The Influence of New Conservatives on American Foreign Policy toward Syria after 11th September (2001-2009)

Prepared By: Montaser Ghazi Al-Sawwaf

Supervised By: Dr Mohammad Saleh Bani Issa

ABSTRACT

The study of “The Influence of New Conservatives on American Foreign Policy toward Syria after the incident of 11th September (2001-2009) aimed to achieve group of aims, the most important of them is:

Clarifying the historical background of the neoconservatives and to highlight the aims of the American Foreign Policy toward Syria, and to reveal the role of the power centers in the motivation against Syria.

The study was based on a hypothesis that the neoconservatives targeted Syria in a non-realistic and intended way in order to change its policy in the Arab region.

To achieve the aims and check the study hypothesis , the historical approach has been used for it helps revealing the past which accompanied the appearing of the neoconservatives , and the analytical approach also used because many of the incidents need to be explain.

The study found that the hypothesis was right and brought us to several conclusions, the most important of them is that:

One of the neoconservatives aims is the enhance Israel as a power in the region, and of course this requires disabling Syria and destroying it., Furthermore, the administration of President bush “the son” has failed achieving its aims in Syria being unable to convince Syria to change its policy . Moreover, the lobbies and the research centers played an effective role in the American foreign policy in the region of the Middle East and Syria. According to this conclusion the study recommends the need to clarify the neoconservative’s thoughts and ideology through the channels of the Arab media to configure political awareness of their plans to warn the new generations the Arab-Islamic world to avoid being drowned behind their misleading slogans which does serve only the enemies of the nation. Furthermore, making Arab coordination and cooperation instead of fragmentation and division in attitudes to enhance joint Arab action.
