over a three-year period, Florida has been developing procedures and standards which report program costs on a school-by-school basis as required in the Educational Finance Act of 1973, as well as on an aggregate district basis. Before the 1973 Act, state reporting requirements were on an aggregate district, function-object basis only. The amendments detail what cost reporting is required of the local districts for the 1975-76 fiscal year and each succeeding fiscal year, and they include the program cost categories which will constitute the district programs. In addition, the Florida Department of Education, the Department of Administration, and the Department of Revenue are directed to investigate and study alternative methods of public school finance jointly and in cooperation with the Florida State Legislature and the State Board of Education. The law expects full implementation of an alternative method to be accomplished by July 1, 1980.

Each district school board is to develop a comprehensive annual and long-range plan that will meet the educational needs of the district in not less than five years. The plan is to contain district goals and objectives consistent with the state goals of education. The 1975 amendments to this section of the law require that each local school district develop a method for evaluating the district's comprehensive plan. The results of the evaluation are to be reported to the Commissioner of Education. Each district's comprehensive plan and its plan for the evaluation of student performance and progress are reviewed by the Commissioner. Information and assistance are to be provided to the professional educational personnel of the districts by the Florida Department of Education if improvement is warranted.

The Commissioner of Education is to develop and implement an integrated information system for public school educational management which will encompass the management decisions to be made at the school, district, and state levels. The information needed for such decisions is to include the relationship between costs and effectiveness. Funds were appropriated in the 1975-76 State Appropriations Bill for the development and implementation of the information system. The Commissioner of Education is to submit to the Legislature an interim progress report on the information system by February 1, 1976.

Florida State Appropriations Bill of 1975-76

The State Appropriations Bill of 1975-76 emphasizes the importance of the integrated information system by declaring such a system to be a priority of the Florida State Legislature. Each school district, community college, state university, and the Department of Education is to give priority to improving their information systems, with specific emphasis on common data definitions and data handling procedures. Through a centrally coordinated and supervised effort, this information from the school districts, community colleges, or state universities will be used to prepare analyses and reports.

Section III. Legislation Enacted Before 1975

Two earlier laws have been picked up by SEAR in the updating of Legislation by the States which were not reported previously. One is the Teacher Education Center Act which was enacted by the Florida State Legislature in 1973 and amended in 1974; the other is a school accreditation law enacted in Kansas in 1972.

The Florida Teacher Education Center Act of 1973 (as amended in 1974)

Florida is actively involved in the competency-based teacher education movement and is a member of the Multi-State Consortium on Competency-Based Teacher Education. Florida has produced a number of catalogues of teaching competencies and competency-based teacher training materials and support systems for preservice and inservice programs.

In 1973, the Florida State Legislature passed the Teacher Education Center Act (Sections 231.600-231.610 of the Florida Statutes) for the purpose of declaring "a new state policy for the education of teachers and to provide support for the developmental and operational activities required to implement the new policy." A State Council for Teacher Education Centers, consisting of six teachers, a superintendent, a school board member, two teacher educators, and two members of the Department of Education, was established to assist in the development of the new policy. The State Council recommended amendments to the bill which were passed in 1974.

The local teacher education centers are administered by local councils, the members of which are appointed by the local school boards. The local councils recommend policies and procedures for the centers, develop goals and objectives, and make recommendations on an appropriate budget.

The purpose of the centers is to augment present college and university teacher education programs, as well as to conduct school district inservice teacher education programs. The centers also provide preservice and inservice teachers time to interact with faculty and staff of the colleges, universities, and school districts in a search for the most beneficial educational experiences for students. Each center assesses inservice training needs as perceived by classroom teachers, school district personnel, university personnel, and other concerned agencies, and the centers develop programs based on the identified inservice needs. The needs of clinical preservice teacher training are assessed and provided for by the centers, and the centers also facilitate internal and external evaluation which includes data gathering, process evaluation, product evaluation, and validation of teaching competency.

Each local center submits an annual report to the State Council for Teacher Education Centers based on the measurable objectives of the local center's proposal. The report includes a description and evaluation of programs conducted under the supervision of the local centers; the number of participants in local center program activities; a description and evaluation of methods of local center operations; and a statement of local center expenditures. The State Council for Teacher Education reviews the annual reports and submits an evaluation to the State Board of Education and the Florida State Legislature.

Chapter 277, Page 69, Kansas Statutes Annotated, Volume 5A, 72-1114

School accreditation based upon performance usually is carried out on a voluntary basis in the states offering this method of accreditation, and generally it is proposed as an alternative plan for accreditation along with standard accreditation methods. Under a Kansas law enacted in 1972, any local district in the state that chooses this alternative plan for district-wide accreditation does so voluntarily, but it is to be followed in the context of a systematized educational accountability program which the Kansas Department of Education has devised for the local districts to establish.

The accreditation program can be implemented by following a series of 29 steps, some of which include the establishment of goals; the development of performance objectives and a test item bank; the pretesting of students; analysis of test results; modification of the program for state board of education approval; development of a cost analysis program; post-testing; a total program audit and evaluation; annual reporting; and modification and recycling of the program.

The Appendix which follows contains complete copies of the nine laws discussed in this report. As noted in the Preface, copies of all the accountability laws collected in the last three years will be included in the final 1976 updating of Legislation by the States: Accountability and Assessment in Education.

NEW JERSEY

CHAPTER 212, LAWS OF 1975.

AN ACT providing for a thorough and efficient system of free public schools, a State aid program implementing such system, revising parts of the statutory law and supplementing Title 18A of the New Jersey Statutes.

BE IT ENACTED by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

ARTICLE I. SHORT TITLE; LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS; DEFINITIONS

1. This act shall be known and may be cited as the "Public School Education Act of 1975."

2. a. The Legislature finds and declares that:

(1) The New Jersey Constitution provides that the maintenance and support of a thorough and efficient system of free public schools for the instruction of all the children in the State between the ages of 5 and 18 years is a legislative responsibility;

(2) It has been determined by the Supreme Court of New Jersey that the constitutional requirement has not been met and that action must be taken to correct any deficiencies;

(3) Extensive efforts have been made by the Executive and Legislative branches of State Government and others since the Supreme Court's decision to determine the content of a thorough and efficient system of education and how it may be assured;

(4) Because the sufficiency of education is a growing and evolving concept, the definition of a thorough and efficient system of education and the delineation of all the factors necessary to be included therein, depend upon the economic, historical, social and cultural context in which that education is delivered. The Legislature must, nevertheless, make explicit provision for the design of State and local systems by which such education is delivered, and should, therefore, explicitly provide after 4 years from the effective date of this act for a major and comprehensive evaluation of both the State and local systems, and the sufficiency of education provided thereby;

(5) In order to encourage citizen involvement in educational matters, New Jersey should provide for free public schools in a manner which guarantees and encourages local participation consistent with the goal of a thorough and efficient system serving all of the children of the State;

(6) A thorough and efficient system of education includes local school districts in which decisions pertaining to the hiring and dismissal of personnel, the curriculum of the schools, the establishment of district budgets, and other essentially local questions are made democratically with a maximum of citizen involvement and self-determination and are consistent with Statewide goals, guidelines and standards; and

(7) Such a system should be in part locally funded to encourage involvement of and assure the financial supervision by the residents of the local unit, and in part State funded, to equalize Statewide the tax effort required for a thorough and efficient system of free public schools.

b. The Legislature, therefore, hereby accepts the responsibility:

(1) To define the overall goal of a thorough and efficient system of free public schools in New Jersey;

(2) To establish guidelines within which such a system shall operate;

(3) To delegate to appropriate State and local agencies the authority:

(a) to establish goals and objectives consistent with legislative guidelines, and

(b) to define standards of performance necessary to indicate achievement of the goals and objectives;

(4) To establish a funding structure which will ensure that adequate financial resources shall be available to enable a system of free public schools to operate throughout the State; and

(5) To monitor the system of free public schools and provide for corrective action when necessary to ensure adequate progress toward the achievement of goals and objectives.

"Equalized valuations" means the equalized valuation of the taxing district or taxing districts as certified by the Director of the Division of Taxation on October 1 of the pre-budget year.

to be raised by local taxation, equalization State support, and State support for approved transportation.

"Net current expenses per pupil" means the quotient resulting from dividing the net current expense budget by the resident enrollment.

"State average net current expense budget per pupil" means the quotient resulting from dividing the total net current expense budget of all districts in the State by the total resident enrollment in the State.

"State average valuation per pupil" means the quotient resulting from dividing the total equalized valuations in the State as certified by the Director of the Division of Taxation on October 1 by the total resident enrollment in the State. In the event that the equalized table certified by the Director of the Division of Taxation shall be revised by the Division of Tax Appeals on or before January 30 of the next succeeding year, such revised valuation shall be used in any recomputation of aid for an individual district filing such appeal but will have no effect upon the State average valuation per pupil.

"State compensatory education pupil" means a pupil who is enrolled in preventive and remedial programs, approved by the State board, supplemental to the regular programs and designed to assist pupils who have academic, social, economic or environmental needs that prevent them from succeeding in regular school programs.

The State support limit shall be calculated and applied separately for (a) limited purpose regional districts offering grades 9 through 12, (b) limited purpose regional districts offering grades 7 through 12, provided, however, that the figure used for such districts shall be not less than 90% of the sixty-fifth percentile for limited purpose regional districts offering grades 9 through 12,

(c) constituent districts of limited purpose regional districts offering grades 9 through 12, (d) constituent districts of limited purpose regional districts offering grades 7 through 12, provided, however, that the figure used for such districts shall be not less than 90% of the sixty-fifth percentile for constituent districts of limited purpose regional districts offering grades 9 through 12, and (e) all other districts.

ARTICLE II. GOALS, STANDARDS AND GUIDELINES; PROCEDURES OF EVALUATION; ENFORCEMENT

4. The goal of a thorough and efficient system of free public schools shall be to provide to all children in New Jersey, regardless of socioeconomic status or geographic location, the educational opportunity which will prepare them to function politically, economically and socially in a democratic society.

5. A thorough and efficient system of free public schools shall include the following major elements, which shall serve as guidelines for the achievement of the legislative goal and the implementation of this act:

a. Establishment of educational goals at both the State and local levels;

b. Encouragement of public involvement in the establishment of educational goals;

c. Instruction intended to produce the attainment of reasonable levels of proficiency in the basic communications and computational skills;

d. A breadth of program offerings designed to develop the individual talents and abilities of pupils;

e. Programs and supportive services for all pupils especially those who are educationally disadvantaged or who have special educational needs;

f. Adequately equipped, sanitary and secure physical facilities and adequate materials and supplies;

g. Qualified instructional and other personnel;

h. Efficient administrative procedures;

i. An adequate State program of research and development; and

j. Evaluation and monitoring programs at both the State and local levels.

6. The State board, after consultation with the commissioner and review by the Joint Committee on the Public Schools shall (a) establish goals and standards which shall be applicable to all public schools in the State, and which shall be consistent with the goals and guidelines established pursuant to sections 4 and 5 of this act, and (b) make rules concerning procedures for the establishment of particular educational goals, objectives and standards by local boards of education.

7. Each local board of education shall establish particular educational goals, objectives and standards pursuant to rules prescribed by the State board.

8. The State board after consultation with the commissioner and review by the Joint Committee on the Public Schools shall, from time to time, but at least once every 5 years, review and update the State goals and standards established pursuant to this act. In reviewing and updating these goals and standards, the State board shall consult with, and be assisted by, (a) the Commissioner of Labor and Industry who, in consultation with employer and employee groups, shall report annually to the State board projecting labor needs and describing employment qualifications in New Jersey, (b) the Chancellor of Higher Education who, in consultation with the institutions of higher education in the State, shall report annually to the State board on entry requirements and anticipated enrollment levels, (c) the Commissioner of Health who shall report annually to the State board on the current and projected health needs in New Jersey, (d) the Commissioner of Institutions and Agencies who shall report annually to the State board on the education of pupils under the jurisdiction of the department, and (e) such other employees and officers of the State as may be able to assist the State board in its activities pursuant to this section.

9. The commissioner, in cooperation with local school districts, shall from time to time, but at least once every 5 years, direct a comprehensive needs assessment program of all pupils in the State in light of State goals and standards, and shall make the results of the needs assessment program available to local school districts, which districts shall review and update their particular educational goals, objectives and standards to meet those needs. All such results shall be made public.

10. For the purpose of evaluating the thoroughness and efficiency of all the public schools of the State, the commissioner, with the approval of the State board and after review by the Joint Committee on the Public Schools, shall develop and administer a uniform, Statewide system for evaluating the performance of each school. Such a system shall be based in part on annual testing for achievement in basic skill areas, and in part on such other means as the commissioner deems proper in order to (a) determine pupil status and needs, (b) ensure pupil progress, and (c) assess the degree to which the educational objectives have been achieved.

11. Each school district shall make an annual report of its progress in conforming to the goals, objectives and standards developed pursuant to this act. Each district's annual report shall include but not be limited to:

a. Demographic data related to each school;

b. Results of assessment programs, including Statewide and district testing conducted at each school;

c. Information on each school's fiscal operation, including the budget of each school;

d. Results of each school's effectiveness in achieving State, district and school goals and objectives applicable to the pupils;

e. Plans and programs for professional improvement;

f. Plans to carry out innovative or experimental educational programs designed to improve the quality of education; and

g. Recommendations for school improvements during the ensuing year.

h. Additionally, the State Board of Education may from time to time require each district to submit a facilities survey, including current use practices and projected capital project needs, but not more frequently than once every 2 years.

The district reports shall be submitted to the commissioner by July 1 of each year and he shall make them the basis for an annual report to the Governor and the Legislature, describing the condition of education in New Jersey, the efforts of New Jersey schools in meeting the standards of a thorough and efficient education, the steps underway to correct deficiencies in school performance, and the progress of New Jersey schools in comparison to other state education systems in the United States.

12. In addition to the annual reports required by section 11 of this act, the State board shall, 4 years after the effective date of this act, make a comprehensive report to the Governor and the Legislature assessing the effectiveness of this act in producing a thorough and efficient system of free public schools. The report shall include an account of the progress of each local school district in meeting the goals, objectives and standards prescribed under sections 6 and 7 of this act, identify those districts and schools which fail to meet them, and make recommendations, if necessary, for hastening the elimination of any deficiencies.

13. Thereafter, the Governor shall deliver a biennial message to the Legislature on the progress of New Jersey's schools in providing a thorough and efficient education and recommending legislative action, if appropriate.

14. The commissioner shall review the results of the evaluations conducted and reports submitted pursuant to sections 10 and 11 of this act. If the commissioner shall find that a school or a school district has failed to show sufficient progress toward the goals, guidelines, objectives and standards established in and pursuant to this act, he shall advise the local board of education of such determination, and shall direct that a remedial plan be prepared and submitted to him for approval. If the commissioner approves the plan, he shall assure its implementation in a timely and effective manner. If the commissioner finds that the remedial plan prepared by the local board of education is insufficient, he shall order the local board to show cause why the corrective actions provided in section 15 of this act should not be utilized. The hearing upon said order to show cause shall be conducted in the manner prescribed by subdivision B of article 2 of chapter 6 of Title 18A of the New Jersey Statutes.

15. If, after a plenary hearing, the commissioner determines that it is necessary to take corrective action, he shall have the power to order necessary budgetary changes within the school district, to order in-service training programs for teachers and other school personnel, or both. If he determines that such corrective actions are insufficient, he shall have the power to recommend to the State board that it take appropriate action. The State board, on determining that the school district is not providing a thorough and efficient education, notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, shall have the power to issue an administrative order specifying a remedial plan to the local board of education, which plan may include budgetary changes or other measures the State board determines to be appropriate. Nothing herein shall limit the right of any party to appeal the administrative order to the Superior Court.

16. Should the local board of education fail or refuse to comply with an administrative order issued pursuant to section 15 of this act, the State board shall apply to the Superior Court by a proceeding in lieu of prerogative writ for an order directing the local school board to comply with such administrative order.

ARTICLE III. STATE SCHOOL AID

17. Annually, on or before October 5, the secretary of the board of education, with the approval of the superintendent of schools, or if there be no superintendent of schools, with the approval of the county superintendent of schools, shall file with the commissioner a report stating the number of pupils enrolled by grade and the number of these pupils in approved programs of (a) special education classes, (b) compensatory education, (c) bilingual education and (d) local vocational education on the last school day of September. In addition, districts shall file annual reports providing such information as the commissioner may require for pupils receiving special education services.

18. Equalization support for current expenses of all school districts shall be paid in accordance with the following calculations:

a. Divide the district equalized valuation per pupil by the guaranteed valuation per pupil and subtract the quotient from 1.0000 to obtain the district's State support ratio.

b. Multiply the district's State support ratio by the smaller of (1) the net current expense budget for the pre-budget year or (2) the product of the resident enrollment and the State support limit. The amount obtained is the current expense equalization support.

c. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, no district shall receive less in current expense equalization support than 10% of the State support limit.

19. State support for debt service and budgeted capital outlay shall equal the total of the net debt service and budgeted capital outlay budgets for the pre-budget year multiplied by the district's current expense State support ratio obtained in section 18 of this act. If the product is less than zero, no support shall be paid. Budgeted capital outlay used for the calculation of State support shall be the smaller of (1) the budgeted capital outlay for the pre-budget year, or (2) 1 1/2% of the sum of the current expense and budgeted capital outlay for the pre-budget year.

20. In addition to the equalization support authorized in section 18 of this act, categorical program support for 1975-76 and 1976-77 shall be paid in accordance with the following calculations:

a. The number of categorical aid units shall be determined by adding the products obtained by multiplying the pupils in each category by the following additional cost factors:

CATEGORICAL PROGRAMS

Special Education Classes	Additional Cost Factors
Educable.....	0.53
Trainable.....	0.95
Orthopedically handicapped.....	1.27
Neurologically impaired.....	1.06
Perceptually impaired.....	0.85
Visually handicapped.....	1.91
Auditorially handicapped.....	1.38
Communication handicapped.....	1.06
Emotionally disturbed.....	1.27
Socially maladjusted.....	0.95
Chronically ill.....	0.85
Multiply handicapped.....	1.27
Other Classes and Services	Additional Cost Factors
Approved private school tuition.....	1.0 plus the additional cost factor of the handicap
Supplementary and speech instruction.....	0.09 based on the number of pupils actually receiving such instruction in the prior school year
Bilingual education.....	0.16
State compensatory education.....	0.11
Approved local vocational education.....	0.53

b. The number of categorical aid units for home instruction shall be determined by multiplying the number of hours of instruction actually provided in the prior school year by 0.006.

c. For the purposes of this section, aid shall be paid to districts in which the pupils reside except in the case of home, supplementary or speech instruction where aid shall be paid to the district providing the service. No tuition may be charged for such home, supplementary or speech instruction for costs covered by State support as provided in this section.

d. Categorical program shall equal the number of units of additional cost multiplied by the State average net current expense budget per pupil for the prebudget year.

21. On or before April 1, 1977, and on or before April 1 of each subsequent year, the Governor, after consultation with the Department of Education, shall recommend to the Legislature any revision in the schedule of additional cost factors which is deemed proper, together with appropriate supporting information, and such revised additional cost factors shall be deemed approved for the fiscal year beginning 1 year from the subsequent July 1 at the end of 60 calendar days after the date on which they are transmitted to the Senate and General Assembly, or if the Legislature is not in session on the sixtieth day, then on the next succeeding day on which it shall be meeting in the course of a regular or special session, unless between the date of transmittal and the end of the above period, the Legislature passes a concurrent resolution stating that the Legislature does not favor the revised schedule of additional cost factors, in which case the additional cost factors then in effect shall continue in effect.

22. There is hereby established a compensatory education research and development fund. For the 1976-77 fiscal year and annually thereafter, there shall be appropriated to the fund an amount equal to 3% of the amount calculated for State aid for compensatory education pursuant to section 20 of this act. The fund shall be used to support pilot and demonstration projects which are designed to improve the education of compensatory education pupils.

23. The commissioner is authorized to make grants to school districts for the establishment of pilot and demonstration projects for compensatory education pupils, to provide for the establishment of appropriate evaluation procedures, and take any other action necessary to insure the implementation of such projects.

24. State support for county vocational school districts shall be paid in accordance with the following calculations:

a. Divide the county equalized valuations per pupil by the guaranteed valuation per pupil and subtract the quotient from 1.0000 to obtain the county vocational school's State support ratio.

b. Multiply the State support ratio by the smaller of (1) the net current expense budget for the prebudget year or (2) the product of the resident enrollment multiplied by 175% of the Statewide sixty-fifth percentile net current budget per pupil for the prebudget year when all district figures are ranked from low to high. The amount obtained is the current expense equalization support. If the State support ratio is zero or less than zero, no support shall be paid.

c. Debt service and budgeted capital outlay support for county vocational schools shall be calculated in accordance with section 19 of this act.

25. A district which has a net current expense budget per pupil in the prebudget year of less than the State average net current expense budget per pupil may increase its net current expense budget per pupil in the following year by no more than an amount found by multiplying three-fourths of the latest annual percentage increase in the total State equalized valuation by the State average net current expense budget per pupil for the prebudget year, and multiplying the product by the quotient resulting from dividing the State average net current expense budget per pupil by the school district net current expense budget per pupil for the prebudget year; provided, however, that in no event shall the figure used for the latest annual percentage increase in the total State equalized valuation be less than the average of such percentage increases for the latest 3 years. Any other district may increase its net current expense budget per pupil by no more than an amount found by multiplying three-fourths of the latest annual percentage increase in the total State equalized valuation by the school district's net current expense budget per pupil for the prebudget year, and multiplying the product by the quotient resulting from dividing the State average net current expense budget per pupil by the school district net current expense budget per pupil for the prebudget year. For the purpose of these calculations, the enrollment of a district shall be assumed to remain constant between the prebudget year and the year during which the budget will be implemented.

Annually, on or before November 15, the commissioner shall certify to each local board of education the amount by which the school district may increase its budget for the next year without exceeding the permissible rate of increase.

The commissioner may approve the request of a local board of education for a greater increase, having judged that (1) a reallocation of resources or any other action taken within the permissible level of spending would be insufficient to meet the goals, objectives and standards established pursuant to this act, or (2) an increased enrollment may reasonably be anticipated in the district.

26. The amounts payable to each school district pursuant to this act shall be paid by the State Treasurer upon the certification of the commissioner and warrant of the Director of Budget and Accounting. Ten percent of the appropriation for current expense equalization and categorical program support shall be paid on the first of each month from September through June. If a local board of education requires funds prior to the first payment, the board shall file a written request with the Commissioner of Education stating the need for such funds. The commissioner shall review each request and forward those for which need has been demonstrated to the appropriate officials for payment.

TEACHER EDUCATION CENTER ACT OF 1973, AS AMENDED IN 1974

231.600 Short title. Sections 231.600-231.610 shall be known and may be cited as the "Teacher Education Center Act of 1973."

231.601 Purposes, intent, and policy.

(1) The purposes of this act are to declare a new state policy for the education of teachers and to provide support for the developmental and operational activities required to implement the new policy.

(2) The most important influence the school can contribute to the learning of any student is the attitudes, skills, knowledge and understanding of the teacher. If any change is desired in the nature or quality of the educational programs of the schools it will come about only if teachers play a major role in the change. Teachers can best assist with improving education when they directly and personally participate in identifying needed changes and in designing, developing, implementing, and evaluating solutions to meet the identified needs. Historically, the responsibility for operating programs for pre-service teacher education has been assigned to colleges and universities, and responsibility for operating programs for in-service teacher education has been assigned to district school boards.

(3) The education of teachers is inherently a career-long process. It is commonly accepted that teacher education is best carried out through the collaborative efforts of the colleges and universities, the schools, and the community. Because of their nature, the most appropriate laboratories for teacher education are the schools and the community.

(4) Effective July 1, 1973, the responsibility for operating programs for pre-service and in-service teacher education is assigned jointly to the colleges and universities, to the district school boards, and to the teaching profession, with the colleges and universities having the primary responsibility for operating pre-service programs, the school districts having primary responsibility for operating in-service programs, and the teaching profession having the responsibility for providing information to make each institution's program meaningful and relevant. In order to facilitate collaboration between colleges and universities and school districts, ensure appropriate involvement and participation of teachers, and establish procedures for joint utilization of resources available for pre-service and in-service teachers, the state board of education shall issue regulations providing for the establishment of teacher education centers in school districts. There shall be no limitation on the number of centers which may be established in each district. Among the purposes of the teacher education centers shall be:

(a) To augment present college and university teacher education programs.

(b) To augment present school district in-service teacher education programs; and

(c) To provide time and opportunity for pre-service and in-service teachers to interact with faculty and staff of the colleges and universities and school districts in their common search for the most beneficial educational experiences for students.

(5) It is the intent of the legislature that this act be liberally construed so as to effectuate its purposes as far as legally and practically possible.

231.602 Definitions. As used in this act:

Each teacher education center shall be planned, financed and staffed jointly by one or more school districts and by one or more colleges or universities. Community colleges may participate in appropriate phases of teacher education center activities.

(2) The program of each teacher education center shall include, but not be limited to the following:

(a) To assess in-service training needs as perceived by classroom teachers, school district personnel, university personnel, and other concerned agencies.

(b) To develop programs based on those identified in-service needs.

(d) To assess needs and provide the resources and experiences for clinical pre-service teacher training, thus relating theoretical and practical study.

(e) To facilitate the entry or reentry of educational personnel into the teaching profession.

(f) To facilitate training processes which are based on assessment of needs, the development of experiences to meet those needs, and evaluation of the extent to which the needs were met.

(g) To facilitate internal and external evaluation which would include but not be limited to data gathering, process evaluation, product evaluation, and validation of teaching competency.

(3) Programs offered through teacher education centers shall be approved by the department of education in accordance with appropriate standards and procedures for approval of pre-service and in-service programs for teacher education and to achieve the purposes of this act.
